War Goes On In Finish Fight With Germany

By F. OECHSNER
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—Germany tonight told Great Britain and France in blunt shortwave radio warnings that they must decide at once between peace and war or the new German-Soviet accord will be used against them "in even more drastic manner" with disastrous results for the Allies.

LONDON, Sept. 30—Authoritative sources declared today Great Britain would reject emphatically Adolf Hitler's offer of peace at the price of a partitioned Poland.

The government went ahead with mobilization of its entire fighting power for a finish fight with Germany. An army of 65,000 census takers completed a register of some 46,000,000 persons in England, Scotland and Wales to provide the basis for food rationing and conscription of man power for war.

A formal reply to what the press called Hitler's "peace threat" was deferred by the war cabinet, pending consultation with France. (Paris dispatches told of official indications of a French rebuff to the German-Soviet overture.)

Prime Minister Chamberlain was expected to give the official reaction to the German-Russian agreement in a statement before the House of Commons Monday or Tuesday.

The Times led the press in demanding rejection of any peace proposal based on the partition of Poland. The Times declared Britain "would rather go down to defeat and destruction than compromise the essentials of our national being and the hopes which we now hold in trust for others."

BRITAIN READY

The Times said Britain was ready to accept the full implications of a German-Russian coalition and declared "there can be no peace with Hitlerism. . . . We have sought no quarrel with the Soviet, and it remains to be seen whether the Soviet desires to fasten a quarrel on us."

However, the paper indicated that the government's war aims do not necessarily include restoration to

FRANCE WILL PREPARE FOR ANY THREAT

Daladier Summons Chiefs Of Armed Forces For Defence Parley

By JOHN MARTIN

PARIS, Sept. 30.—The French government, apparently turning a cold shoulder to German-Soviet peace gestures, intensified preparations today to meet any threat of a German offensive to back up the peace offer.

The French general staff reported the night was "without incident," but said patrols were active through the region east of the Saar river on the northern half of the western front. Apparently the zone referred to is south of Saarbruecken.

Premier Daladier summoned the commanders-in-chief of the army, navy and air force for a national defence conference shortly after this morning's war communique was issued.

WILL NOT ACCEPT

While French troops sought to strengthen positions gained in a month of fighting, both government and press indicated France never would accept as a basis for peace the German-Soviet pact partitioning Poland.

In a radio address last night, Jean Giraudoux, commissioner general of information, accused

THREE DANISH SHIPS SEIZED IN KATTEGAT

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 30—German warships today seized three Danish freighters in the Kattegat and took them to a German port, according to a report from the lightship at Laeso Island.

(The Kattegat is a stretch of sea between Denmark and Sweden. A German high communique earlier searched for contraband in the Kattegat and Skagerrak—between Denmark and Norway—and "a number of them were captured.")

Word from the lightship said German destroyers could be seen plainly as they took the steamships Rota, Diana and Lyncas.

The Rota, 840 tons, and the Diana 942 tons, were bound for England with bacon and butter; the Lyneas, 656 tons, was bound for the Netherlands with woodpulp from Sweden.

Kennedy Issues Warning To U.S. Folk In Britain

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Sept. 30.—United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, in form letters to all Americans still in Britain, has reiterated his warning that they return to the United States immediately unless their presence there is necessary. He warned that the ships now available for repatriation might not be able to return if congress enacts a neutrality law forbidding American vessels entering belligerent ports.

Rumania Shifts Its Forces To Save Self From Neighbor Greed

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUCHAREST, Sept. 30.—Rumania shifted her armed forces today for protection against powerful neighbors peering over her borders at rich areas they lost to her in the Great War settlement.

Most important move was strengthening the Bessarabian border defence, facing Soviet Russia, by replacing the fifth army corps with the more highly mechanized and mobile second corps.

Rumanian interests in diplomatic discussions at Moscow involving the Soviet, German and Turkish foreign minister, grew even more intense because of the expected early departure for Moscow of the Bulgarian prime minister, George Kiosseivanoff.

Bulgaria is one of three powers which have demanded return of territory now Rumanian. Russia and Hungary are the others.

Rumania has a military establishment estimated at close to 1,800,000 men, with more than 1,000,000 on active service and the rest awaiting call.

The winding Dniester river, marking the boundary between Rumania and the Russian-occupied Poland and the Soviet and Rumania's Bessarabian provinces, is spanned by only two bridges.

Red armies now hold the Polish end of the bridge at Zalescyckq. Soviet forces also are in positions at the Russian end of the bridge on the lower Dniester connecting with Tighina on the Rumanian side.

Bessarabia, with an area of 17,146 square miles, was gained by Rumania from Russia and the Russians steadfastly have considered it "occupied territory."

On the diplomatic front, a German-Rumanian trade agreement was successfully concluded after more than a week of negotiations.

The chief point of discussion was settlement of Rumania's 50,000,000 marks (about $20,000,000) indebtedness under the barter agreement already in force.

Two Edmonton Units To Be Included In Overseas Force

Two Edmonton Units Included in First Division for Overseas Service:
THE EDMONTON REGIMENT.
92ND. FIELD BATTERY (H) R.C.A.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Set-up of the first Canadian division, which will be despatched overseas as required, was announced last night by Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of national defence. As indicated in previous announcements, the division consists of complete units of the Canadian militia now mobilized and is representative of all parts of Canada.

Mr. Rogers said this would be known as the first Canadian division, while the other division, which has also been mobilizing, will be known as the second Canadian division overseas, although both will be trained and equipped for overseas service.

Volunteers of these units, as announced at the special war session of parliament, will be re-attested for overseas service.

COMPONENTS OF DIVISION

"The present components of a division, besides the various headquarters," said Mr. Roger, "are a cavalry regiment, 12 batteries of field artillery, an anti-tank regiment of artillery, nine rifle and three machine gun battalions of infantry, three field companies of signals, an ammunition company, petrol company and supply column of the army service corps, three field ambulances, a field hygiene section, a postal unit and an employment platoon. On addition there is a provost company which, in the first Canadian division, is being provided by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

Several units of the permanent force will go overseas with the first division and provide a hard core of well-trained soldiers.

Thus from the permanent Royal Canadian Artillery come the headquarters for each of the three artillery brigades. The three batteries in each brigade are units of the non-permanent militia from the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta,

TWENTY-FIVE ALIENS HERE ARE INTERNED

Former Citizens Are Under Guard In South Camp, Report Says

It was learned here Saturday that approximately 25 enemy aliens who formerlyy resided in Edmonton and have been arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police, are now interned in an internment camp in the southern portion of the province.

At the same time it was learned that beginning Monday all enemy aliens are required to report to Royal Canadian Mounted Police for registration purposes. Certain ones may be required to guarantee their satisfactory behavior by posting bonds, it was revealed.

Registration forms have been received from Ottawa, and it is expected that the registration will give authorities a complete check-up on all enemy aliens.

It is reported that about 145 persons from various districts between Winnipeg and Vancouver, are now in the camp in the Kananaskis district, 45 miles southwest of Calgary. This camp is surrounded by barbed wire fences and guarded by a special company of Great War Veterans recruited in Calgary. It was formerly a Federal government forestry training station, and is equipped with wooden huts.

GIRLS WANT TO JOIN REGIMENT AS DISHWASHERS

REGINA, Sept. 30.—Recruiting officers for the South Saskatchewan Regiment faced a new problem yesterday. Two very attractive young girls showed up at the office and in all seriousness said they wanted to join the regiment "as cooks or dishwashers."

Nazi-Russian Military Alliance Bared: Paris Gives Nation Warning

By RALPH HEINZEN
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—French officials last night announced possession of documents purporting to confirm the existence of a Nazi-Soviet military alliance and warned the nation that it would be a "mortal" mistake to accept Germany's peace overtures.

In close consultation with Great Britain, the government previously had authorized a semi-official statement implying that the terms for peace advanced by Germany and Soviet Russia would be rejected.

Then a communique from the Senate foreign relations committee said that "sensational documents confirming a military, diplomatic and economic alliance between Germany and Russia" had been submitted by its chairman, Senator Henri Berenger.

Shortly afterward, the official government spokesman, Jean Giraudoux, head of the information bureau, broadcast a warning that:

"After the signature of the German-Soviet treaty we will be offered peace on conditions that we renounce our treaties, our customs and everything that is French and give the aggressor time to digest his prey.

"Acceptance would be tantamount to complicity and would be a mortal weakness."

Girandoux said Germany "sacrificed her future with the signature of today's agreement, giving up a role she had played for a thousand years."

Adolf Hitler, he charged, had played the traitor in every deal he ever made and could "find support only with Josef Stalin."

He said Hitler and Saalin were "two satraps" inspired by a fanatical desire to divide up eastern Europe.

More Than Score Of Aliens Arrested In Maritimes

HALIFAX, Sept. 30—More than a score of aliens have been arrested in the maritimes since Canada declared war on Germany and now are in detention camps, Royal Canadian Mounted Police said today.

Sixteen have been arrested in Nova Scotia and one in Prince Edward Island. Six New Brunswick arrests were made.

Quebec General Vote Shatters Unanimity Canada's War Effort

By GRANT DEXTER
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Like a bomb fired by a time fuse, the Quebec general election announced on September 24 by Premier Maurice Duplessis, will shatter the apparent unanimity with which Canada's war effort has been proceeding since parliament's fateful decision a few short weeks ago.

It became known this morning that the Duplessis announcement will involve this:

A direct threat to national unity.

The direction, the pattern, and the quality of our war effort.

The character of Canada's wartime government.

In fact, everything about which Canadians care most at this time, now hangs in the balance because of Mr. Duplessis' action.

These are the reasons why this is so:

French-Canadian members of the government, led by Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, successor to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin and C. G. Power realise that Premier Duplessis' challenge is directed against Ottawa, against themselves and the stand they have taken for unlimited voluntary participation in the fight against Nazi Germany.

ACCEPT CHALLENGE

They intend to accept this challenge and before a week has passed the full power of federal Liberal French-Canadian forces will take the field against Duplessis and French-Canadian Nationals. The battle will be between Lapointe and Duplessis, not between Duplessis and his provincial opponents.

If Lapointe and his colleagues fail on October 25, the consequences are almost beyond comprehension.

At the outset the ultimate consequences of Mr. Lapointe's action may not be stated. But implied in his act—and unquestionably he has the unqualified support of federal French-Canadian Liberals—is the fate of Canada's present war administration.

If Duplessis wins, the usefulness of Mr. Lapointe and his colleagues

Edmonton Regiment Now Up To Full Strength, Col. Stillman Says

Mobilization of the Edmonton Regiment up to full war strength has been completed, it was announced Saturday by Lieut.-Col. W. G. Stillman, officer commanding the regiment. This announcement was simultaneous with the statement by Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of defence, Ottawa, that the Edmonton Regiment had been selected as one of the units of the 1st Canadian Division which will stand ready for service at home or abroad.

Recruiting of the regiment was completed Friday, with the exception of men being enlisted as stretcher-bearers for service in the regimental band.

News that the Edmonton Regiment had been selected for inclusion in the 1st Division was enthusiastically received by the soldiers. They rejoiced also that the 92nd Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, had been picked as a unit of the 1st Division.

IN 2nd BRIGADE

The Edmonton Regiment has been assigned a place in the 2nd Brigade, which is an all-western brigade. Other regiments in the brigade are the famous Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada from Vancouver and the Saskatoon Light Infantry (M.G.).

8,600 Picked Men Act As Hitler's Bodyguard

By FREDERICK OECHNER
British United Press, Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—A new bodyguard battalion to accompany Fuehrer Adolf Hitler on his visits to the front has been organized from army units which protected him in Poland, it was announced today.

The Fuehrer presented the new battalion with a flag on which appeared his personal as well as the Reich emblem. The new battalion is the fourth charged with Hitler's protection. The others are the "Accompanying Command," "The Bodyguard Regiment," and the "Security Service."

The Accompanying Command consists of 36 tried and trusted Storm Troopers. They accompany Hitler wherever he goes, and are charged with his immediate safety.

The bodyguard Regiment consists of three battalions totalling 3,600 men, and perform honor guard and parade duties. The Security Service is composed of 5,000 men, most of whom operate in plain clothes.

They are distributed throughout the Reich and run down clues to every type of action directed against Hitler.

TURKEY PUTS PROVISO IN ALLIED PACT

Treaties With Britain and France Void If Russia Enters War

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 30.—Turkey, ready to consummate pacts with Great Britain and France for mutual assistance in the Mediterranean, was reported today to have inserted a proviso voiding the treaties in the event of Russia becoming involved in war with the western democracies.

Long a friend of the Soviet as well as Britain and France, Turkey was understood to have decided to remain neutral if war involving the Soviet and the democracies spread to the Mediterranean.

Turkey's foreign minister, Sukru Saracoglu, has been in Moscow since early this week discussing Turkey's role in the Near East. Informed sources here said he had discussed with the Soviet leaders a Black Sea pact which would neutralize that strategic sea dominated by Turkish-held Dardanelles.

The proposed Black Sea pact would involve Russia, Rumania and Bulgaria as well as Turkey.

Informed persons asserted that a proviso releasing Turkey from her obligations in the event of war between the Allies and Russia had been put into definite mutual assistance and economic agreements between Turkey and Britain and Turkey and France now ready for signature.

Saracoglu, it was said, had agreed with Russian leaders that Turkey would close the Dardanelles to warships of all belligerent nations, thus neutralizing the Black Sea.

BULGARIA'S CLAIMS

Necessary preliminaries to a Black Sea pact would be some kind of settlement of Bulgaria's claims against Rumania for Dobruja, which Rumania gained from the Bulgars in the Balkan war and first Great War settlements.

It was believed that after his return from Moscow Saracoglu would go to Bucharest to confer on this with Gigore Gafencu, Rumanian foreign minister.

(However, it was announced in Bucharest that Gafencu would leave for Moscow Monday to confer with Soviet officials.

DARDANELLES CONTROL

(Unofficial reports in Moscow said Saracoglu's negotiations there turned on Russian demands for partial control of the Dardanelles. Czarist Russia for a generation looked longingly at the Dardanelles.)

(Turkey's pledges to the democracies were made with Britain on May 12 and with France on June 23. They provided for mutual aid "in case of an act of aggression which might lead to war in the Mediterranean area.")

VERMILION OIL GOOD FOR ROADS FALLOW STATES

Highly satisfactory analysis of samples of the oil from the Wain-Town well in the Vermilion district insure its suitability for road surfacing purposes and the government is prepared to use all road oil produced therefrom, Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, declared Saturday. The oil must be delivered in a refined state for road use.

Mr. Fallow stated that government requirements of surfacing oil amount to about 2,000,000 gallons a year.

Wain-Town well strike was reported at the end of August and at that time it was unofficially announced that production would be in the neighborhood of 300 barrels a day. No official production test has been made as yet.

Mr. Fallow declared that "This oil has a suitable asphaltic content of 44.8 per cent. The bitumen content in residuum, as shown by solubility in carbon bisulphide, is 99.5 per cent, which meets requirements of government specifications for road building."

Admirer Of Hitler Will Be Sentenced

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 30.—William Phillips, 40-year-old Caradoc township tobacco worker, was convicted in magistrate's court Friday of making remarks disloyal to Canada and the Allied cause. He was remanded to jail until October 7 for sentence. Witnesses said Phillips was an admirer of Hitler and expressed the hope Germany would join with Russia and "wipe out Europe."

CANADA UNITY DISTURBED BY QUEBEC VOTE

at Ottawa will be at an end. That is the present view, arrived at after long and careful thought. The French-Canadian ministers, in keeping with the decision of their countrymen in Quebec, intend to resign—leaving the government of Canada to their English speaking colleagues. Their pact with their people, that there will be no conscription; their pact with Prime Minister King, that there will be no conscription during the life of the administration—these pacts, solemnly stated and affirmed in the debates of the war session, will be at an end. Conscription could follow at once—Quebec would be without a voice in cabinet council at Ottawa.

FINAL DECISION

The reasons which have driven the French-Canadian ministers to this decision—and it has every appearance of being final and irrevocable—are few and simple.

Mr. Lapointe, in the Commons, pledged himself and his colleagues to wage war without stint on a voluntary basis. There must be no conscription, but otherwise Canada would go the limit.

Here are his words and note how his own forebodings have been so swiftly confirmed by events:

"The whole province of Quebec—and I speak with all the responsibility and all the solemnity I can give to my words—will never agree to accept compulsory service or conscription outside of Canada. I will go farther than that: when I say the whole province of Quebec, I mean that I personally agree with them. I am authorized by my colleagues on the cabinet from the province of Quebec, to say that we will never agree to conscription and will never be members or supporters of a government that will try to enforce it. Is that clear enough? Provided these points are understood, we are willing to offer our services without limitation and to devote our best efforts for the success of the cause we all have at heart. And those in Quebec who say that we will have conscription, in spite of what some of us are saying, are doing the work of disunity; the work of the foe, the work of the enemy."

PROPHETIC WORDS

And then the prophetic words: "I have been told that my present stand means my political death. Well, at least it would not be a dishonorable end, and I am ready to make sacrifices for the sake of being right. But let me assure you, Mr. Speaker, that if only I can keep my physical strength, fail I shall not: and my friends shall not fail either."

There is Mr. Lapointe's pledge.

On September 24, at Three Rivers, Premier Maurice Duplessis announced a general election. He asserted that war policy at Ottawa has invaded essential provincial rights. Ottawa naving attacked provincial rights, Quebec's decision, said Mr. Duplessis, must be to preserve these rights, to resist any invasion of provincial autonomy.

These war measures have been applied by the Dominion government as measures essential to the voluntary war effort now being made. If they are withdrawn, this war effort becomes impossible and, therefore, Mr. Lapoint's solemn pledge is violated.

Hence the inevitability of the clash between the two leaders of French Canada, the dominion leader and the provincial leader. Quebec must now choose between the two and nobody here, as yet, can rightly comprehend the importance to Canada of what is at stake.

ALLIES WAIT FOR POSITION OF NEUTRALS

DETROIT, Sept. 30. — Brig.-Gen. E. R. Fitzpatrick, former president of the British Legion, told reporters here he did not think the British and French would start vigorous campaigns until the positions of European neutrals have been established definitely.

He added: "The lack of spectacular engagements is also a result of a lesson we learned in the last war. Throwing large forces of men against earthen bulwarks caused a sacrifice of a large number of troops. Now these bulwarks are of concrete and steel.

"This necessitates a new kind of warfare, and for obvious reasons these tactics must remain as much as possible a military secret."

The General, who attended the American Legion convention in Chicago, said "I am going to suggest upon my return that dispatches give more details. The thirst for news, I have learned upon my visit here, is far from being satisfied."

INFANTRY BRIGADES

One battalion in each of the three infantry bridages is a permanent force unit. For the first brigade the permanent force unit is the Royal Canadian Regiment, companies of which are stationed at London, Toronto, St. Johns, Que., and Halifax.

The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry of Winnipeg and Victoria heads the second brigade and the Royal 22nd Regiment of Quebec City the third brigade. Both these units perpetuate famous battalions of the Canadian Corps in the first Great War.

The first infantry brigade is an Ontario outfit, the non-permanent units being the 48th Hghlanders of Toronto, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and the Toronto Scottish Regiment (machine gun).

ALL-WESTERN BRIGADE

The second infantry brigade is all-western, headed by the Princess Pats. The other units are the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, Vancouver, the Edmonton Regiment and the Saskatoon Light Infantry (machine gun).

Quebec and the Maritime provinces furnish the units for the third brigade with the permanent Royal 22nd, the non-permanent units are the West Nova Scotia Regiment, the Carleton and York Regiment, New Brunswick, and the Royal Montreal Regiment (machine gun).

Units Selected In First Division

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of national defence, last night announced the composition of the first Canadian Division for Overseas Service and the names of the units selected to oppose it. The division will consist of the following:

TURKEY READY FOR APPROVAL ALLIES' PACT

Plans To Be Laid Before National Assembly Within Two Days

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Turkey's Eastern Mediterranean Mutual Assistance Pact with Great Britain and France has been completed and will be laid before the Turkish National Assembly within two days, according to the Istanbul correspondent of the Daily Express (Independent).

"Turkey's pact with Great Britain and France—mutual assitance in the eastern Mediterranean—was completed last night," said the paper today. "It will be laid before the Turkish National Assembly within two days."

MAJOR TRIUMPH

"The news reached London at three o'clock this morning from the Express correspondent in Istanbul. It means a major diplomatic triumph for the allied front.

"It also means that Ribbentrop (German foreign minister Joachim von Ribbentrop) has failed again. He failed to make a military partner of Russia and his efforts to seduce Turkey from her loyalty (to the allies) have now collapsed.

"It is underlined by the report that a Turkish military mission is already on its way to London, led by General Klaginin Orbay, who headed a mission to Great Britain earlier in the year.

RIBBENTROP'S IDEA

"Ribbentrop's idea was that if Turkey could be 'squared' then Italy might be dragged into a Mediterranean war on the German side."

The Express story mentioned the "studied avoidance" of Ribbentrop by Turkish Foreign Minister Saracoglu while in Moscow and also a report that Turkey refused to trade with Germany except for cash.

PROPER PRICE TO BE FIXED FOR CLOTHING

OTTAWA, Sept. 30—The Canadian Association of Garment Manufacturers today announced that the war supply board had approved a plan submitted by the apparel industry in connection with military uniforms and other clothing for Canadian soldiers.

A committee composed of H. P. MacKechnie of Toronto, H. R. Cohen of Montreal and Thomas W. Learie of Ottawa, executive secretary of the association, has been named to "asist and advise the board in all matters affecting the purchase and distribution of military apparel."

FAIR PRICE

The announcement sets out that under the plan submitted by the industry a fair and proper price that the government should pay for every type of garment involved and to set the amount to be paid to labor within the established standard price will be fixed.

All wearing apparel contracts will be placed to give as wide a distribution and allotment as sound economic production will permit and to ensure that all contracts will be placed with concerns who are legitimately engaged in the industry.

Profiteering either on the part of manufacturers or the part of supplies or on the part of labor will be eliminated.

MOST ADVANCED STEP

The announcement continues: "We believe that this is the most advanced step ever taken by an industry in any democratic country and the first time that any government or its appointed officers have ever embraced such an opportunity. We know that the trade of Canada spurred by the menace of war which is being waged to wipe out our free institutions and our liberties will respond by complete co-operation."

INDIAN CHARGED WITH MURDER TO APPEAR MONDAY

Charged with the murder of his wife, Zella Agnes Barnard, at their Jackfish Lake home near Fort Chipewyan on March 19 last, Alfred Barnard, Indian, will go on trial Monday in supreme court before Mr. Justice W. C. Ives and a jury.

It is alleged by the crown that Mrs. Barnard died of injuries inflicted by her husband as a result of a domestic quarrel.

Saturday "Scotty" Moir, Canadian Airways pilot, flew to Fort Chipewyan to transport police and other witnesses to Edmonton for the trial.

W. J. Dick To Handle Campaign For Red Cross

CALGARY, Sept. 30.—Col. D. L. Tomlinson, Red Cross commissioner for Alberta, announced Friday that Mayor Andrew Davison, Calgary, had accepted the chairmanship of the finance committee for southern Alberta and W. J. Dick will superintend the campaign in the northern half of the province. His Honor J. C. Bowen, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, has accepted the position of honorary chairman of the organization in the province.

Saskatchewan Poll Heavily In Favor Canada War Stand

REGINA, Sept. 30.—The Leader-Post last night announced the result of a survey of 1,000 residents of 40 small southern Saskatchewan towns on their attitude toward the war. The answer showed:

908 backed the stand of Canadian parliament.

880 favored recruiting measures.

721 supported an expeditionary force with some asking more time to consider this question.

REGIMENT NOW REPORTED AT TOP STRENGTH

Edmonton Regiment was brigaded along with the Princess Pats.

In the "Silver Seventh" Brigade of the 3rd Canadian Division were the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Princess Pats, the 42nd Royal Highlanders of Canada and the 49th Battalion, the Edmonton Regiment.

Now, after more than 20 years, two of the great regiments are again brigaded together.

Under normal circumstances in the World War, when the 7th Brigade was in the line, the Princess Pats and the 49th would relieve each other, while the R.C.R. and the 42nd would similarly relieve. Usually the R.C.R. and the Pats would be up front at the same time and then the 42nd and 49th would take over.

The Seaforth Highlanders contributed one battalion to the 12th Brigade of the 4th Canadian Division in the last war. Another copartner of the Edmonton Regiment of the 7th Brigade of happy memory, the Royal Canadian Regiment, heads the 1st Brigade of the new 1st Division.

These units, in addition to the Edmonton Regiment are the 61st and 92nd Batteries, Royal Canadian Artillery; the 9th Army Troops Company, Royal Canadian Engineers; the Wireless Section, Lines of Communication; No. 4 Casualty Clearing Station, and No. 13 Field Hygiene Section.

WAITING LIST

The Edmonton Regiment and some of the other units have more applications on hand than they can now enlist, but those desiring to join will have their names placed on the "waiting list" and when vacancies occur they will be given their chance to join.

The week-end will be one of joy around the Garrison. It is pay week end. Paying the men will commence Saturday and probably will not be completed until Monday. About $50,000 will be placed in circulation as a result of the pay. The Garrison being here, through pay, rations expenditures and other expenses incurred, means about $6,000 a day is put in circulation.

Some of the men received advances on pay of from $5 to $10.

PIANO PRESENTATION

On Friday night, Lieut.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., Garrison Commandant, was presented with a piano for use in the recreation hut at the garrison headquarters. The presentation was made on the stage of the Strand theatre. The piano is a gift of the Kiwanis Club. In connection with the ceremony, the Kiwanis Glee Club appeared on the Strand stage and under Ed. McGarvey's direction contributed a series of numbers. Col. Brown suitably thanked the club for the donation.

Col. Brown announced the Garrison would hold church parade and divine service on Sunday. The Roman Catholics will hold a communion mass in a lecture room of the Prince of Wales Armory at 7 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m.. Confession will be held, Father Joseph Malone will be in charge of both ceremonies.

The Protestant section of the Garrison will parade at 9:30 at the Prince of Wales Armory for divine service in charge of Capt. Rev. C. F. A. Clough, padre attached to No. 4 C.C.S. and Rev. George A. Macdonald, pastor of Knox United church.

Band Sergeant Stan Sheddon of the Edmonton Regiment reports several musicians have signed with the band and others are ready to sign.

Allan Sachse, former city athlete who returned here to join the Edmonton Regiment, is now enlisted.

CANADA WILL HOLD AUCTION OF SEAL SKINS

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Obtained by Canada as part of its share of skins taken on the Pribilof Islands, Alaska, under the Pelagic Sealing treaty, 3,000 finished fur seal skins will be offered for sale by fisheries department at Montreal fur auctions in December and January, it was announced today by Fisheries Minister Michaud. It will be the first time seal skin auctions are held in Canada.

Under the Pelagic treaty, capture of the seals on the Pribilof rookeries is entirely in the hands of the United States government, but Canada receives 15 per cent of the annual take.

Robert Lipsett, News Writer, Dies

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Robert Lipset, parliamentary correspondent for the Toronto Daily Star, died in hospital here early today. Mr. Lipsett was president of the press gallery and had had a lengthy journalistic career in Toronto, Winnipeg, Montreal and Ottawa.

FRANCE WILL PREPARE FOR ANY THREAT

Germany and Russia of "blackmail" and declared they were trying to force an "eastern peace" upon Europe.

"Perhaps Hitler will propose it to us," Giraudoux said, "on condition that we deny not only our treaties but our tastes, our convictions, our religions and our liberties.

"He will give us what he calls peace—that is a short delay which permits Germany to digest its prey and to force arms to snare its next prey."

PROMPT REJECTION

Giraudoux's address was taken by foreign observers to indicate that any formal proposals from Berlin and Moscow would be rejected promptly by the government.

This belief was strengthened by wide publicity given a note presented to the foreign ministry by Polish Ambassador Jules Lukasiewicz, declaring his government would not accept terms of the German-Russian accord.

COUNTING ON ALLIES

The note said the Poles were counting upon France and Great Britain to carry the war to final victory. (A similar communication was delivered by the Polish ambassador in London.)

Further indication that France had no intention of entertaining such a peace proposal was seen by observers in a trip yesterday by President Albert Lebrun to the front line army headquarters.

Semi-official French sources said that Saarbruecken, industrial centre of the Saar basin, was three-fourths encircled.

"These sources said the Germans would be forced to abandon the city shortly or risk being cut off from the main Westwall defences several miles to the rear.

BRITISH BLOCKADE

Announcement of the Russian agreement to furnish economic aid to Germany was greeted by the press with declarations that such a manoeuvre could not offset the British naval blockade. Russia, Paris newspapers said, could not supply all of Germany's war needs—particularly chromium and nickel.

Threats of Russian military collaboration with Germany, which, it was said, were implied in the Soviet-Nazi pact, were interpreted by the press as a move to split public opinion in France regarding the advisability of pressing the war. Most commentators refused to believe Russia intended to join forces with the Reich.

FRAUD IS SEEN IN CITIZENSHIP OTTAWA TOLD

tion papers by a district court judge subsequent to his application being refused by other judges in Edmonton.

He had been refused citizenship because he owed relief advances to the city of Edmonton, and when granted his papers this fact was suppressed from the jurist who recommended his naturalization.

The following is the text of Mr. Justice Ewing's statement:

"It does seem to me that a number of these certificates of naturalization have been issued under circumstances indicating the grossest fraud, and I think that steps should be taken to inform the Secretary of State with a view perhaps to having them cancelled.

"I do not think men should be going around here wearing all the attributes of their being a British subject when the very paper that evidences their being a British subject has been obtained by fraud. It shocks anyone with a reasonably honest mind. You can suit yourself about what you will do. I am merely telling you what in my judgment ought to be done."

ALLEGED FRAUDS

Evidence Friday was devoted to showing the manner in which the alleged frauds were committed. Several witnesses stated that Kuzik had approached them offering to obtain their papers for a consideration. In all cases, they testified, that Kuzik had informed them that repayment of relief advances had nothing to do with their getting their citizenship. In all cases before the court this fact was suppressed when application for citizenship was made. Two perjury charges are pending against applicants. The hearing was adjourned till October 6.

German Failure To Fulfill Barter Gives U.S. Order

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 30.—The Argentine state railways last night announced purchase of nearly $500,000 in railway tank cars from United States in what informed circles interpreted to be an indication the United States may be asked to furnish equipment because of Germany's failure to fulfill a huge barter deal.

The state railways said 200 tank cars and parts, plus some steel parts of locomotives, were bought from the American Car and Foundry Company.

Several months ago Argentina contracted with Germany to exchange wheat and meat for 900 flat cars and parts, 30 sleepers and 61 Diesel light switching locomotives. Officials said Germany failed to deliver any of the equipment.

Cabinet Members Refuse Indemnity For Special Meet

TORONTO, Sept. 30. — Premier Hepburn announced following a special cabinet meeting Friday all members of the cabinet decided not to accept the $80 indemnity for the special four-day session of the Ontario legislature last week. It was also decided members of the legislature will be paid $20 only for days actually spent in the house. Under ordinary conditions, members are paid $20 a day regardless of whether present or not for official sessions.

BRITAIN WILL REJECT PEACE FROM HITLER

Poland of her territory now occupied by Russia.

While asserting "there can be no peace with Hitler," the Times said British relations with Stalin "will be decided by events." It said the latest Russian-German line "restricts the Russian share of ethnic Poland."

"Russia takes over in the main white Russians and Ukrainians," the paper continued. "Germany acquires additional territory with a population indubitably Polish and seeks to enlarge the now miscellaneous Reich with lands whose claim to liberty and independence is absolute."

The Daily Mail said Hitler's peace offensive will "neither deceive nor dismay" Britain and France.

PEACE OFFENSIVE

"So Hitler wants peace—at his own price," the newspaper said. "We reject his terms. Great Britain and France have known it was coming. It is another shot in the war of nerves. It is properly called a 'peace offensive'—offensive in the highest degree of those who have sworn to fight for freedom."

"The truth is that the pact announced yesterday does not change the situation at all," said the Daily Sketch. "To advance the destructions of Poland as a basis of lasting peace would be the most shocking and immoral proposition in history. We will have nothing to do with peace by blackmail."

REDUCE PRESSURE

"The public would be well advised not to jump to hasty conclusions," the News Chronicle said in a discussion of the Soviet-German agreement. "A military alliance might seriously prolong the war. Even economic assistance may seriously reduce the pressure of the blockade upon Germany."

"But an alliance between these two powers which leaves each free to Nazify or Sovietize territories they have annexed can only be a purely opportunist one."

The Daily Telegraph declared: "The German hope of using Russia to dictate peace is doomed to failure."

Secret Station Calls On German Workers To Resist

BERNE, Sept. 30.—The secret anti-Nazi German radio station, "Liberty," believed located "somewhere in Germany," last night called on all German armaments workers to adopt passive resistance tactics and deliberately slow up their work if authorities do not improve working conditions. The broadcaster concluded by crying "Down with Hitler! Long live liberty and peace! All enemies of Hitler—unite!"

Burns Fatal

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Sept. 30—Amy Suzuki, nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Suzuki, Japanese of nearby Annacis Island, died in hospital here last night of burns suffered last night when she apparently pulled a basin of scalding water over herself.

R.A.F. TAKES PICTURES OF GERMAN LINE

Series Of Photographs Of Defence Works and Stores Built Up

LONDON, Sept. 30.—An air ministry statement today said photographs snapped by Royal Air Force pilots flying along Germany's Siegfried line at a height of 600 feet have provided British headquarters in France with closeups of gun emplacements, camouflage and communication lines along the western wall.

None of the British planes was attacked by German anti-aircraft guns or pursuit planes and the air ministry said the machines may have been mistaken for German aircraft by the German garrison. On one case, it said, Germans working on camouflage "stopped working, looked up and waved in greeting."

SERIES OF PHOTOS

The flight crossed and recrossed the frontier, building up a series of photographs of the German defences and stores in the area beyond the Siegfried line, the ministry said.

An earlier reconnaissance flight flew over the line at about 21,000 feet but heavy banks of clouds made photography difficult at this height. These aircraft were spotted by German anti-aircraft batteries, who opened fire.

Despite anti-aircraft gunning, which the air ministry called "very accurate," the second flight managed to photograph huge expanses of country beyond the Siegfried line. These pictures were added to the other more detailed ones of the line taken at the lower altitude.

SUB REPORTED BY FISHERMAN AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Sept. 30.—Ralph Bremer, secretary of the Fishing Vessel Owners' Association here, said Friday a "very reliable" fisherman has reported to military authorities in Vancouver the sighting of a "foreign submarine" within 30 miles of the harbor Sept. 16.

Bremer said the fisherman reported he had clearly seen the underwater craft as he fished from a rowboat near Sechelt, 30 miles north of Vancouver.

The fisherman, watching through binoculars, saw "two or three men climb from the conning tower to the deck and then, after busying themselves for a few minutes, climb back again," Bremer said.

The fisherman was quoted as saying he could distinctly read the number of the submarine—a number of three digits—and see other distinguishing marks.

Air Commodore G. O. Johnson of the Royal Canadian Air Force said seaplanes from Jericho Beach air station here have had the Sechelt area "under observation all along, but no submarines have ever been detected from the air.

LIGHTNING KILLS TWO IN ONTARIO

TORONTO, Sept. 30—Two deaths through lightning and severe property damage resulted Friday from electrical storms which raged over widely-separated parts of Ontario.

Alex Pychwyl, 40, was killed at Welland by a lightning bolt as he walked along a railway spur line. John Charles Caesar, 46, a farmer, was burned to death after lightning set fire to his home near Durham.

Barn losses were reported in the Picton and Oshawa districts of eastern Ontario and in the Chatsworth district, near Owen Sound. Hall fell in several districts.

Many Young Canadians Almost Ready to Fly In British Air Force

By GUY RHOADES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 30—A group of Canadian youngsters who paid their own passage to England are almost ready to help fight the Empire's air battles.

In a great flying school set in the heart of rural England one-sixth of the students in the advanced course are Canadian and the chief instructor told this correspondent Friday the percentage was even higher in some other schools in which he had taught.

CANUCK VOLUNTEERS

These lads, drawn from graduates of the volunteer air reserve, the civil air guard and similar bodies, get intermediate and advanced training at this and other schools like it scattered throughout the country. The Canadians came as volunteers before the war began and paid their own way.

By instituting long hours and seven-day weeks, the authorities have cut training programs at such schools and effected such training time reduction that a school turning out 90 finished pilots in 1934 now can graduate 500 annually.

How do the students like it? Listen to three Canadians who were on the ground yesterday, James W. Mitchell, Toronto, William McKnight, Calgary, and William Lewis, North Battleford, Sask.

Jim, a soft-spoken big lad, did not have much to say for himself except that he liked the life and found Toronto "a good town to be out of." At 22 he was the oldest of the three.

BILL LEWIS LIKES IT

McKnight, 21, was more talkative. A dark and quick-moving little chap, he said he was working "pretty hard, about twice as hard as necessary, we think."

Bill Lewis is only 18. He said he liked the life "when it doesn't rain," and added that "maybe if the war keeps up we will get to a country where there is a decent climate." Lewis left school two years ago, played junior hockey one season and came here last spring to join the R. A. F. He's a big kid with a slightly freckled face and used to play defence.

Their chief instructor said these boys and other Canadians were material he liked best to handle. The pupils are divided into two groups, those destined to work in fighter aircraft and those to handle bombers.

FIERY LADS FOR FIGHTERS

Highly strung fiery lads get the fighters, cooler and more phlegmatic heads are assigned to the bombers. The two Bills and Jim were flying practice bombers.

When they finish at this school both groups will go to service units where they will work with the actual machines they are expected to fight in. After a short spell there they are ready to go to war.

Meanwhile they are polishing their training here, machine-gunning with camera guns, practising bombing with camera obscura, learning night flying in the "link trainer" which gives them instrument panel controls, wireless set and all the sensations of the real thing but never raises them more than five feet off the floor.

This particular school has been operating more than a year and has not suffered a single casualty.

Bearded Lady Proves To Be A Mere Man!

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—The bearded lady is a man!

So Magistrate Harry G. Andrews, sitting in felony court, Friday ordered "Frances" Murphy, 26, arrested for perjury; and assistant District attorney Robert H. Thayer said he would ask that attempted assault charges against John Durkin, 31, a chauffeur, be dismissed.

Durkin was arrested early Wednesday morning in a subway station after he tried to kiss "Miss" Murphy, who was wearing the veil "she" customarily wears on the street when "she" isn't appearing in sideshows as "The Gorilla Lady."

Durkin was dropped with a left hook. Then as a policeman came up the "lady" raised her veil and disclosed a five-inch beard and a moustache. Durkin was arraigned Thursday in felony court. His attorney asked "Miss" Murphy if she was a woman.

"Of course I am," was the indignant reply.

Thayer yesterday ordered an examination which gave the lie to "Frances" statement.

Clippers To Quit 'Northern' Route Across Atlantic

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—Pan American Airways announced last nght it would discontinue trans-Atlantic flights over its "northern" route because of the approach of winter, but would double the flights on the southern course.

The Yankee Clipper today will start the season's last eastbound crossing to Foynes, Eire, via New Brunswick and Newfoundland. It is scheduled to return over the northern coure Oct. 4-5.

On Oct. 7, the company said, northern route equipment will be shifted to the southern crossing via Bermuda and the Azores, terminating at Lisbon. There will be four weekly crossings.

OPENING OF TREASURIES CELEBRATED

Saturday Is First Anniversary Of Government Voucher Plan

First anniversary of the founding of the Alberta government treasury branch system was commemorated Saturday as Premier William Aberhart announced that there are now 29 treasury branches and 325 agencies functioning throughout the province.

On Sept. 30, 1938, five branches were open and within a year the number has increased to 29 with arrangements now being made for opening the thirtieth, which will be located on the South Side.

$753,681 DEPOSIT

Success has attended operation of the treasury, branches right from the start. For the six months period ended June 30 of this year there was a total on deposit of $753,681.90 in the treasury branches as compared with $601,652.16 on March 31 last, the end of the province's fiscal year.

Main object of the treasury branch system is to increase purchasing power of the consuming public; create an increased demand for Alberta-made goods; assist in establishing industries in this province and in every way possible improve the economic conditions of the people.

The first branches were opened on Sept. 30 last at Andrew, 75 miles northeast of here; Grande Prairie, 250 miles northwest; St. Paul, 100 miles southeast, and Killam, 85 miles southeast.

TRANSFER VOUCHERS

Deposit books and folders of non-negotiable transfer vouchers are issued to all those persons opening accounts in the treasury branches. These show the amounts of deposits and enable the customer to withdraw or transfer credit from one account to another. Officials explain that method permits much of the internal trade of the province to be done by vouchers without use of Canadian currency or bank cheques or drafts.

When a person opens an account in a treasury branch, he deposits vouchers, cash or other securities, and receives a deposit book and the folder of vouchers or transfer receipts. When he buys goods he turns over to the merchant a voucher made out to cover the transaction. The merchant then deposits the vouchers and the credit is transferred from the original account to that of the merchant.

The transfer vouchers contain space for the value of purchase of Made-in-Alberta goods to be inserted and at the end of the month a three per cent bonus is allowed on the total purchase to the amount of three times the purchase of Alberta-made goods.

WITHDRAW CASH

At any time, depositors may withdraw in cash the balance of their cash deposits. When they desire to transfer voucher deposits into cash a charge of 2 per cent is assessed. This is made so as to encourage use of voucher payments.

Certified non-negotiable transfer vouchers are accepted by the provincial government, for taxes, license fees, royalties, rentals, timber dues and other features. Government officials pointed out that as use of vouchers becomes more general, issue and control of credit will become a matter of wise direction.

Already they said, effect of the treasury branch system is being felt to advantage by merchants and producers.

INTERVIEW TELLS OF SUB ATTACK ON COURAGEOUS

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—An interview ascribed to a member of the crew of the submarine which sank the British aircraft carrier Courageous and describing the submersible's supposed escape from British depth bombs was published Friday by the Berliner Zeitung at Mittag.

The German high command insists that the submarine returned safely to its base with only slight damage.

The man, described as a helmsman of the submarine, quoted in the interview, said the Courageous was hit by several torpedoes.

The submarine "shortly thereafter was showered with a series of depth bombs." The terrific vibrations of the depth charges broke gauge glasses, panes on clocks and pressure indicators, he said. None, however, hit the submarine which was travelling deep at slow speed and which finally managed to escape.

Naval Program To Be Extended

MELBOURNE, Sept. 30. — Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced today that Australia had decided to extend its naval program by building and purchasing small craft, including some for defence against mines. It also was announced that Major-General Sir Thomas Blamey, former chief of the Australian general staff, will command the new force of 20,000 men which is being raised for service in Australia or overseas.

Labor Wants Production Of All Dominion's War Materials Nationalized

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 30.—Nationalization of the production of all war materials and of the "possession, production and distribution" of nickel was asked last night by the 55th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. Delegates approved resolutions from Calgary trades council on the questions.

The Congress should "demand" not "request" the nationalization of nickel production, J. B. Salsberg, of Toronto, said in a discussion of the resolutions.

PRESIDENT CAUTIOUS

"In 1938, Canada's export of nickel to Germany had soared to the fabulous figure of 1,380,477 hundredweight," Fred Collins, of Toronto, said. "This nickel will return to us in the form of bullets to maim our own soldiers."

Delegates voted unanimously to ask that "complete control" of nickel "be in the hands of the Canadian people."

Tom Moore of Ottawa, elected president of the Congress Friday to replace the retiring president, P. M. (Paddy) Draper of Ottawa, said: "We should be careful because nickel is a raw material."

"Nickel is no more important today in regard to war munitions than other materials," he added. "But I feel sure the nickel situation will be taken care of adequately by a wartime act."

UPHOLD REJECTION

The convention upheld rejection of the resolutions committee of a recommendation from Larder Lake, Ont., Lodge of Carpenters and Joiners which asked that a 10-year moratorium be declared on debts of all governments in Canada to aid the nation to "steer clear of a slump."

The Congress agreed lowering of direct relief standards should be opposed and that if the federal and provincial governments failed to recognize "by action" the need for a shorter work-week, the Congress would, "if need be, help to organize concerted action by all interested organizations."

NEW CANADIAN ARMY UNIFORM STREAM-LINED

No Buttons To Shine, No Puttees To Roll In the Present War

OTTAWA, Sept. 30. — New khaki uniforms of a loose, blousy pattern, with no buttons to shine and no puttees to roll, will be issued to the Canadian Active Service Force as soon as the factories can turn them out.

A sample of the new garb substantially the same as the new standard uniforms of the British army, was displayed to newspapermen Friday by the department of national defence. Compared with the old style outfit worn in the first Great War and since, the new battle clothes are stream-lined and somewhat resemble skiing outfits.

ROOMINESS FEATURED

The uniform consists of a roomy, wide-sleeved blouse something halfway between the old-fashioned tunic and a civilian wind-breaker, and a pair of loose-fitting trousers with a high waist and plenty of room around the hips.

At the ankles the trousers are fitted with cloth tabs and buttons similar to those commonly worn on the cuffs of men's overcoats. For duty the trousers will be buttoned tight about the ankles and enclosed beneath canvas gaiters about six inches high. The gaiters may be discarded, the strap unbuttoned and the trousers worn as ordinary slacks when off duty.

The headgear is a wedge-shaped cap, built on the same lines as the forage cap worn by the Royal Canadian Air Force. The cap is worn over the right ear but may be adjusted to cover the whole head, including ears, neck and forehead, in bad weather.

HIDDEN BUTTONS

Only two buttons are visible on the whole uniform, those on the shoulder straps. They are dull-colored and require no polishing. Buttons fastening the front of the tunic and the pockets are hidden.

The blouse fits snugly around the waist where it is fastened with a strap of its own material. It has a turn-down collar, like the more recent issues of the old uniform, which closes at the neck with hook and eye. Unlike the older style, however, the collar may be opened at the neck for comfort without appearing unsightly.

Trousers have the usual side and one hip pocket with two additional pockets on the front of the thigh. On the right thigh is a small pocket for first-aid kit while on the left thigh is a large one in which the wedge-shaped cap may be carried when a steel helmet is worn.

MATERIAL SIMILAR

The material is similar to the standard army khaki serge. Regimental badges will be worn on the shoulder straps and badges of rank on the sleeves.

The new uniform will be worn by all arms of the service except mounted cavalry. Officers' uniforms will follow the same pattern but may be of better quality when purchased by the officers themselves.

Bell Is Named P.E.I. Member By Court Ruling

CHARLOTTETOWN, Sept. 30.—R. R. Bell, Charlottetown lawyer, was declared Friday by Chief Justice J. A. Matheson to be the elected Conservative member of the Prince Edward Island legislature for the constituency of Second District of Queens, previously represented by a Liberal, Hon. B. W. LePage, since appointed lieutenant-governor. The court ruling gave the Conservatives a total of four seats against the Liberals' 26.

Name Of German Church At Coast City Is Changed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 30.—Name of the First German Baptist church of Vancouver has been changed to Ebenezer Baptist church, Albert Pekrul, church clerk, announced on Friday.

Pekrul said the congregation has never taken part in any German political meetings.

"We have only one mission and that is to preach the gospel of Christ," he said. "For God and Canada we stand, and join all Canadians in praying: 'God save our King.'"

NAZIS CLAIM ANGLO PLANES ARE REPULSED

High Command Says Attempt To Penetrate Germany Is Failure

BERLIN, Sept. 30—A communique from the German high command today claimed 12 British planes had been repulsed in an attempt to penetrate German territory along the North Sea coast.

German airmen shot down five or six British planes which they engaged over the Frisian Islands, the communique claimed. Crew of two German pursuit planes, said to have made emergency landings on the sea, were reported rescued by German warships.

Six other British planes attacked a destroyer "in a German bay," but were driven off by anti-aircraft guns without scoring a hit, according to the communique.

45 VESSELS SEARCHED

The high command said 45 vessels had been searched for contraband in the Kattegat and Skagerrak, and "a number of them were captured."

Artillery activity on the western front was reported "a little livelier." In the east, approximately 5,200 Polish troops were said to have surrendered south of the Vistula after the capitulation of Modlin.

SNAP JUDGMENT

Informed quarters here professed to view the scornful attitude of the British press toward German peace proposals as a "snap judgment" that would be changed after "the new situation" had been considered more carefully.

After co-operating with Russia in the partition of Poland, Germany stipulated two primary conditions for peace:

1—That she and Russia alone decide the fate of Poland.

2—That the "natural development of German interests in the Balkans" be undisturbed.

First reaction reaching the German foreign office was the British press comment that the Nazi-Communist partnership had no effect on British war aims.

Church Hospital In Chanteh Burned By Demonstrators

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 30.—The Chinese official news agency reported Friday that anti-British elements in Changteh has burned down the United Church of Canada hospital in that North Honan province city last Tuesday.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Canadian missionaries were evacuated from Changteh last week because of the agitation there, missionary headquarters here said Friday following a Chinese official news agency report anti-British elements burned down the United Church of Canada hospital in Changteh.

Manitoba President Says New Democracy Is Social Credit Under New Name

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30.—T. H. Elliott, president of the Manitoba executive of the New Democracy movement, last night revealed he has resigned and severed connections with the movement, charging "New Democracy is Social Credit masquerading under a new title."

"I cannot conscientiously be identified with any adaptation of unsound impractical theorizing tending to deceive the Canadian people," Mr. Elliott said in a letter of resignation to Hon. W. D Herridge of Ottawa, New Democracy leader.

Text of the brief letter was incorporated in a statement given by Mr. Elliott to the press.

Mr. Elliott said in his statement he was told "New Democracy would elect a parliament, that it was not necessary for the Canadian people to know what that parliament would do when it was elected, but that they would do something for the people to improve present conditions. This I considered an insult to my intelligence, and expressed myself so.

"I found complete disunity in the whole set-up of the New Democracy movement. There was dissatisfaction with Mr. Herridge's ideas. There was disagreement within the groups.

"I met six of the Social Credit M.P.'s at Winnipeg on their return from the special session of parliament at Ottawa. They told me this: 'We are Social Crediters no longer, we are New Democracy. But in the province of Alberta and in the other provinces we will be Social Credit.' I was assured that Mr. Herridge had accepted Social Credit as his New Democracy movement.

"In other words, the New Democracy is Social Credit masquerading under a new title."

Persons in Internment Camps Get Chance to Prove Right to Liberty

OTTAWA, Sept. 30—Persons held in interment camps will be given the opportunity of proving they are entitled to their liberty, it was learned last night. The exact number held was not available, but there are several hundred. Most of them are held at the Citadel, Quebec, at Fort Henry, Kingston, Ont., and at Kananaskis, Alta.

The interned persons are in two classes — those who are enemy aliens whose petition for liberation will be heard by county court judges, and those interned under Regulation 21 of the Defence of Canada regulations. An advisory committee headed by Judge F. L. Smiley will hear their appeals against internment.

HAS WIDE POWERS

Regulation 21 gives the minister of justice wide powers to detain persons in time of war with a view to preventing them from acting "in a manner prejudicial to the public safety or the safety of the state."

Other members of the advisory committee are W. P. J. O'Meara, assistant undersecretary of state, and Jacques Fortier, solicitor of the transport department. It is understood the board will sit first at Kingston and later in Quebec and then go west. It will begin hearing objections to internment early next month.

Suspected persons will be given the opportunity to prove they should be given their freedom, and the committee will report its findings to the minister of justice. Interned persons will be permitted to engage counsel if they so desire.

DETAINED BY MOUNTIES

Most of the persons were detained by the mounted police, acting under the minister of justice, but once interned they are under Brig.-General E. De. B. Panet, Montreal, head of the internment organization.

Eventually the persons held at Quebec and Kingston will be transferred to Petawawa, Ont., where an interment camp is being constructed. It was contended in official circles no other country at war has gone to such lengths to give interned persons a right to a fair hearing as Canada.

Fear of sabotage was said to be one of the chief reasons that prompted the government to intern suspected persons.

Montreal Interns "About 120 Men"

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—Since the outbreak of hostilities "about 120 men" have been interned by the Montreal division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Inspector C. W. Harvison of the R.C.M.P.'s secret service organization said last night.

The R.C.M.P. began activities against enemy aliens the day war was declared, when 30 patrols of R.C.M.P. officers and troopers, ex-servicemen and trusted civilians detained nearly 60 men. Arrests have dropped off since then, police said, and recently one or two a day has been the limit.

The aliens have been sent to Fort Henry, Kingston, Ont.

Inspector Harvison said that in addition to the men interned, about 300 other persons were detained or taken into temporary custody at their homes, offices, stores or other places for questioning and then released.

PEP RALLY IS FEATURE MEET AT UNIVERSITY

Students Start Lectures As Registration Ends—Rugby Saturday

With registration virtually completed at the University of Alberta, Freshmen and senior students commence the serious business of absorbing knowledge. Introductory lectures were given Friday and Saturday and on Monday students will be expected to start "buckling down".

Friday evening a rousing Pep Rally was staged in Convocation Hall and members of the Golden Bears' football squad were introduced to the students. After that cheer leaders led the rally in cheers and the Alberta song. This was all in preparation for the first game of the season to be held Saturday.

Senior students and instructors in the Alberta Contingent of the C.O.T.C. held a meeting in the Arts Building Friday afternoon. Col. Warren and Sergt.-Major Instructor Robertson addressed the men. Many of these senior students will be given commissions in the Corps and the method of selection was discussed.

The unit will be divided into four divisions: group A, all new students; group B, students in the specialty division such as artillery, engineering, medical and signalling; group C, all graduates wishing to return for army instruction; group D, all men already in possession of certificates. This year outdoor manoeuvres will be held as long as the weather permits.

THREE SHIPS OF NEUTRALS SUNK BY SUBS

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 30.—Three neutral ships sunk in Scandinavian waters during the 36 hours ending last night were declared by survivors to have been victims of submarine attacks. A fourth went down after striking a mine. No lives were lost.

In all, nine ships have been sunk in northern waters since Sept. 22 when the Akenside, 4,000-ton British freighter loaded with coal, was torpedoed off Hisoi island on Norway's southeastern coast.

BARRIER OF SUBS

The recent sinkings emphasized the statement of Captain Gebrielsen of the 875-ton Norwegian freighter Jern, sunk Thursday off Kristiansand, that it was "impossible now to get across the North Sea except by convoy." He said a submarine sank his ship.

"Germany has a barrier of submarines co-operating with airplanes," he said.

The crew of the Jern—believed the first Norwegian ship to be torpedoed during the war—reached Kristiansand Friday, bringing first word of the ship's sinking.

News was reeived the Takstaas, 1,830-ton Norwegian freighter, had been torpedoed early today in Korsfjord, one of the steamship entrances to Bergen on the west Norwegian coast.

STRIKES MINE

Shortly afterwards came information that the 2,000-ton Norwegian Salaas struck a mine and sank in the North Sea off the Danish coast.

The third ship reported torpedoed in the 36-hour period was the 3,378-ton Swedish cargo vessel Nyland, loaded with iron bound for Antwerp. She was sunk early Thursday off Feisten lighthouse in the vicinity of Stavanger, Norway. The boat had been taken captive the night before.

The Swedish minister in Berlin Friday again protested sinking of Swedish ships and in the case of the Nyland, emphasized the cargo was exclusively intended for Belgium and thus was excluded from the contraband list. Demanding compensation, he said the sinking was "an obvious violation of international law."

Casualties in Scandinavian waters now include three Norwegian ships, three Swedish, two Finnish, among the neutrals, and the British Akenside. Total tonnage was 20,895. Six of the ships carried wood pulp—which is on Germany's contraband list. Five of them were bound for England, one for Antwerp.

Co-Ordination Of News Releases Is Planned At Ottawa

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—In an effort to provide more information to the public concerning war preparations, the government plans to co-ordinate the release of public announcements from the various departments and new boards.

To this end, George Hambleton, former superintendent of The Canadian Press, Ottawa Bureau, and later its European correspondent, is working in the prime minister's office directing the collection of information to be made public and the release of such information.

No formal appointment has been made yet or office set up but the present arrangement is believed to be a forerunner of the proposed ministry of information.

CREDIT CLAUSE OF NEUTRALITY BILL IS ISSUE

Financial Section To Be Fought By Opponents Of Embargo Repeal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Contending the United States Neutrality Bill involved "credit and carry" not "cash and carry," opponents of the measure Friday made its financial section an issue second only to that of repealing the arms embargo.

The measure, finally approved by the senate foreign relations committee during the day, would permit belligerents to buy arms or other materials here on 90 days non-renewable credit, subject to the approval of the president.

MAKE ALTERATIONS

Actually the new Neutrality Bill was approved by the senate committee Thursday and pronounced ready for senate debate, but the committee Friday decided to make alterations.

In this connection the committee decided United States ocean-going commerce to Canada could not be permitted, but wrote into the bill a provision permitting United States ships and airplanes to leave mail and passengers at the Caribbean possession of Great Britain and France lying to the south of the 30th parallel of north latitude.

The line runs through New Orleans and its application to the present situation would prohibit sea and air commerce not only to Canada, but to the Island of Bermuda as well. However, it will permit airlines to South America to make stops at Trinidad and Martinique, both British ports. Steps to keep the Pacific route of Pan American Airways functioning also were taken. They permit a stop at Hong Kong.

SUBMARINES FEARED

Under the bill, however, Americans can transport goods to Canada by lake routes and by rail. Senator Key Pittman, chairman of the committee, said prohibition against ocean shipping to Canada was written in because United States steamships might pass through submarine danger zones.

Already chafing at financial provision of the legislation, the opposition considered it a challenge when Senator Pittman said that to the extent of the 90-day credits the bill would amend the Johnson act. That law is a statute favored by senators who have traditionally counselled American aloofness from the affairs of Europe. Most of them are allied with the opposition to the neutrality bill.

EXPLAINS WORKINGS

The law forbids any American bank or individual to make a loan to any government which is in default on its obligations to the United States government. As applied to the present war situation, it would mean that Great Britain, France and Poland could not obtain credit here. Germany, not having had any war loan here, would be free to do so, if she could find lenders.

So, in permitting 90-day credits to the three allies, the pending legislation, Pittman said, would amend the Johnson act.

Duplessis' Folly

For no conceivable purpose other than that of profiteering in the field of politics by disrupting national unity in this time of crisis, Premier Duplessis of Quebec has launched an attack on Canada's war policy, on the methods by which that policy is being carried out, and on the Government under whose leadership this policy and these methods have been evolved.

Thus attacked, the Quebec members in the Dominion cabinet and their supporters in parliament have no recourse but to enter the Quebec campaign in their own behalf and in behalf of the unity M. Duplessis seeks to destroy, which they propose to do. Should they be vindicated by the electors, the war effort will go on as the effort of a united Canada and on the basis of voluntary enlistment.

Should Duplessis gain popular support for his attack, Quebec's members in the cabinet will be discredited, national unity will be at an end, Hon. Ernest Lapointe and his colleagues may be constrained to resign, leaving the national cabinet representative of only the English-speaking provinces. In which event conscription, the very thing Quebec abhors, could be applied with no breach of faith; and a condition of potential strife of fratricidal character would be created.

Canadians everywhere should be aware of the serious situation provoked by Premier Duplessis. The matter was plainly stated by the Minister of Justice during the debate at the recent war session of parliament:

"I am authorized by my colleagues in the cabinet from the province of Quebec, to say that we will never agree to conscription and will never be members or supporters of a government that will try to enforce it. Is that clear enough? Provided these points are understood, we are willing to offer our services without limitation and to devote our best efforts for the success of the cause we all have at heart. And those in Quebec who say that we will have conscription, in spite of what some of us are saying, are doing the work of disunity; the work of the foe, the work of the enemy."

In his attempt to sabotage Canada's war effort, Premier Duplessis is "doing the work of the enemy," in the most effective and therefore the most publicly dangerous way open to him.

Why a Contest?

Edmonton's civic year is drawing toward a close and the question of municipal elections coming into view. The mayoral term of course ends with the year, and five of the aldermen will also have served out the terms for which they were elected. The retiring aldermen are Messrs. E. Brown, George A. Campbell, F. C. Casselman, D. A. Grout and D. K. Knott.

It would be in keeping with the spirit of the time and the truce called in federal and provincial affairs, if Mayor Fry and the retiring aldermen were given re-election by acclamation, and the distraction of a campaign thus avoided. That course is the more appropriate—would not of course be at all appropriate otherwise—because the conduct of the city's business has been generally satisfactory and no large issues have developed to require decision by the voters.

If the latter agree to re-elect the retiring members of council without a contest they will thereby give due recognition to service rendered, and avoid the disturbance of a campaign which could not well be other than a controversy over matters of relatively little importance.

Nothing Doing

Herr von Ribbentrop's fishing expedition to Moscow was no more successful than was to be anticipated. Neither Nazi blandishments nor the profits of the Polish raid have turned Stalin's head, or changed his purpose of playing the game of international politics with strict regard to his own winnings.

There was ready agreement on the proposition that Poland should be partitioned to extinction, and on the division of its territory. That thieves' bargain was quickly struck, and both conspirators pledged themselves to "reject" any interference by third powers in the apportionment of the booty.

There was also an exchange of letters between Von Ribbentrop and Molotoff to the effect that Russia and Germany will exchange raw materials for manufactured goods and will endeavor to expand this interchange speedily and to the maximum.

But, if Berlin's summary is to be trusted, there was no military pact signed and no undertaking on the part of Russia to fight on Hitler's behalf. The farthest Stalin would go in that direction was to join in an expression of opinion that, Poland having been obliterated, it was to the interest of all nations to bring to an end the state of war existing between Germany and the Anglo-French allies; and that, should this not occur, Moscow will "consult" with Berlin as to "necessary measures".

If this is all Von Ribbentrop got from the conference he might as well have stayed at home. There may of course be secret alliance clauses in the agreement which Berlin did not see fit to make public. That is hardly likely, since Russian backing was angled for as a means to intimidate Britain and France into making peace on Hitler's terms. Had this backing been secured, the Allies would no doubt have been told in the most impressive language that they must expect to fight Russia as well as Germany if they continue to fight.

The Fuehrer's foreign minister was sent to Moscow to get a military alliance; the other matters dealt with were routine. He didn't get it, according to the communique published at Berlin. All he got was a promise to "consult" about matters which Moscow will consider "necessary" or not necessary, according as its interests are or are not affected. He could have got that by calling Stalin on the telephone.

Editorial Notes

Mr. Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader in British Columbia, says the Government is attacking "freedom of speech, of the press, of the radio, of political expression and organization, of trade unions and the right of assembly." Mr. Winch seems to be still holding public meetings, making speeches, and carrying on political profiteering without hindrance.

United States ship-owners do not like the proposal that their vessels be forbidden to carry munitions to belligerent countries. They would risk the ships for the sake of the freights. But they are not likely to get much attention from Congress, which has no intention to risk the country being drawn into war in order that the transportation interests may pay dividends.

Premier Duplessis is basing his election campaign on the claim that Dominion war regulations trangress what he conceives to be the provincial rights of Quebec. He should explain to the voters how he would go about it to protect their provincial rights with Nazi submarines in the St. Lawrence and Nazi bombers showering death on the capital. These things are liable to happen if the Dominion does not take all necessary steps to build up an adequate defence system.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

I wonder to what degree the poplar tree, one of the most prolific on this northern continent, is to blame for that distressing malady known as hay-fever? Low ragweed on this continent is one of the most evilly-reputed causes of hay-fever. But low ragweed abounds in Japan, and Japan is free from hay-fever. Even European and American sufferers from hay-fever do not suffer from it in Japan, it is claimed. Mr. Saburo Katsura, a Japanese scientist engaged in study and research on this continent, who is authority for the above, says he has known of only one Japanese sufferer from hay-fever. She was a woman scientist who became sensitized to poplar pollen during a sojourn in England. After her return to Japan she became subject to attacks every spring. When a poplar tree in the neighborhood was cut down, the attacks ceased.

POPLARS AND HAY-FEVER

A curious thing about the ragweed in Japan is that when some of the flowers were sent from Japan to Dr. R. P. Wodehouse, leading American authority on hay-fever, the pollen produced typical hay-fever reaction in sensitive persons. Has our native poplar anything to do with rendering people susceptible to the ragweed pollen?

"Firing" a locomotive is arduous, tiring work. But railway firemen on Canadian roads won't hear with delight that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has perfected a mechanical stoker. Fifty-two of its locomotives are being fitted with the new type mechanical stoker. It feeds fuel into the front of the firebox instead of the back as all other mechanical stokers do. Economy in fuel is claimed for the "front-end stoker." If the world was run with a glimmering of good sense, each new invention that enables machinery and extraneous power to do hard and dirty work previously done by man power, would be welcomed by all. As it is, each new labor-saving invention puts more men on relief. The only thing modern civilization seems to need men for is to kill one another. Twelve million men in the Christian countries are now employed at war, and more are needed.

WILL FIREMEN BE "FIRED" TOO?

Best tribute to the character of the British nation at war comes from an American newspaper correspondent in London. He writes that the thing which most impresses him in childless London is the absence of hate by the British for their German enemies. He says there is an "exaggerated kindliness" evident in the efforts of the English to carry on a "hateless war." On the first Sabbath of the war, he heard Canon Elliott at Westminster Abbey pray for the German people. That was England's answer to the hymn of hate chanted across the Rhine by Field Marshal Goering. The congregation was urged not to give way to unreasoning hatred of the German people. This while worshippers placed their gas masks under their seats, and sent their children to the country for safety from air terrorists.

BRITAIN IN A "HATELESS" WAR

Even the police at Bow Street, where many Germans and Austrians must go to register as alien enemies, show the same spirit of kindliness. Many of the registrants are very bitter against the Nazi regime, and terribly worried about their own futures. The police, says this correspondent, "spend lots of time comforting and advising them."

Those romanticists who treasure an added affection for the Duke of Windsor because he gave up the throne of England for the woman he loved, will rejoice that he is now back in England, and taking part in the work of defence of the realm. His three years of exile are ended. I can't help but wonder whether the abdication of Edward wasn't a factor in Hitler's decision to seize Poland. Von Ribbentrop, who basked in the Cliveden and Mrs. Warfield sets, has been fervid in his assurances that England is an effete country whose wealthy men and princes would never sanction engaging in war for the defence of moral rights. One can almost head his arguing "What kind of a country is it whose king will give up his throne for the sake of possessing a multiple divorcee?" Hitler may well have believed that Edward's abdication would divide the nation. All through his Polish campaign he believed that England was only going through the motions of protest, and would enter on a peace once the conquest of Poland was accomplished.

WINDSOR AND HITLER

If that was his line of reasoning, Hitler must have suffered a shock when Winston Churchill, one of the most passionate of supporters of Edward in the constitutional crisis, became head of the British Navy in wartime—the same office he held at the outbreak of war in 1914.

THE GREAT UNFAIRNESS

Something primitive within me rose in protest whenever I watched the bombing planes soaring over Palestine. I have the same feeling as I read of the dastardly Japanese bombings in China. "It is not fair!" my spirit cries, as I consider how defenseless patriots are destroyed from the air, by machinery such as only rich and powerful nations can possess.

This cruel unfairness is part of the inequities of life, which strain our faith in an Almighty God. How can He tolerate such injustice?

We are thrown back upon our deepest conviction, that His ways are always good, even though they need for their working out a period longer than our reckoning. In His own fashion and in His own time, God will establish justice and brotherhood amongst men.

Our hearts cry out, "How long, O Lord, how long?" as we behold the evil in the world. Yet we know that even our thin and transitory concern is one evidence that Thou art moving upon the hearts of men. Amen.

Current Comment

Overseas Or At Home?

Whoever read the statement of the Minister of Defence must have noticed that the announcement of the formation of two military divisions for the purpose of overseas service was in the last place. This means that the sending of a Canadian expeditionary corps to Europe is neither the principal care nor the most immediate preoccupation of the Canadian government and that of Great Britain, even if certain newspapers have wished to convey the contrary impression. . . . It is our economic participation which is of the utmost importance to the Allies, together with the measures which the government is taking for the protection of our territory. . . . Voluntary militia recruiting has up to the present placed 50,000 men under arms, that is to say, more than will be required to make up two army divisions. These soldiers were not enrolled in the first place for overseas service, but they may become so voluntarily, since the government has decided to put two divisions in the field (approximately 32,000 men), who may be sent successively to Europe if and when required. How many men among these 50,000 soldiers, at present in arms, will desire to engage themselves for overseas service? We shall probably know within a few weeks.—Le Canada, Montreal.

He Thinks He Is a God

The able Associated Press correspondent at Berlin, Louis P. Lochner, gives us a curious picture of Hitler making history. "In the most critical moments," he says, "Hitler locks himself in his room and sees no one." He gave two hours of "solitary meditation" to a British note this week—and, as we know, came to the wrong answer. Secluded in the Chancellery for days, he never made himself visible to the crowds that stood "silently, almost pathetically," in front of the building. Had he looked out he might have found evidence that war was not a popular idea among the German people. But Hitler, this tinsel god, wrapped in his own vision of his greatness, kept to his meditation, shut himself away even from his generals, his intimates, his closest advisers.

It is a great tragedy that events should have put the world's peace in the keeping of a man so clearly unbalanced, so definitely a mental case. Imagine Chamberlain, or Daladier, or Roosevelt, speaking to parliament as Hitler shrieked Friday morning to his tame Reichstag:

> "From now on I belong to my people as never before, and beginning today I am the first soldier of the German Reich. If I am willing to sacrifice my life then my people should be willing to sacrifice their lives for their country. . . . There will be no sacrifice made in Germany which I myself will not share."

It may come to the German people that there would be a singular appropriateness in the spectacle of Hitler as a war casualty, that no one after all has a greater claim to that distinction than the man who started the trouble.—Ottawa Journal.

The Separationists

What may be observed with greater profit is the fate of the Slovaks, now submerged in the greater Germany. In the Czecho-Slovakian Republic, they enjoyed equal rights with the Czechs, they had the free use of their language, participated in the government and were eligible to all public offices—it was a Slovak, Milan Hodza, who was president of Czecho-Slovakia at the time of the Munich crisis.

But all this was of no account to the ardent separationists who dreamt only of "an independent Slovak State on this side of the Carpathians." . . . They did not consider that in creating this famous state of theirs they were bringing into being a national anomally, geographically illogical, tiny and poor, unable to defend against the first attack that independence to which they were sacrificing tangible realities. . . . Born in March of fanaticism and treachery, Slovakia is no more. In a common subjection to the German oppressor, the Slovaks have rejoined those Czechs from whom they were so eager to dissociate their destiny. Irony or justice?

May this example cause profound thought on the part of our local separationists, some of whom would not hesitate, with the aid of Italian, German or Japanese funds, to overthrow our country, our great magnificent Canada, which reaches from one ocean to the other, in order to establish "on the banks of the Saint Lawrence an independent French State." It is true that our geographical position is infinitely more favorable, as we would have as our immediate neighbor the mighty and peaceable United States.

It is also true that Abbe Groulx would reject the role of an Abbe Tiso, and that he is the only leader embodying all the wistful nationalistic fancies which breed in our province.

However, the fact that we have not to fear the disaster which wiped out short-lived Slovakia, should not blind us to all the unpredictable dislocations of our economic and political life which would be occasioned by attempts of a few brainless persons—and a few traitors subsidized by foreign powers—to establish a "Laurentia."

And it must not be forgotten that we are not beyond the cruising range of Germany's bombing planes!—Le Jour, Montreal.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Thirty-five years ago today, on Sept. 30, 1904, newspaper readers learned that the previous evening the ninth parliament of Canada had been dissolved, with elections set for Nov. 3. It was Sir Wilfrid Laurier's second appeal to the country as prime minister, and it proved that he had the confidence of a great majority of the people.

The Conservatives elected only 75 members, losing really only three seats, but Nova Scotia voted solidly Liberal, and Mr. Borden was himself defeated in Halifax. It was a sad prospect. Many thought that Borden was done for, yet within seven years he had led his party to victory and was prime minister of Canada.

Dot—So Old Gotrock's check bounced back, eh?

Dolly—Yeah, it was marked "insufficient fun."

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

The normal blood pressure in the adult ranges between 120 and 130. When the blood pressure drops much below these figures, it is considered too low and the patient is told he has arterial hypotension.

Curiously enough, high blood pressure is often more easily reduced than low blood pressure is raised; that is, it may be easier to bring the high blood pressure down 10 points than it is to raise low blood pressure 10 points.

As a general rule, low blood pressure is a symptom which may be corrected, and the patient notes such an increase in strength and well being after this is accomplished that he is satisfied the effort expended in raising the pressure is well worth while.

Many conditions may cause low blood pressure. For example, it may be due to a flabby, relaxed tone of the blood vessel walls, or to exhaustion of the vital powers by incorrect diet, or by wasting of nervous energy. It is usually found in those who obtain little exercise, and in whom the muscles all over the body are under-developed.

In many cases in which the pressure is low over a period of time the patient may not suspect that this is the reason for many of his symptoms. Some of the usual symptoms are: headache, a tired feeling, inability to concentrate, and perhaps numbness of the hands and feet.

The one symptom most commonly found among patients with low blood pressure is early fatigue. If you suffer from any of the symptoms I have mentioned, I suggest that you have the blood pressure tested to find out if it is low in your case. If so, I suggest that you begin immediately to overcome this condition. You will in all probability find that you enjoy a great increase in energy as soon as the blood pressure climbs to normal.

The patient with low blood pressure does not stand up well under strain and may find that stress will cause aches and pains in various ports of the body. Such annoying symptoms are dizziness, rapid beating of the heart, and discomfort after eating, may appear.

There are many cases on record in which patients with low blood pressure have been able to maintain a fair state of health, providing they were under no strain. However, I believe that even in these cases, the patients would have benefited by a determined effort to raise the blood pressure, and after doing so would have found that they had gained in strength and vitality.

When you wish information regarding some general rules to follow in relieving low blood pressure, I suggest that you send for my article along this line. Forward your request to me and please enclose one large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way to Health," gives you the mechanics of health in plain, easily understandable language.

A limited supply is on hand at The Bulletin. A copy will be mailed postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Just address The Bulletin.

If it is desired to communicate direct with Dr. McCoy, readers are requested to address communication direct to Dr. Frank McCoy, 689 South Ardmore Ave., Los Angeles, California, and replies will be mailed direct from that address.

Sunshine Shafts

"May I use your telephone?"

"Certainly! Is yours out of order?"

"Not exactly, but sister is using it to hold up a window, Ma's cutting biscuits with the mouthpiece, and baby is teething on the cord."

There is no greater isolation than life in a city. The Larry Weingartens, living next door, were gone to Europe a month before we discovered it by receiving a post card from Switzerland. Greeted their return through the fence the other day, only to learn that they had been back a month!

"Good marrams, sayd he, as he put into bierhiven, as he made straks for that oerasound the snarsty weg for ublin, so was his horenpipe lug in the lee of their mouth organs, with his tilt too slaunt for his tammy all a slaunter and his wigger on a wagger with its tag tucked up . . . Clown, toft, tyed hug fliorten."

Do not be alarmed—it is only one of the more lucid passages from Mr. James Joyce's new book.

THE EDMONTON BULLETIN

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

Official opening of the 1939-1940 musical season will take place at the Empire theatre next Friday, Oct. 6, when the Women's Musical Club initiates its Celebrity Concert Series. The opening concert will be given by Hertha Glatz, contralto.

John Oliver

Although this series is opening earlier than usual interest is equally intense, if not more so than heretofore. Main reason for this early opening is the fact that Miss Glatz has made commitments to appear at the San Francisco opera season and in several productions, will sing opposite Kirsten Flagstad, leading Wagnerian soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. This will be Miss Glatz's first appearance in this city and although she still has to make her mark here, she comes with an enviable reputation established in Europe and the United States.

Miss Glatz was born in Vienna, once the gayest and most musical of European capitals until the iron heel and mailed fist of Hitlerism sent most of its leading artists to seek a haven elsewhere. Miss Glatz studied at the State Academy of Music in Vienna. At 18 she was engaged at the Breslau state opera for two years. Later she devoted her attention to concert and oratorio work, appearing in many leading European cities. In 1937 she sang for the British Broadcasting Corporation and at the Contemporary Music Festival in Paris in 1937. Also, she was invited to appear in the famous Mozart Festival at Glyndebourne, England.

She made her American debut in 1937 as soloist with the Los Angles Symphony Orchestra under Otto Klemperer, singing the contralto assignments in Bach's St. John Passion and Gustav Mahler's Das Lied von der Erde. Her success was complete. A year later she toured the U.S and later this country as leading contralto with the Salzburg International Opera Guild. She sang the title role in Carmen last season with the Chicago City Opera Company, with which organization she also sang Brangaene and Fricka opposite Mme. Flagstad. She has also appeared with the St. Louis Opera Company. In the current season she will again appear in St. Louis and Chicago as well as in San Francisco.

A glance at Miss Glatz's program is sufficient to insure a beneficial evening. It is given herewith and it will require only a hasty survey to convince one of its merit. Here it is:

Il mio bel foco (Marcello); Chi vuol la zingarella (Paisiello); Lasciatemi morire (Monteverdi); Danza, Danza (Durante).

My Heart Ever Faithful (Bach); Dido's Lament from "Aeneas and Dido" (Purcell) Cherry Ripe (Horn); May-Day Carol (Old English), (arr. by Deems Taylor).

Mon coeur s'ouvre a ta voix (Aria from "Samson and Delilah"), (Saint-Saens); Intermission.

Chanson triste (Duparc); Le moulin (Pierne); Velvet Shoes (Randall Thompson); Love Went a-Riding (Frank Bridge).

Nebbie (Resp'ghi); Hopak (Moussorgsky); Habanera from "Carmen" (Bizet).

Anna Moncrieff at the piano.

Entrance of this country into the European war has made no difference to the concert activities arranged for the current season, so far as can be learned. When official declaration of war was made on Germany, several New York managers wired their Canadian representatives and voluntarily offered to cancel concerts already arranged. Lily Pons' managers made such offers to Quebec, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver, but in all cases the Canadians replied that they proposed to go through with the concerts, all of which is most encouraging and insures that every effort will be made to "pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile."

Regular recitals in the seasonal program of the Women's Musical Club promise much that is attractive and considerable that is new. The season will open on Saturday, Oct. 14 with a recital by Clement Q. Williams, baritone, of Vancouver, who will be accompanied at the piano by Enid Conley. Well known as a contributor to CBC programs from the coast city, Mr. Williams already has built up a considerable following here. This opening recital will be followed by a reception. Other programs, with dates, are as follows: Nov. 4, Miscellaneous program; Nov. 18, Women Composers; Dec. 2, Hammond organ recital; Jan. 20, guest recital, Miss Mary Munn, blind pianist of Montreal; Feb. 3, Students' program; Feb. 17, Bach program; March 2, Choral Music; March 16, Music of the Spring; and April 6, annual meeting and tea. Owing to the popularity of the two artists on the opening program, the club will depart from its usual custom on this occasion and will admit the public.

One of the busiest of the city's residents these days is Mrs. Ernest Meaden, president of the Musical club and manager of the Celebrity Series. In spite of the hurry and bustle attendant upon her dual duties, she maintains her good nature and good humor at all times. And that is a great achievement.

Mrs. James B. Carmichael, general music director of the Edmonton Civic Opera Society, announces that rehearsals for the presentation of Carmen are progressing favorably. Both the orchestra and the cast are busily engaged in preparation for the production, which will take place in November. The ladies' chorus is reported specially far advanced, this section of the organization no doubt having more time to spend in practice than the hard-working male section. Few operas enjoy popularity approaching that of Carmen. The tragic story of love and passion and the dazzling score provided by the lamented George Bizet combine to make this opera a gem the brillance of which will never fade.

Joe Rocks, one of the pillars of the tenor section of the Civic Opera society, is one of the latest musicians to join the army. He enlisted with the Edmonton regiment, where no doubt, his silvery notes will be greatly appreciated by the troops, especially in those barrack room entertainments that will prove a feature of the training period. In the days when this city's musicians wehe heard on CBC programs—it seems a long time ago now—Mr. Rocks was frequently heard. He sang a leading role in the Civic Opera society's presentation of Martha and was a member of First Presbyterian church choir. He also sang with the Canadian Legion concert party last year.

Stan Sheddon, whose efforts with the returned men's orchestra have been extensive, has been appointed bandmaster of the band which the Edmonton regiment is now recruiting. This organization will be 24 strong and will be separate and distinct from the Edmonton regiment 49th Batt. C.E.F. band which has been carrying on since the last war. The latter band will continue to do duty in garrison activities.

* * *

Mr. Sheddon and his orchestra have been generous and unstinted in their playing for returned men. They have generously contributed to programs given on behalf of The Bulletin Not Forgotten Fund over CFRN during the Christmas season and they have always been ready to help the returned boys where and when possible. The best wishes of the musical fraternity go out to Mr. Sheddon in his new calling and with these wishes go the hope and expectation that his band will maintain the high standard set by the 49th Batt. band under the late J. B. Daly and carried on splendidly since the last war by Frank G. Aldridge.

Incidentally it is with regret that news comes to hand that Mr. Aldridge has been unwell lately and has been confined to the University hospital. It is understood that he has received medical advice that he must curtail his activities and that he might even have to relinquish his leadership of the band of the Edmonton regiment of the non-permanent active militia band. If this is so it is to be greatly regretted.

* * *

Mr. Aldridge is a sound, well-trained musician. His work, not only with the 49th Batt. band but with the now defunct Newsboys' band of pleasant memory, formed a valuable contribution to this city's musical life. It is with pleasure that this writer recalls some associations with Mr. Aldridge. The first time this writer saw him was at a performance by the "Dumbells," the world famous concert party of the 3rd Canadian Division, "Somewhere in France." Mr. Aldridge was playing clarinet with the band of the Royal Canadian regiment, which was in the "pit" providing the music for the Dumbells' show. After the war Mr. Aldridge settled here.

Sir Ernest MacMillan, principal of the Toronto Conservatory of Music and conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra hopes "there will be no silly talk of cutting German music from our programs. That is the sort of thing we are fighting Nazidom for," he said. "Such men as Beethoven, Bach, Mozart and other great composers wrote their music for the world, not for Germany and much less for the present Nazi regime."

* * *

The world is not likely to banish German music from its programs. One cannot associate the Germany of Hitler, Goering, Goebels, Himmler and others of their ilk, with the Germany of Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Mozart, Schumann and others who contributed to their country's culture. Germany has changed beyond recognition, but the music of these masters survives even Hitlerism. Hitler fancies himself as a great patron of the mighty Wagner, but in view of the purge of Jews by the Nazi regime, one is forced to wonder whether Hitler's admiration of the Bayreuth master would be as great if Wagner's paternity were settled beyond dispute and if it was determined that his father was Ludwig Geyer, the Jewish actor.

Richard Strauss, mightiest of modern German composers, enjoys Hitler's favor. Die Fuehrer, like the rest of the world, has a great admiration for the music of Franz Lehar, the greatest of all light opera composers and the man whom Victor Herbert described as "the undisputed king of us all." Lehar's enduring operetta The Merry Widow is Hitler's favorite. The best of German music will be heard long after Hitlerism is a thing of the past and the music of the masters need have no fear of being discriminated against on account of such a man.

Chinese Boy Is Selected Dalai Lama

CHUNGKING, Sept. 30.—Chinese press dispatches Thursday reported China's candidate—a five-year-old boy—had been accepted in a secret council at Lhasa as the next Dalai Lama, political pontiff of Tibet.

The last Dalai Lama died Dec. 17, 1933. Tibetan Buddhists believe the pontiff's spirit is reincarnated in a baby boy born at the moment of the Dalai Lama's death.

Long search for such a baby this time yielded three children, one of them from Kokenor, in innermost China.

With a caravan of armed guards this lad ended Wednesday a 1,000-mile journey to Tibet, which China still claims as a nominal dependency though it is under strong British influence.

Regent Je Chen welcomed the boy ceremoniously and Chinese dispatches indicated he had been designated the Dalai Lama's "reincarnation."

Improvement Loan

OTTAWA, Sept. 30. — Hon. J. L. Ralston, finance minister, announced today that home improvement loans made to Aug. 31 in towns and cities with populations of 5,000 or more, numbered 60,861 and amounted to $25,803,044.

D. Hanna holds the Mountgarret trophy awarded to the most proficient first aid team captain in the Dominion. Left to right they are, William Reynolds, coach and veteran first aid attendant at the Weston C.P.R. Shops, and recently made a Serving Brother in the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem; J. Kowlaski, W. Astbury, D. Hanna, A. C. Piggott and H. Nicholson.

Belief Hitler Would Attack U.S. If Winner

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. — Belief that Chancellor Hitler would start war against the United States if Germany defeats France and Great Britain is held by a majority of those who voted in a survey conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion, according to Dr. George Gallup, director, who announced the results Thursday.

The survey said:

"The issue put to voters throughout the country was:

" 'If Germany should defeat England, France and Poland in the present war, do you think Germany would start a war against the United States sooner or later?' "

YES—63 per cent.

NO—30 per cent.

"Only a small group of voters (seven per cent) had no opinion on the question."

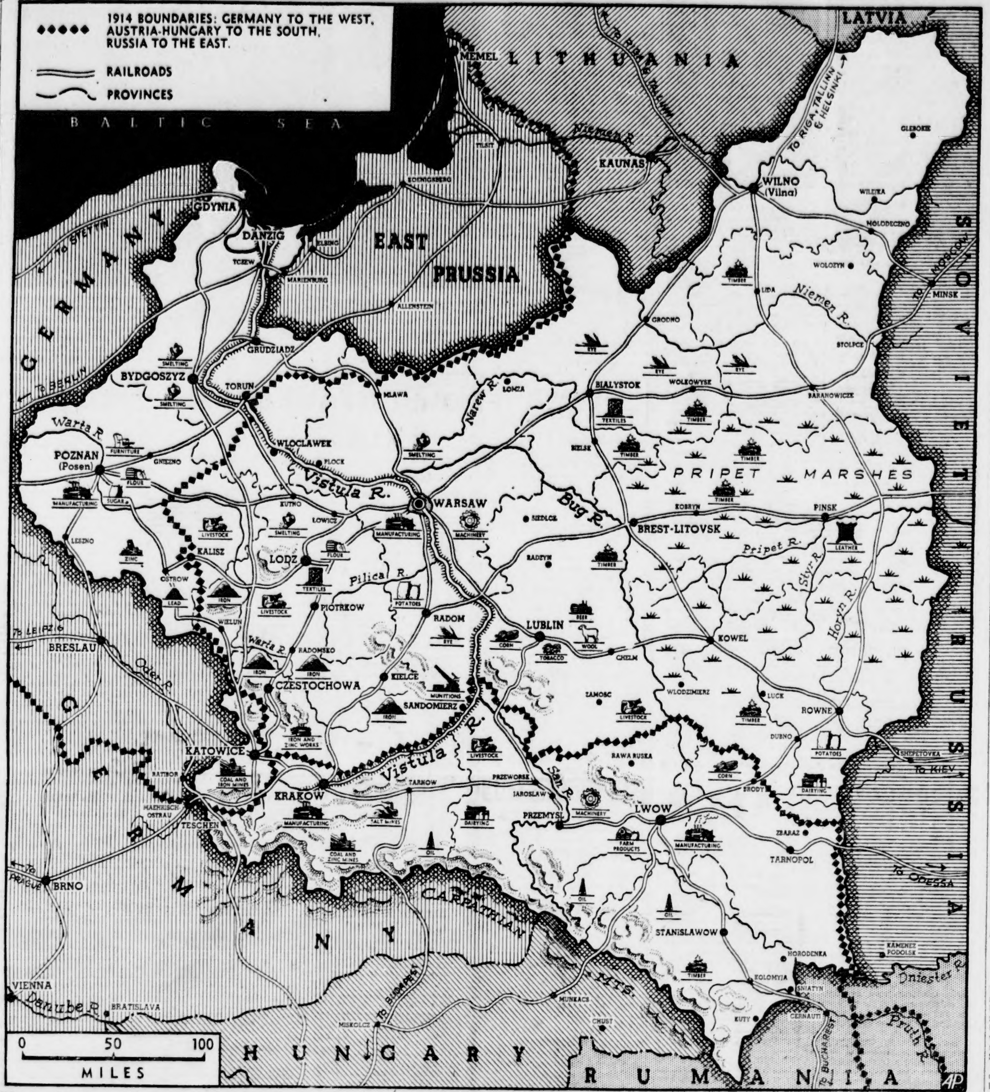
Here's How POLAND Was Conquered—And What Germany And Russia Gain



By The AP Feature Service

GERMANY'S successful war against Poland gives her the prestige that comes from quick victory and the regaining of lost territory. That's important to German morale.

More important in the long run may be Poland's raw materials and industries, shown on the map, for these strengthen her staying-power for war in the West.

Before the war in the East was two weeks old—

German army engineers were reported introducing high-pressure production methods in Polish oil fields (1937 production, 3,700,000 barrels, thirteenth in world).

Field Marshal Goering was boasting that Polish munitions factories were turning out bombs for German planes.

Coal, Iron—And Food

Besides oil, Poland has good deposits of coal (last year's anthracite production, 45,000,000 tons), iron (annual steel production, 2,000,000 tons), zinc, and lead.

Sixty per cent of Poland's people are farmers. The country has been the world's second largest producer of flax, the fifth largest of oats. From it comes about one-seventh of the world's rye and potatoes. It ranks as one of Europe's first five exporters of timber and producers of pigs.

Statistics like these may be vitally important to blockaded Germany, already on food rations, no matter how the conquered territory is finally split up.

As For Russia

What good Russia's booty will be to her is not so clear. First unofficial reports said she would take Polish White Russia and the Polish Ukraine (see minorities map, at bottom). Huge Russia has little need of that section's products, and she hasn't been considered anxious to regain war-lost territory—note how far west her boundary extended before the World war.

But she's a lot closer to her new-found friend, Germany, which may or may not be something to crow about in the long run.

Lightning War

Military men say the conquest of Poland depended for success largely on the rapid and surprising movement of a main force across the southern section (see map, "How Poland Was Taken"), while a secondary attack through the Corridor was leading Poles to make their main defense there.

Trained German forces in action are supposed to have numbered 60 divisions (10,000 to 12,000 men each), against 40 Polish divisions.

The Germans concentrated half their divisions for the main attack. At each point, half the attacking force was sent into action, and half held in reserve. At intervals, the reserve forces were shoved in so that fresh troops were always at the spearhead of attack, except for the leading mechanized divisions, which merely received replacements

The attackers followed river valleys, railroads, and highways. The main force outflanked the Poles and got on the eastern bank of all the important rivers. So the Poles, who had hoped to establish defense lines back of those rivers, were lost.

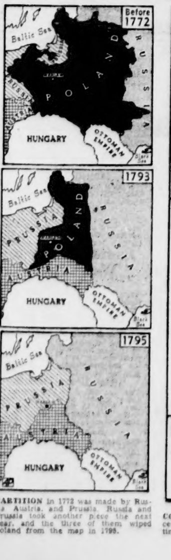
Partitioning Poland Is Just Another Old European Custom



PARTITION in 1772 was made by Russia Austria, and Prussia. Russia and Prussia took another piece the next year, and the three of them wiped Poland from the map in 1795.

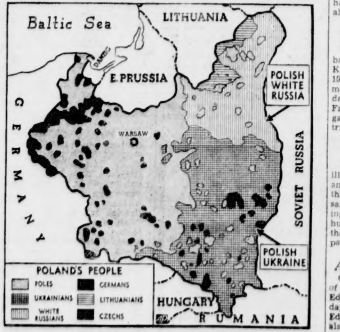
CONQUEST OF POLAND, as military experts chart it, required 18 days, ending when Lwow, major southeastern center, was surrounded. Holding forces helped mop up in second stage. Last important stage, though armies continued advance, came when Germans surrounded defensive positions, as at Warsaw and Lwow.



POLAND'S POPULATION is about 35,000,000—six times that of California, occupying an area not quite as large. As the map shows, it is made up of a number of racial groups. The Poles, constituting about 70 per cent. of the population, are strongest in the central section, where Germany and Russia were reported ready to set up a Polish buffer state. When Russia marched in, she said she was doing so to protect the White Russians and Ukrainians (two divisions of the Slavs) living in Poland just across the border from the Soviet republics of White Russia and the Ukraine. Estimates of these Russians in Poland range from 6,500,000 to 11,000,000. Probably two-thirds of them are Ukrainians. They live in sections the Polish army took from Russia after the World War had ended and Poland had been put back on the map for the first time since 1795. The minorities also include several million Jews and a million or so Germans. Alleged persecution of these Germans was one of Hitler's reasons for attacking Poland. Most of the Germans live in the Corridor area that gave Poland an outlet to the Baltic Sea. The map shows clearly that no matter how Poland is split up, every section will have a minority problem

80 PER CENT. FIRE LOSSES INEXCUSABLE

October 8 To 14 Is Fire Prevention Week—Warning Given

Eighty per cent of Canada's fires and fire losses are caused through "inexcusable ignorance or neglect," according to the Dominion government order-in-council which this year sets aside the week October 8 to 14 as Fire Prevention Week.

As a protective and educational move the suggestion is made that the following program be carried out across Canada during Fire Prevention Week in the period named:

INSPECT DWELLINGS

1—All dwellings and their surroundings be carefully inspected by their occupants and all conditions likely to cause or promote the spread of fires removed, including: (a) defective stoves, furnaces, pipes and chimneys; (b) improperly installed electrical cords and appliances; (c) inflammable rubbish in attic, basement and closets; (d) gasoline or other dangerous volatile liquids used for cleaning purposes in the home; (e) the careless disposal of cigarette and cigar stubs and ashes from pipes; (f) ashes in wooden boxes instead of in proper metal containers; (g) the practice of allowing small children to play with matches.

2—All public buildings, stores, warehouses and factories be inspected and cleaned of rubbish in order to reduce fire hazards and maintain health and safety.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

3—All hotels, theatres, asylums, hospitals and other institutional buildings be inspected and provision made for all changes necessary to protect the occupants from danger in the event of fire.

4—Fire drills be held for the children in all schools, for the inmates of all institutions and for the employees in all large stores and factories in order that a greater degree of safety may be ensured by acquainting the occupants with the best and most expeditious mode of exit in time of danger.

5—Special instruction on the subject of fire prevention be given by the teachers and by municipal officials in the schools and that such appropriate literature as may be made available be distributed to the pupils.

BOY SCOUTS AID

6—Boy Scout leaders give instructions to the troops under their control as to the best means of cooperating with municipal fire departments in the prevention and extinguishment of fires and especially as to the desirability of qualifying for the Fireman's Badge.

7—All legislation and regulations enacted or issued by Dominion, provincial or municipal authorities dealing with fire prevention be given publicity by the municipal officials and that by public meetings or otherwise as may to them seem most fit, they endeavor to impress upon the citizens the national importance of safeguarding life and property from loss by fire, and particularly the safeguarding of the lives of small children from fire.

Edelweiss Club Is Offered For Red Cross Work

Deutcher Club Edelweiss, at 9663 101A avenue, owned by the German-Canadian organization, has been offered for a Red Cross depot for wartime work, it is announced by Robert Muir, chairman of men's war-work committees in the Edmonton branch of the Red Cross Society.

At the opening of the present war, club officials valuntarily closed the building, and it has been shut down ever since.

"No decision has been reached regarding the payment of taxes on the building," stated Mr. Muir. "We have one other offer which we are also considering."

Talk By Griesbach

Major-General Hon. W. A. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., K.C., will address officers of the 19th Alberta Dragoons at dinner in mess at Connaught armories, Saturday at 7:30 p.m. it was announced Friday. Several officers from Calgary headquarters of Military District No. 13 will attend.

Three Sons Safe

Believed to have been lost on the ill-fated Athenia, three sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Bihun, farming in the Star district near Lamont, are safe in Glasgow, Scotland, according to a cable received by Mr. Bihun, stated N. M. Ostry, manager of the Dominion Colonization company here.

Apples Are Arriving

One hundred and eighty carloads of British Columbia apples reached Edmonton over the C.N.R. Thursday night. Besides the deliveries for Edmonton buyers, shipments were also distributed to the Peace River country, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Disease Increases

All cases of communicable diseases show a slight increase this week, compared with last week, according to a report by the city board of health. Scarlet fever had five cases, against one the week before; chickenpox nine against two, and whooping cough 32 against 28.

Chamber To Meet

Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce is holding its annual meeting October 5, it was announced Friday. Venue will be selected later. Nominations for annual elections have begun.

GREAT BOOKS IN BRIEF

By ELIZABETH COATESWORTH JAMES

"THE RIVALS"

By RICHARD SHERIDAN

Copyright By Houghton, Mifflin Co.

Captain Jack Absolute, alias Ensign Beverly, had reason indeed to feel inconvenienced. Already complicated enough, his plans were now jeopardized by his father's coming to Bath to treat his gout.

This ticklish situation of Captain Absolute, alias Beverly, was caused mainly by the romantic notions of Miss Lydia Languish, the young lady of his affections. Only seventeen years old, Miss Lydia felt that any romantic lover would elope with her that very week, instead of waiting a month or two until her eighteenth birthday when she would come into a large fortune. If a man were not ardent enough to forego her money, he was not worth having.

Captain Absolute, alias Beverly, had a regard for property somewhat different from Lydia's; hence he hoped to woo her under his false identity, stalling for marriage, and with luck, arrange to have Lydia and the fortune also.

But now with Sir Anthony Absolute at Bath, the situation looked dark.

To disturb Captain Absolute's life further, two other suitors for Miss Languish appeared at Bath. One of them, named Acres, had won the good will of Mrs. Malaprop, Miss Lydia's guardian. The second suitor was Sir Lucius Trigger, whose wooing had been side-tracked, without Sir Lucius' knowledge of course. Despite Sir Lucius' sixty years, he had bestirred himself admirably when he had heard of Miss Lydia's fortune. That gentle man was situated for a surprise.

Captain Jack, alias Beverly, had angered everyone involved in his love affair.

In this mood of disappointment and anger, he received challenges to fight two duels. The suitor Acres had decided that his honor was touched by this Ensign Beverly; Sir Lucius Trigger felt himself outwitted when he heard that Miss Lydia was betrothed to one Captain Absolute.

In a fighting mood, Captain Jack went to the King's Mead Hall, where he was prepared to fight two men.

Not knowing about a settlement, Miss Lydia arrived with tears and pleas for forgiveness. Mrs. Malaprop admitted to Sir Lucius that she was willing to be wooed. The play ends with a romantic flourish, although Miss Lydia gave up her elopement with regret.

CANADIANS TOLD TO TAKE LONG VIEW OF WAR

TORONTO, Sept. 30. — The present war must be regarded as "an inexorable force, as relentless as the force of justice itself, and as certain to prevail," Sir Gerald Campbell, high commissioner to Canada for the United Kingdom, told the closing banquet of the 41st annual convention of the American Hospital Association here last night.

Sir Gerald urged the gathering to remember that the British Empire and France were fighting "so that tyranny shall itself disappear from the face of the earth and so that no free country, small or great, shall be forced to live in terror of it any more."

The high commissioner exhorted Canadians to take a long view of the war and not be impatient at the lack of "fireworks" thus far.

He added he did not think there would be any internal uprising in Germany because of the triumph in Poland.

British - Made Bombing Planes Sent To Rumania

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The ministry of information said last night that "it is learned in official circles here that 14 Blenheim (British-made) bombers have recently been flown from England to Rumania by Rumanian pilots."

Women Studying Auto Mechanics

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—With the intention of becoming ambulance drivers, many Ottawa women are seeking training in automobile mechanics, it was disclosed Thursday. More than 30 women have already applied for the course at the Ottawa technical school night classes.

CITY MUSHER IS EN ROUTE WEST WITH DOG TEAM

LETHBRIDGE, Sept. 30.—Eugene Muller, 49, of Edmonton, brought northern travel to south Alberta as he mushed his way into Lethbridge after travelling nearly 10,000 miles with his dog team. He stopped off here Thursday on his way to Vancouver, which he expects to reach in about two months.

Muller left Edmonton May 6, 1933 and since then his two dogs—one a half coyote and the other a half German police dog—have drawn his long wooden cart to Halifax and back into Alberta. Muller is making the trip to determine the endurance of dogs and their ability on roads.

He will return to Edmonton from the Pacific.

Fall Drought Threatens U.S. Crop Of Wheat

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. — A fall drought which has overspread the farm belt threatened today the first United States "war crop" of wheat since 1918.

Days without rain or with only scattered showers have created the worst fall drought in years for some sections, a survey showed.

The drought has delayed soil preparation and wheat planting well beyond normal dates. Wheat farmers in the southwest drilled seed into the dust and hastened to apply for federal crop insurance.

In sections already sown to wheat the drought has prevented or retarded germination. Young plants have been killed off before their roots could tap sub-soil moisture reserves, dangerously low in some regions.

Some of the largest and hungriest species of mosquitoes are found in the Arctic.

C.I.O. Union Wins By Wide Majority In Auto Industry

DETROIT, Sept. 30. — The Congress of Industrial Organization's United Automobile Workers, campaigning for exclusive bargaining rights in the auto industry, won its third major triumph by being returned the victor last night in 10 of 13 plants in the huge Chrysler Corporation poll.

Only in one instance—at Evansville, Ind., did the rival American Federation of Labor emerge ahead in results announced by the national labor relations board, and in all but one of its victories the C.I.O. majority was overwhelming.

Flying Boat Home

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Ministry of Information announced last night the return to England of a Royal Air Force flying boat which was forced down in Icelandic waters on Tuesday.

AMATEUR CAMERA ENTHUSIAST FREE TO EXPERIMENT

This week's story by Camfan concludes a series of 27 articles written by one of Edmonton's leading amateur photographers, Wilfred R. Settle, in which he has endeavored to give camera enthusiasts helpful hints on different phases of photography. We hope that you found the articles both instructive and interesting and that they have helped you to gain better results and greater satisfaction with your cameras.—The Editor.

By CAMFAN

An important advantage is held by the amateur photographer over his professional confrere in that the former works under no economic pressure; his experimentation can be carried on without fear of not pleasing some customer; the success of an experiment need not be measured in dollars and cents. The serious amateur has the world before him—all the accumulated knowledge of nearly a century of photographic research is available at the price mainly of patience. Optics, photoelectricity, photochemistry as well as the chemistry of dyes, photographic materials, gelatine, etc., are only a small part of the fields to which he may turn.

Vision is an interesting field to be explored from the standpoint of the physicist and optician or psychologically and physically with respect to illusions of size, positions, or color. The only common application is in stereo photography, a field popular two generations ago and now again coming to the fore. Any one can readily make his own stereoprints by taking pictures of still objects with the camera shifted 2½ inches before making the second exposure.

This gives two negatives which at first glance appear identical. Careful comparison will show that objects in the left negative have been displaced to the left. To see this clearly close the left eye and hold a pencil horizontally in front of the right so that the point is away from you and hidden behind the rubber tip. Without moving the head or the pencil, close the right eye and open the left. Note how much more of the pencil is now seen.

Due to the fact that our two eyes see slightly different pictures and there is only one brain to interpret these, we are able to see objects as solids. Applying this principle photographically we take two pictures almost identical but from points as far apart as our eyes and then try to see the two pictures as one—with depth—a stereogram!

COLOR

Although not widely advertised, Dufay has added a new emulsion to their line of color films which is ideal for winter work. For those less hardy souls who prefer an evening at table-top work and still lifes this film may be used with photofloods and without compensating filters, making it more convenient and "faster."

Color is of universal appeal so color photography will eventually get you if it has not yet. The making of paper prints is tedious, painstaking work and requires expensive imported materials. Why not grasp the homely truth that practise leads to perfection and put it in use. By working with Black and White as you will later be obliged to in color the twig will already be bent . . . for the tree to grow as you would have it!

Surrounded every day as we are by the marvels of modern science, glib talk of chemicals, optics and mathematics becomes second nature, but yet we often wonder at the excellence of the scientific maestros. Perhaps the reason lies in an unstudied application of one often overlooked—Psychology. It need not be studied from books, but is learned rather better at first hand by watching human nature. The successful print is "felt" rather than "formulated."

In the last 12 months have you not made at least three prints of which you are specially proud. Why not pool these to make an exhibition of the work of all local amateurs in some such place as the public library. To what extent would you support such an undertaking? Drop a card to Camfan, care of Edmonton Bulletin, giving us your reaction to this proposal. Your support would make it possible!

A Little Trouble

When very young Beryl Smith sailed from Southampton on the S.S. Ettrick, bound for a three-year-stay in China, she thought most of the fun in the trip was bound up in the life preserver and tropical helmet with which she was supplied. In the top picture she seems to be having some difficulty with the fit, but she comes up, smiling, below.

Fall And Winter Activities Of Boy Scout Groups Now Started

Slightly delayed by the present European crisis, which deleted leaders' ranks by several enlistments the District Boy Scout Association announces that Scout Troops, Cub Packs and Rover Crews have now swung into the customary crowded Scouting program. Registration of Scouts for community service is progressing rapidly and it is expected that a large number of older boys will pledge themselves in readiness for any local emergency.

Scouting officials are particularly pleased with the response which followed their call for ex-scouts and Rover Scouts to join the Edmonton militia and report that military officers are well satisfied with the Scout-trained recruit.

Meeting to prepare the new season's program of Wolf Cub activities, city Cubmaster and Old Wolf Council executives staged an initial meet last week and laid the necessary plans for the numerous events which will be scheduled for Pack participation during the winter months. With district Cub Commissioner F. S. Rowsell as chairman, more than 20 leading Cubbers expressed their approval of the regular report on membership which showed that the season 1939-40 will see 19 city packs in the registered activities made up of 600 younger boys.

Arrangements have been completed for the annual field day and picnic which will be held at Victoria park Saturday featuring every sort of athletic contest suitable for inter-pack competition as well as individual events. The rally will open with an official Grand Howl and Flag Break, followed by the athletic competitions and treasure hunts.

All Sixers, Senior Sixers and Acting Sixers are eligible to attend a special Sixers' conference that will be held from November 18 to 25 at Christ church parish hall. The course will train Sixers for their important job of leadership.

Date for the annual Old Wolf club council meeting has been set for Friday, Oct. 13.

Tragedy has dropped in again on a ship launching. When a British aircraft carrier was due to coast down the ways in Belfast, Ireland, it broke loose ahead of schedule, and a flying timber killed a spectator. Strange things have occurred at launchings. Ships have been known to slide down into the water and keep on going—to the bottom. And one lady christener hurled the traditional bottle of champagne at the ship's bow and scored a clean hit—on a bystander's head!

A 153-pound topaz, one of the biggest jewels in the world, has been added to the collection of the Smithsonian Institute in Washington. The topaz might aptly be called the "chameleon gem." A French jeweler, nearly two centuries ago, discovered that yellow Brazilian topaz, when heated, changes to pink. Consequently, practically all pink topaz worn as jewelry has been disguised by that method!

"Rubber checks" won't be bouncing around Butte, Mont., any more. The chief of police has inaugurated a chain phone call system to warn the town's business men when a forger is reported in town. The idea was born of the "chain letter" craze, which set the postoffice back on its heels a few years ago. Postoffices were flooded, some were 24 hours behind on deliveries, hundreds of new postal employees were hired, banks had to appeal to their federal reserve districts for more dimes. And it was all illegal!

"It's terrible," said Sinclair Lewis concerning his first book, but he had to pay $150 for a copy of it. Lewis didn't have a volume of the work, which was published under a pen name. A great number of books have been published under false names. If the work isn't successful, the public seldom discovers the identity of the author. If it's a hit, the writer usually loses little time revealing himself.

Dave Kushner Heads Young Judean Group

Dave Kushner has been elected president of the Intermediate Young Judeans' club, while Ben Dlin was named secretary-treasurer; Sarah Deitch, social convenor; Lea Lyman, educational chairman, and Ralph Allman, editor. Izzy Metkovitch will act as advisor of the organization and a successful cultural and social year is anticipated.

McDOUGALL COMMERCIAL

By Dorothy Robb

Sports activities got off to a grand start on Friday when Commercial held its own sports day. Excellent weather aided the participants in doing their best work. The winners of the various events are to represent Commercial in the annual inter-school field and track meet on October 4 and 6.

There were three divisions in both the girls' and boys' events, bantam, junior and senior. Winners in the girls' classes were: 100 yard dash, Gwen Riddle, Dorothy Quilley and Mabel Boyd; softball throw: D. Pfeifle, P. Keil, Kay MacRitchie; basketball free throw: Kay MacRitchie, Laura Strachan, Mary Zaborowsky; basketball field throw: Mary Zaborowsky, Laura Strachan.

Running broad jump Gwen Davis, D. Quilley, M. Boyd; running high jump: Isobel Parkin, C. Dowling, and tied, D. Gottschalk, J. McArthur.

In the boys' bantam section high scorers were: running broad jump: B. Batuik; running hop, step and jump: E. Dykes; shot put: B. Batuik; running high jump: E. Dykes; pole vault: B. Batuik; 100 yard dash, E. Dykes.

220 yard dash: C. Wright; 440 yard dash: C. Wright; mile race, E. Scott.

Running hop, step and jump: A. Beckett and S. Luckinuk; shot put: Z. Orzechowski; running high jump: N. Taylor; pole vault: A. Furman and J. Walker; 100 yard dash: N. Taylor; 220 yard dash; J. Lutsky; 440 yards: M. Keil; mile race: Norman Keil.

Senior division—Running broad jump P. Barber; running hop, step and jump: Bill McCurdy; shot put: J. Surivela; running high jump: B. McCurdy; 100 yard dash: P. Barber; 220 yard dash: J. Surivela; 440 yards: R. Morrison; mile race: R. Scott.

As yet a Students' Union has not been elected. Many students are looking forward to the occasion with great enthusiasm, but will have to wait until after the final track meet.

VICTORIA

By Ib. Nonnecke

The Victoria eliminations for the inter-school track meet next week were held Friday. There are a lot of good prospects in both girls' and boys' fields and Vic's hopes of victory are high. A new entry in the sports meet is basketball throws for the girls and there is quite an enthusiastic turn-out at the practices.

Bowling is also getting organized in boys' and girls' fields. Hopes are there will be many playing this year so as to have competition with other schools.

Capt. J. H. Towerton of the teaching staff left to serve his post in the army as training officer, over at the University. He is being replaced by J. R. Hunter, a former teacher of the staff. Vic is sorry to see Capt. Towerton leave as he was well liked both in classes and sports.

The "Vic Argosy," the school paper, held an organization meeting last Wednesday at 4 p.m. The elections and eliminations for the different offices will be held Monday.

EASTWOOD

By Wilma Van Deelen

As the first month of school draws to a close, students glance back and review the highlights in events. Opening day, first classes, new shiny books are now all part of a memory. And so we return to the present to observe that the campaign speeches for the Students' Union candidates were held in the gym on Friday. The nominees are divided into two portions:

Eastwood Democrats: President, Lorne Dunsworth; vice-president, Pat Brownlee; treasurer, Bob Wilson; secretary, Jean McPherson; girls' sport representative, Margaret Colville; boys' sport, Jack Quilley.

Eastwood Recorders: President, Bob Jackson; vice-president, Kay Bentley; treasurer, George Younie; secretary, Marcia Dunsworth; girls' sports, Joan Booker; boys' sports, Malcolm Gordon.

Elections are to be held on Monday.

The sports day, which was to have been held on Wednesday was postponed because of the weather, and no definite date has been set for it. However, it is expected to take place at the earliest possible time.

A new arrival on the teaching staff is Mr. Crockford, who specializes in science and physical training. Mr. Crockford previously spent three years at Garneau intermediate and eight years at Strathcona school. Interested in track and field events, he has himself held provincial championship at various times.

Speaking enthusiastically of the staff and students of Eastwood, Mr. Crockford states that he finds very commendable the way in which the students apply themselves equally well to both studies and sports. The teachers and pupils join in wishing him a very successful and enjoyable term.

WESTMOUNT

By Bert Nightingale

Roll out the red carpet, folks and people, and prepare to hear about Westmount's new Students' Union president—His Everlasting Cheerfulness Jock Bell! The new president has been a Westmount man for several years and is known around the campus as a good scout and a great guy. He's not the tallest president we've ever had, but he has a pleasing personality. Not that he's merely a glamor boy; he's a hard worker and has a lot of good ideas. Good luck, Jock, old boy!

The first meeting of the union took place Monday when Blanche Tiviotdale was made vice-president, Frances "Million-Dollar-Baby" Fraser, secretary (she recently won grand prize in a photoplay contest), and Willet Ritchie treasurer. The writer of this column was named editor of the school paper, "The Red, Grey and Black."

A get-together Lit and dance has been planned for next Thursday. It is said that the senior rugby team is making extensive plans for this event. 'Nuff said.

Many a dull, resounding thud was heard this week by people on the campus who were trying to work. It's this way: The old music-room is being violently torn apart preparatory to the construction of a new classroom. To coin a phrase, time marches on!

TECHNICAL

By Pat McMillan

With each passing day we find that more and more of our Tech boys have laid aside their pencils and books to take up a rifle and bayonet in the ranks of the Canadian army. Others of the Tech lads are sailing the ocean waves in the Canadian navy.

We want them all to know how sincerely proud we are of each and every one of them. We take our hats off to our Tech soldiers and sailors and here's all the luck in the world to you.

During the past few days the hustling and bustling about the school was in preparation for the Tech field day held on Thursday at Clarke stadium, with everyone primed up to the pitch ready to give their all, as the winners of these events will represent Tech at the inter-school sports to be held Oct. 4 and 6.

The Students' executive met with all the room representatives for the first time Tuesday noon and mapped out a program to be followed during the coming months which all sounds very promising.

We would like to welcome into the fold Tech's two new teachers, Mr. Gleddie and Mr. McLean who appeared in our halls for the first time last Monday. Our teachers at Tech are known for their popularity with the student body and by the look of things these two will be no exceptions, and so we say "Welcome" again, Mr. Gleddie and Mr. McLean and may you enjoy your associations with Tech.

STRATHCONA COMPOSITE

By Kay Banham

Election campaigns are over. But as we go to press the results are still "hanging in the balance." The candidates for president were Reesor Kaufman and Fred Simpson. For vice-president, Jean Barclay, Agnes Thorburn, Bill Thompson and Pat MacDonald were nominated.

In the field of battle for secretary we find Bernice Smith, Isobel Sinclair, Doris Stuart and Thelma Sutherland. Elected by acclamation for the position of treasurer is Ernie Towns from Commercial.

Four attractive students nominated for social convenor were Ruth Laurie, Frances Seagar, Margaret Gainer and Irene "Pinkie" Thompson. Now for literary convenor we have Beth Hallman and Harold Pearson, and may the best man win.

Vera Hughes and Phyllis Reece are both waiting to be elected as girls' sports representative. And last but not least we have Gordon McCannel and Jim Marshall as opponents for the position of boys' sports representative.

The weather last week put the damper on our sports day practices and eliminations. But in spite of this the South Side students will be out there with one thought in mind: "Bring home the bacon."

And now a word about rugby. The team has finally been chosen and from all observations they are the huskiest bunch of players that the South Side has ever produced. Of course, you know that the South Side still holds the honors for the provincial rugby championship, and incidentally, we mean to "hang on to it."

Painters In School Cause False Alarm

DALLAS, Ore., Sept. 30—Police were plagued to the point of voluble exasperation when scores of civic-minded citizens called headquarters to report "a man is climbing into the high school." Workmen were busy varnishing floors and the only exit and entrance to the building was through a back window in the second story by means of a ladder.

The frog-mouth, an Australian bird, sleeps during the day in an upright posture, thereby resembling a tree limb and making itself inconspicuous. The bark-colored feathers of the bird help to carry out the deception.

What A Wallop!

Johnny Revolta, Jr., 4-year-old son of the well-known golf pro, left, stopped one he didn't like, but went on to gain a draw with Bobby Curell, also 4, in the paperweight division of the annual High Chair Boxing Derby in Miami.

Full Support Of Allied Cause Voiced By Youth Organizations

Necessity of the Canadian people assisting the allied powers in their fight against the aggressive policies of the German government was voiced by representatives of 25 youth organizations in the city at a special meeting of the Edmonton Youth Council held this week to discuss the war question.

The meeting expressed the belief that Canada could best help the allied cause by placing her entire natural resources at the disposal of the allies and by making full development of these resources the chief duty of her manpower. Delegates urged national co-ordination of all Canadian resources, including men, finances, industry and agriculture for a unified military and economic war effort.

OPPOSE CONSCRIPTION

Hearty approval of the dominion government's stand against conscription of men for overseas duty was expressed at the meeting. Maintaining that freedom of speech, assembly and press is the best way to avoid war hysteria and panic, the delegates urged that the existing press and radio censorship be limited to matters of secret military significance only.

A demand that youth leaders be consulted on all possible occasions with respect to steps planned by Canada during the war and that these leaders also be consulted when the question of peace terms arises, was voiced at the meeting. Delegates felt that as youth would be called upon to make a large number of the sacrifices required during the war, that it was only just that their leaders be given a voice in proceedings.

Cheese was known at least 3,000 years before Christ, according to Hindu literature. It then was known as "chaturanga."

Fun Column

Funny?

"Hey, you're sitting on some jokes I cut out."

"I thought I felt something funny."

He Might Flunk

I GOTTA GET SOMETHING RIGHT!

Frosh: What is the date, professor?

Prof: Never mind; the examination is the important thing.

Frosh: Well, I wanted to have something right.

Monkey Business

Performer: I don't think I should go on right after that monkey act.

Theatre Manager: You're right. The customers will think it's an encore.

Forced Laughter

Mrs. Sauerface: I can't understand why you're laughing so loudly, Joan. I don't think that comedian is funny.

Mr. Sauerface: Neither do I, but I'm determined to get my money's worth.

Y.M.C.A. PLANS BIG MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN HERE

Determined to boost membership of the Y.M.C.A. to a record high, ten teams of enthusiastic "Y" leaders and members will begin an intensive membership drive at the beginning of the week. Although the number of new members already enrolled is well above that for the same period last year, Hal Betts, popular boys' work secretary of the Y.M.C.A. plans to make this season a banner year that will be long remembered. To date 104 new members have been enrolled.

Ten teams, each composed of 11 members, will vie for the honor of bringing in the greatest number of members. Each team will endeavor to enroll at least 22 members. Mr. Betts is hoping that the teams will secure 120 new members and that they will enroll 100 boys who were members of the "Y" last year.

Teams taking part in the drive have a distinctive rugby flair, their names being, Eskimos, Blue Bombers, Roughriders, Bronks, Huskies, Golden Bears, Imperials, Thunderbirds and Wheelers, all names of famous Canadian rugby squads. And how those teams intend to battle it out for membership yardage during the next week! It will be a grim struggle.

A meeting for representatives of every class, club and craft in the Y.M.C.A. will meet Saturday night at the "Y" for a pep rally to start the campaign.

All Y.M.C.A. arts and crafts divisions will swing into action next week and following is the list of leaders and times for the respective classes:

Archery, 2.30 p.m. Saturday, Norman Neilson, 7.30 p.m. Friday, Bill Sears; Basketry, Saturday, 2.30 p.m. Bob Purvis; beadwork, 4.30 p.m. Friday, Frank Coyle; Beltwork, 2.30 p.m. Saturday, Roy Page; Lathework, 2.30 p.m. Saturday, Dave Bruner; Leatherwork, 2.30 p.m. Saturday, Walter Bissell; feltwork, 4.30 p.m. Friday, Paul Thomas.

Model airplanes, 4.30 p.m. Friday, Arnold Hicks; Model boats, 4.30 p.m. Saturday, Leo Magirl; metalwork, 4.30 p.m. Friday, Jack Moffatt; soap building and plaster of paris modelling, Friday, 4.30 p.m., Bud Metcalfe; woodwork, 2.30 p.m. Saturday, Leo Magirl.

PHONE GIRL FUSSED AS EAR CALLS EYE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30. — The telephone girl at the office of a machine company thought she was being kidded when a caller asked for a Mr. Joseph Ey. It sounded like this:

"Is Mr. Eye in?"

"No, I'm sorry, but he's out. Any message?"

"Oh, no—just tell Mr. Eye that Mr. Ear called."

The caller was Joseph Irr.

Sixer Conference

All Sixers, Senior Sixers and Acting Sixers in city Wolf Cub packs will be entitled to attend a conference of Sixers planned for Nov. 18 and 25 at Christ church. Conference will take the form of a training course for Sixers. Certificates will be granted to Cubs attending the full course and showing sufficient improvement.

ALWAYS ENCLOSE A STAMPED, ADDRESSED ENVELOPE

Address all correspondence to: The Director, Stamp Collectors' Club, The Bulletin, Edmonton, Alberta.

For some years The Bulletin has made possible guidance in the hobby of an internationally known philatelic expert, who is at your service to advise regarding your problems.

YOU are welcome in membership. State your age, size of collection and what stamps are of special interest to you. Enclose postage for reply always. You will receive a membership card and some stamps for your collection.

NORTH BORNEO

Mention has previously been made in our club corner of the issues of this British Protectorate, which is the northern portion of the Island of Borneo in the Dutch East Indies. Under the jurisdiction of the British North Borneo Company, which operates under grants from the Sultans of Brunei and Sulu, the protectorate is a Royal Chartered Company.

Since 1883, when the first postage stamps were issued, up to the present, the various issues have been very popular, especially with collectors of junior years, owing to the attractive designs and bright colors. Animal and bird life have figured in a great degree on the stamp designs. These have always found a place in 'Zoo' collections, as well as in the group of the country itself.

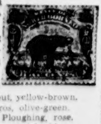
We picture today three values of the set of 13 stamps issued in 1909, which are typical of the general run of the country's issues. Most of the stamps have been bi-colored and in this set the centres are all in black. The denominations and designs are as follows:

1c. Malay Tapir, chocolate (and black).

2c. Traveller's Palm, green.

3c. Railroad Station, deep rose.

4c. Meeting of the Assembly, dull red.



5c. Elephant and Mahout, yellow-brown.

6c. Rhinoceros, olive-green.

8c. Natives Ploughing, rose.

10c. Wild Boar, bright blue.

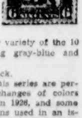
12c. Cockatoo, deep blue.

16c. Hornbill (bird), red-brown.

18c. Banteng (semi-wild Ox), blue-green.

20c. on 18c. As before, large numeral surcharge in red.

24c. Cassowary (bird), violet.



There is a color variety of the 10 cent stamp, being gray-blue and black.

gray-blue and black.

All stamps in this series are perforated 14, but changes of colors were introduced in 1926, and some of the same designs used in an issue which was perforated 12½. The 3 cent stamp was changed in color to green and black in 1922, and in 1923 a provisional was made 3c. on 4c. (scarlet). The following provisionals were made in 1916, with surcharge in either black or red: 2c. on 3c.; 4c. on 6c.; 10c. on 12c.

Don't Try To Change Your Husband; Change Yourself

She doesn't like her husband's old friends; they drink a lot of gin. So why bother with them any more? But he might as well realize that she always will be loyal to her friends.

HUNDREDS of young inexperienced brides step cheerfully and confidently into marriage every June with the fixed determination of changing their husbands completely, in nature, disposition, habits likes and dislikes.

Not that Sally doesn't adore Alan just as he is. He's a darling and she's mad about him. But there are a lot of things about which he doesn't think straight, and a lot of things he does are simply crazy; and Sally, flattered and excited all out of all possibility of sane thinking herself by wedding gifts, compliments, frocks, plans and dignities, sets herself at once to reform Alan.

She doesn't like his old intimates, for one thing. They bore her and they drink up a lot of gin. So why bother with them any more? Much more serious, he doesn't like her old friends, and he may as well make up his mind that she will always—always be loyal to Jean and Peggy. He likes prize fights, beef steaks, crime movies, golf and an occasional poker game. Well, married men just can't afford things like that, and it's very selfish of them to try to keep up with them.

Sally wants Alan to read the books that thrill her; she wants him to be enthusiastic over a dinner of creamed soup, creamed mushrooms, creamed sweetbreads and gelatine pudding. She hates poker talk and golf talk, and metes him out an occasional free evening as a miser pays out golden coins.

No thought of compromise ever enters her head. Her mother wasn't wise enough or experienced enough or interested enough to talk to her about adaptability in marriage. They discussed only clothes, and who should and who shouldn't be invited to the wedding.

In fact, her mother rather fostered Sally's natural selfishness by laughing at Alan's relatives, raising her eyebrows at their contributions to the wedding gifts, and warning the bride-to-be that if she began by spoiling Alan and giving him his way she would have to go on that way.

COMPROMISE BRINGS HAPPINESS

The exact opposite is true. No marriage is so happy as that in which both husband and wife are eager to concede, to compromise, to adapt. But even when the husband, like most young husbands, is no more than an untrained, affectionate, selfish boy, the wife can always bring her marriage to a successful level by being sweet and gracious, and letting him learn his lessons for himself.

Very swiftly, if he is the sort of man she ought to have married in the first place, he will begin to see the extravagance and waste and stupidness of running a cocktail bar for his friends every afternoon. Very soon, without any agitated scolding from her, he will realize that the long golf afternoons have not the same flavor, and that it is much more fun to do something that Sally can share. Very soon it will be Alan, and not Sally, who suggests that they don't take his sister on the week-end trip; who simply laughs at the idea that any poker game can keep him away from a home evening with Sally and the kids.

The strident-voiced brides, who are always fighting for their rights and reminding their husbands of pre-marital promises, don't ever win back the love they throw away. Worse, they go on into divorces and second marriages still arguing their cases, still telling anyone who will listen just how abused and misunderstood they were. For a few months truly, while young passion is blinding the man, they seem to be getting their own way.

But those months pass quickly, and Alan begins to see just what he has got, and just what he has lost. He becomes afraid of his wife, afraid of arguments and storms, and Sally despises him as a strong-willed girl always despises a weak-willed man. Or he fights back, and slams doors, and is off to play golf, with a heavy heart; or poker, with so distracted a mind that he can neither play nor win, and so one more marriage goes on the rocks at Reno.

WHAT THE WISE BRIDE DOES

What the wise bride does is to change herself. She endures—not for a lifetime, but just until Alan begins to see things differently. She is affectionate, patient; she spends those golf-widow afternoons with her mother, to whom her every visit means heaven. And after awhile Alan begins to see why everyone who can be with Sally always manages to be with Sally. Because gentleness and unselfishness and the divine gift of being happy always attract friends, and they will draw Alan back with the others.

Then Sally and Alan, having weathered these first bad months of adjustment, begin a new phase of happiness far deeper and more real than those of their first breathless love. They plan week-ends; they find a country home; they build a grill; they clean the car together and cook the lunch together, and swim and picnic together; and at last are grownup persons, starting into real marriage.

Of course, if the young man is stupid, a gambler, a drinker, a spender, twisted by the wrong upbringing into thinking that his comfort, and his comfort alone, is important, and that the more Sally cries and droops and pleads the more manly he appears, then he's a hopeless case anyway, and no matter what Sally does there's no real solution ahead.

But most men aren't like that. Most men want peace and affection and companionship, even though they may have been launched by adoring mothers into marriage without the slightest idea of real values between man and wife.

WIFE MUST BE THE GUIDE

So the wife has to be the guide, and the more slowly and cautiously she steers her little bark, the surer the result. She will find him very much a boy in all these superficial things I have been mentioning, and very much a man where the soberer and deeper needs of her life are concerned; suddenly developed into a real protector when she needs him most. In real trouble a boy will become a man overnight.

For the rest, her course must be compounded of love, patience, confidence, and a judicious admixture of praise for whatever he does right, or even whatever he might do right, if properly approached.

Some 20 years ago a rather neglected young wife was being loudly pitied by a friend for her husband's desertion on week-ends. She had a young family, and the man really did neglect her somewhat, going on fishing, hunting or golf trips and leaving her at home. In answer to her critic she smiled, affectionately at her husband and said in a mother's tone of understanding, "Oh, he goes away less and less. One of these days, when the boys are older, we'll need him at home and then he'll stay."

And whether it would have happened anyway, with a scold and a shrew, or whether the indulgent understanding glance had something to do with it I don't know, but the fact is that within a year or two the sporting trips stopped, and garden, home, wife and children absorbed the man completely in what is one of the most successful marriages I know.

TODAY'S GADGET

Don't throw away those odd pieces of soap that collect around the sink or bath-room. Save them until you get a good supply, then run them through a small grinder to make soap flakes. They can then be used up completely.

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 clubs	2 diamonds	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 spades	Double
Pass	Pass	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

"After the opening lead the hand was rather simple to play. West opened the jack of clubs, which my ace captured. I led a small spade to the ace and returned the three spot, which East ducked and my ten held. The diamond nine was the next play and West had the lead with the ace. He returned a club, which East ruffed. East sent back a heart and my ace held. I led a diamond to the king and, when West showed out, East was in the well known bag. I led the jack of diamonds through him and, when he put up the queen, ruffed it, then led the club ace and chucked a heart from dummy. East refusing to ruff, I next ruffed my heart in dummy, then dropped my losing club on the good ten of diamonds.

"With the exception of the redouble, the bidding was par. A heart lead, of course, would have ruined the contract and East made a grave error in not cashing the spade king after ruffing the second club lead, but he could not visualize my holding.

"C. H. S., Pittsburgh."

Although I cannot agree with my correspondent's opinion that the "bidding was par," I heartily admit that the bidding was magnificent when compared with East's defensive play. The remark that "East made a grave error in not cashing the spade king" almost might be taken as a model for restraint and understatement. East's defense actually was so awful, so excruciatingly frightful, that it is hard to believe that he was trying to defeat the contract.

One word about the bidding: North bid very badly. First, he should not have rebid his diamonds over three spades, but should have raised the spades to three. Next, he had nothing approaching a redouble. Also, the less said about West's vulnerable two club overcall the better.

Now for the play. The contract should have been defeated two tricks (600 points) even if the defenders had each tied a hand behind his back and closed one eye. East's failure to take out dummy's lone spade jack was the sort of play that causes sensitive partners to contemplate either homicide or suicide. East had many chances to make this play. For example, he could have gone up with the spade king on the second lead of the suit and returned a spade, thereby killing dummy except for the diamond king. Or he could have cashed the spade king after ruffing a club. Apparently he was in mortal fear of dummy's diamond suit, but why this should have been the case in view of his holding of the Q 8 6 2 is more than I can say.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

LINOLEUM FLOOR COVERINGS

Linoleum should always be laid over a smooth, even surface to wear longest. Uneven flooring, loose floor boards, projecting nails, cause it to show quick wear over these spots. In cold weather, linoleum should be allowed to remain in the room at least a day and a night before being laid. Cold linoleum may crack when even slightly bent. Felt base floor coverings wear longer if varnished when new and revarnished whenever the present coat shows wear. Inlaid linoleum should be waxed frequently. Waxing makes them easier to keep clean and, of course, protects the surface as well.

Develop Wasp-Waisted Figure With Exercise

By ALICIA HART

While corset designers have been busily creating foundation garments to make the waistline appear much smaller than it actually is, beauty experts have been just as busy creating exercises to make the waistline so small that new corsets will not have to be laced so tightly as to interfere with normal breathing.

In other words, salons of body sculpture and various health farms advise us to achieve a natural figure which will conform to the new Mainbocher silhouette. And then, if we like, to dramatize further our new, but natural, figure by wearing one of the widely-touted, laced corsets. They are opposed to lacing a thick waistline into a boned corset. Slim down your waistline first, is their idea, then wear a corset only if you want to.

To slenderize the waistline, here are some exercises recommended by a well-known expert:

"Do the 'foundation' exercise first," he advises. "Lie flat on your back with hands (palms down) at sides. Keeping knees rigid, slowly raise legs until they are perpendicular to your body. Lower just as slowly. Repeat ten times."

After the "foundation" exercises, repeat this routine ten times:

If you do not have a wheel which you can nail to the wall of your garage or playroom, plant an imaginary wheel on the wall and, pretending to grasp the spokes with outstretched arms, roll the body to the left until you can feel a decided pull through the midriff. Reverse, rolling to the right as far as possible.

Now stand erect with feet slightly apart. Raise the right leg backward, keeping knee straight, head up, arms outstretched in the direction of the leg. Return to position. Repeat, stretching left leg backward, keeping head up, knee straight.

Also to strengthen sagging waistline muscles, stand against a wall before an open window, inhale deeply, raising hands behind head and contracting abdominal muscles. Hold your breath as long as possible, then exhale slowly, lowering arms to sides. Repeat 20 times.

Finally, lie on your back on the floor with arms outstretched at shoulder level. Raise legs, keeping knees rigid and hips in place, then let legs fall slowly to the right, then to the left. Alternate this movement 20 times.

Raising A Family

Children get tired of incessant telling. On the other hand they like to know exactly what is expected of them.

O R Barton

Sad to say, now and then we find a parent who prefers to let a child do as he pleases, and then scold when he does wrong. This method seems to be easier than to make some simple laws for the boy or girl to abide by.

Take us for instance. Suppose we enter a strange city, with different traffic laws from the ones we know. We muddle through some way, but underneath there is a feeling of uneasiness as we wonder whether we are making the turns properly and are reading the lights as intended.

This gives just a little idea of the child's day when he gets up with only a vague idea of what he may do and what he must skip.

As a matter of fact, children learn mostly by the mistakes they make. Not a bad school, entirely, but an unhappy one. Experience is a good teacher. But it wastes time. And often the price of mistakes comes high.

Every home should have several codes of laws; those that must never be broken; those used as general guidance; and the more undefined ones that go something like this, "Mother would be so proud if you kept your hair brushed neatly all the time."

This is the only way we ourselves can be happy. We know that there are laws that must be obeyed. We are aware that there are some that we must interpret to the occasion. And again, there are the thousand unwritten ones that whisper, "You don't actually have to do this but it is a good thing to do."

GIVE POSITIVE ORDERS RATHER THAN NEGATIVE

But here rises another point. There are two ways of giving orders. The best one is to twist the words but keep the same meaning. Instead of saying, "You must not blow your horn in a neighbor's house," try this: "Blow your horn in our house, Junior, or on our own pavement. And blow it when the Smith baby is awake."

I believe that if parents could learn to transpose their commands into "do's" instead of the everlasting "dont's" many irritations would be avoided on both sides.

SUNDAY'S LEFTOVER ROAST

Along about Wednesday, if the family is pretty small, the end of Sunday's roast looks monotonous indeed. Grind it up, combine with any leftover bits of vegetables waiting to be used, some bread crumbs, minced onion and green pepper, a little water to moisten, seasonings, and stuff large ripe tomatoes, from which the centers have been scraped. Top with grated cheese and bake.

Wedding Breakfast Tip For The October Bride

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

October brides anxious to have a wedding breakfast that their guests will remember with pleasure can take some tips:

OCTOBER WEDDING BREAKFAST

Clear green turtle soup, celery hearts, salted nuts, ripe olives, sweetbreads, chicken, Virginia ham and fresh mushrooms on toast (served from chafing dish), hot finger rolls, assorted sandwiches, tomato aspic salad with celery, watercress (tarragon dressing), biscuit glace, wedding cake, coffee.

Green turtle soup can be ordered from a caterer or a high-class food specialty shop. Order 5 quarts for 25 people.

SWEETBREADS, CHICKEN, MUSHROOMS AND VIRGINIA HAM A LA NEWBURG
(Serves 25)

Thirty-five medium-sized sweetbreads, 4 pounds white meat of chicken, 2 pounds of Virginia ham minced, ½ pint good quality cooking sherry wine, 8 quarts 30 per cent heavy cream, 2 pounds cut mushrooms, 3 dozen egg yolks, seasoning to taste.

Mince sweetbreads, fry in pan five minutes; add white meat of chicken and Virginia ham with seasoning. Mix well, add sherry wine and let cook for five minutes. Add cream and mushrooms and let boil for 8 minutes. Finish by adding egg yolks mixed with a little cream. Stir, without boiling, until thick. Serve with Melba toast in chafing dish.

BISCUIT GLACE (PINEAPPLE AND ORANGE ICE)
(Serves 25)

Three and one-half pounds granulated sugar, 1 quart luke-warm water, 1 whole grated fresh pineapple, 1 quart cold water, 3 oranges grated, pulp mashed, juice of 3 lemons, ½ white of an egg, pinch of salt.

Dissolve granulated sugar in one quart of lukewarm water; grate fresh pineapple into syrup. Strain. Add one quart water, orange and lemon juice and grated orange rind to the strained pineapple syrup. Pour into freezer and add the unbeaten egg white to the fruit juice. Place in Biscuit Tortoni cases and decorate with half maraschino cherry and two pieces of angelique.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Honeydew melon, fried ham, rice muffins, crabapple jelly, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Fruit cup, fried chicken, cream gravy, mashed sweet potatoes, corn fritters, mixed green salad, butterscotch pie, coffee, milk.

COMBINATION STORAGE CABINET

A combination broom and grocery cabinet may solve your problem of sufficient storage space. The grocery section, consisting of four shelves, occupies the upper left corner, allowing space below and to the side for broom, floor mop and sweeper. The cabinet is made of strong furniture steel finished durably in white enamel.

NEGRO BABIES ARE NOT BORN BLACK

People talk about the birth of black babies, but the truth is that when born, negroes are not black, but are a very pale hue, much like their white contemporaries. Even among adults, there are few negroes that are really black; they are usually in shades of brown, as can be seen by comparing even the darkest of them with black coal or a blackboard. Even in Africa, the natives are never a pure black color.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Miss Dix—What can you suggest as a remedy for trembling hands? I am in love with a fine young men who loves me and we are planning to marry soon. However, there is a second young man called Jim who possesses a strange fascination for me, so much so that when he is around I cannot keep my mind on anything but him. I forget the man I am to marry and my hands begin to shake and I am so excited I can scarcely speak. I am sure I don't love Jim. I truly love my fiance. I don't believe in one being able to love two people at the same time. But there it is, and I don't know what to do about it.

NINETEEN.

Answer:

I would say that you loved Jim with your body and your fiance with your mind. Jim has a physical fascination for you, but the other chap comes up to your ideal of what you want in a husband.

Such being the case, you will be well advised not to marry either one of them because you could only give half a love to either, and a half portion of affection isn't enough food for a wedding feast. Wait until you can find some man who combines all the qualities you desire in a husband and who can make your hands tremble and your heart go pit-a-pat at the same time.

Probably more people do marry because of a physical attraction than for any other reason, and that is why there are many disgruntled couples, so many peevish wives and husbands and so many divorces. Because physical attraction wears out in time and then the husband and wife who have lost their taste for each other find the marriage tie nothing but a ball and chain about their ankles. They are always wondering what they saw in each other, and what made them do it, and comparing each other invidiously with other women and men who have the qualities they crave in a mate.

Conversely the men and women who marry sensibly and who pick out their wives and husbands because they are suitable are likely to find their marriage as flavorless as an unseasoned bread pudding and go through life longing for the thrills and palpitations they missed.

So there you are. And whether to marry for your head or your heart, no one can tell you. But Mr. Puck said long ago, when asked this question, that whichever one you did, you would regret it.

DOROTHY DIX.

Your Dreams May Show Inner Conflicts

Get Clues to Hidden Problems

How foolish that dream will seem when you wake up! But you are wrong, say psychologists, to dismiss it too lightly. For in your silliest dream may be a sign or symbol from your unconscious mind, warning you that all is not well.

Do you dream of a world all land and sky—not a living thing besides yourself?

A sign you desire to escape from reality to a simpler, more primitive world, instead of facing your problems. You may think perhaps you are dissatisfied with life because your job is hateful—actually you aren't adjusted to this complex, modern world.

A snake in your dreams? Your affections may be unruly. Learn to control them, your dream symbol warns, or they may cause you trouble.

Do you dream of a broken vase or a broken object that you're trying to mend? You secretly realize you have done someone wrong, you yearn to make amends.

Read your dreams, find their true meanings with the helpful guidance given in our 32-page booklet. A famous psychologist tells how to read dream symbols, images—get clues to problems that threaten your happiness.

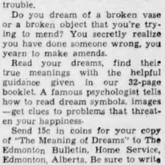
What To Do



Every one in the office in which I work has been invited to the wedding reception of our employer's daughter. Those of us who are married received invitations for both husband and wife. Would it be correct for the employees to join together in purchasing one gift from the group and include the husband or wife who do not work in the office or would it be better to each give individual gifts, as some think should be done.

MISS E. P. M.

Answer: Courtesy demands that invitations be sent to both the husband and wife even though only one of them is employed by the bride's father, which explains why the married employees received joint invitations. However, this does not mean that the married employees should give separate gifts. Much the better plan is to have every one in the office contribute toward one outstanding gift, which is always preferable to a number of small individual gifts.

Red Cross Branches Receive Directions For Socks From National Headquarters

IT WILL be quite a record to beat [illegible] mothers and grandmothers [illegible] judging from the eager enthusiasm to serve which young girls and older women alike are showing in the present war, it will be one which is often attained to.

From the National Red Cross headquarters at Ottawa, directions for hand-knitted regulation socks for men and also for a sleeveless sweater have been issued to Red Cross [illegible] Canada. We can see now how knitting needles will be busy these winter months with nimble fingers eagerly doing their bit to help.

No doubt many merry tunes will originate to help the task along but personally we like the little ditty which a friend, who has a reputation of "a sock a day" told us they used in the last war to help in the directions for the "kitchener toe" . . . "As if to purl and leave it on; as if to purl and take it off; as if to knit and leave it on; as if to knit and take it off."

Former City Man Weds At Coast

Of interest to many Edmonton friends is the recent wedding in Vancouver of Lillian Margaret Duthie, second daughter of Mrs. A. Duthie, of Vancouver, and Mrs. Ernest H. Reksten, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Reksten of Edmonton.

The ceremony was performed quietly at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. D. Miller, Rev. J. S. Muldrew officiating.

Given in marriage by her brother, the bride wore a frock of copenhagen blue crepe, with harvest-wine accessories, and a corsage of gardenia. She was attended by her sister, Jean Duthie.

Mr. Arvid Reksten attended his brother as best man.

Following a small reception, Mr. and Mrs. Reksten left on a wedding trip to Portland. For travelling the bride wore a fur swagger with her wedding costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Reksten will make their home at 4201 Sofia street, Vancouver.

City Wedding Claims Wide Interest

CLAIMING interest in the three prairie provinces is the lovely wedding ceremony which took place in First Baptist church on Friday evening when Miss Gladys Irene Drew exchanged vows of marriage with Mr. Roy B. Windrim of Nipiwin, Saskatchewan.

The eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Drew of Vancouver, formerly of Edmonton, the bride has a host of friends at the Pacific coast as well as in Edmonton, where she is well known in business and club circles, having held the position of assistant secretary to Hon. William Aberhart, Premier of Alberta. Mr. Windrim is the son of Mrs. S. R. Windrim and the late Mr. Windrim of Rocanville, Saskatchewan.

Rev. Daniel Young officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. A. T. Drew, of Vancouver, the bride wore a graceful gown in white sheer over taffeta, modelled on princess lines, with a tucked bodice, high throat line, and tiny turn-down collar. Her chapel veil was held with orange blossoms in her hair, and she chose talisman roses for her bouquet.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Richard Johnson, matron-of-honor, chose a frock in pale yellow sheer over taffeta. Her small yellow and white hat was of the same materials and she carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. Richard Johnson supported the bridegroom.

Seven members of the C.G.I.T. group of First Baptist church acted as ushers. Mrs. F. Barber-Smith was at the organ, and Mrs. A. L. How sang "All Joy Be Thine" during the signing of the register.

A reception to about 50 guests was aranged later at the Corona hotel. Toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Johnson.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Windrim left on a motor wedding trip and will make their home in Nipiwin, Saskatchewan.

Mid-Week Tea Planned By Church W.A.

Entertaining at the attractive west end home of Mrs. J. O. Budd on Wednesday afternoon of next week, ladies of Circle Number 4 of Robertson United church will be hostesses at a Thanksgiving tea party. Lovely articles of handwork and candy will also be on display.

Receiving with the hostess will be Mrs. P. R. Thompson and Mrs. G. B. Francey while those who will pour tea will be Mrs. J. Holland, Mrs. J. O. Stein, Mrs. Larue Smith and Mrs. Leitch.

Committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. J. Somerville, Mrs. Thomas Dykes and Mrs. T. W. McBride.

Nurses' Group To Conduct Classes

BELIEVING that at the present time it is well to be prepared for any emergency, the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses have offered their assistance to the provincial Red Cross Society of Canada as teachers for any courses in home nursing which the Red Cross might be called upon to conduct, it has been announced. Miss Agnes [illegible] ments for the association.

The Edmonton branch, under the convenership of Mrs. H. H. Cooper, former superintendent of nurses at the University hospital, has organized a group of nearly 60 nurses who have signified their willingness to conduct these classes.

Object of the course it is stated is to give [illegible] ing it and will include simple nursing procedures [illegible] might from time to time be called upon to administer in cases of sickness in the home.

The Registered Nurses of whom there are 1,260 in the province feel that they could be greatly assisted if there were groups in each community who had completed the Red Cross home nursing class. The committee in charge wishes it to be clearly understood that such classes are not intended to train practical nurses or subsidiary workers, nor that they are to be prepared for voluntary work overseas.

Such a service will be [illegible] voluntary in time of need with question of remuneration being considered.

Mrs. T. Harold Field, as the director of the Home Nursing division of the Edmonton Red Cross, will take charge of registration of clubs and individuals wishing to take the home nursing instructions. Final examinations will conclude the course, which consists of 20 classes, two hours each, given twice weekly.

The Bureau of Navigation of the Navy Department has the responsibility of training and educating the officers and enlisted men of the navy, with the exception of the professional calling of medicine.

Health
IS ONE OF OUR RESOURCES

Oven Cooked Fillets of Fish

(Cod, Haddock, Whitefish, Sole, etc., may be used)

The fish may be cut into pieces of a suitable size for serving or the fillets may be left whole. Dip each piece into salted milk (one-half tablespoonful of salt to one-half cupful of whole milk or diluted evaporated milk), toss into a pan of sifted dry bread crumbs, coat thoroughly and place in a well oiled baking pan. Sprinkle with oil and place in a very hot oven (500° F.). Bake until fish is tender and crumbs nicely browned (about 10 minutes). Serve with Tartar Sauce. Tomato aspic jelly and lemon completes the dish.

IN the mighty mustering of Canada's resources to aid in the defense of Liberty, the physical fitness of her people is important.

There are tremendous tasks to be accomplished. Courage and determination are not enough. Good health must march with them. Energy and alertness must be maintained. And Canadians can find no better source of health and strength than Canadian Fish and Shellfish . . . palatable aids in the pleasant duty of keeping well.

Choose from over 60 kinds of Food Fish and Shellfish from Canada's ocean grounds and great freshwater areas. They're rich in the proteins and mineral content and vitamins that build vigorous health and alert fitness. Eat fish often. But insist on Canadian Fish. Buy it fresh or frozen or canned, smoked, pickled or dried. It's available either fresh or processed at all times of the year and everywhere in Canada. Remember, too, every purchase of Canadian goods helps strengthen the national economy in these difficult days . . . aids in the job we've all got to do. Use plenty of healthful Fish but make sure they're Canadian products you buy.

City Church Activities

PRESBYTERIANS HOLD SERVICES

Presbyterian churches have arranged services throughout the city on Sunday with timely topics selected for discussion in the pulpits.

At First Presbyterian church, the minister, Rev. Ross K. Cameron, will occupy the pulpit at both services. At 11 a.m. he will speak on "God Still Rules a Troubled World" and at 7:30 p.m. he will speak on "Beyond Reason."

Music will be under the direction of Henry Atack.

Rev. F. D. Roxburgh will occupy the pulpit at St. Andrew's church. In the morning he will speak on "A Pastoral Letter" and in the evening, "The Secret of Strength."

Rev. R. J. Burton will preside over both services at Strathcona Presbyterian church. In the morning Holy Communion will be held and in the evening his sermon topic will be "Job, the Praying Sufferer."

At Westmount Presbyterian church, W. L. Clow will take the pulpit at both services. In the morning he will speak on "Expediency" and at 7:30 p.m. service he will deal with "Young Workmen."

One service only will be held at the Rupert street church, where Rev. William Simons will preach at 11 a.m. on "The Promise Fulfilled."

Beverly Sunday school will be held at 11 a.m. and at 3 p.m. the Cherry Dale Mission will hold a service.

Varsity Students At Knox Church

Young people will forgather at Knox church on Sunday night. The theme is an attractive one: "Youth and Age in a World at War." Dr. Macdonald will be ably assisted by the male quartette and V. Eriksen will sing "The New Frontiersman."

At the fireside meeting Dr. Cormie, of Winnipeg, will talk about new Canadians. Dr. G. S. [illegible] will bring greetings to the Normal school students and their friends. An evening of friendships and refreshments awaits you at Knox, a church home for varsity folk.

Foursquare Gospel Planning Services

Church of the Foursquare Gospel, 10822 98 street, will be active Sunday. At 10 a.m., Sunday school will be held and at 11 a.m., morning worship will be held. At 7:30 p.m. an evangelistic service will be held.

Services also will be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday and Friday of next week.

Pastors in charge of services are Rev. and Mrs. O. J. Shields.

GARNEAU HEARS GUEST PASTOR

Garneau United church will be favored with a visit from a guest preacher on Sunday, namely, Prof. the Rev. Clyo Jackson.

At 11 a.m. Prof. Jackson will make his first appearance in the pulpit and at 7:30 p.m. he will preach again, his theme at this service being "Life's Serious Call."

The senior Sunday school will be held at 12:15 p.m. and the primary Sunday school will be held at 2 p.m.

Soloist at the morning service will be Miss Beryl Wainwright and in the evening Miss Doris McWhirter.

The choir will be under the direction of Miss Violet Cumming and Miss Helen Macgregor will be at the piano.

VISITING PASTOR BISSELL CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Cormie of Winnipeg, superintendent of missions of the United Church for Manitoba, will preach at the evening service in Bissell Memorial United church, corner of 96 street and 103A avenue on Sunday, Oct. 1 at 7:30 o'clock.

The usual monthly sing-song will be held in the friendship room of the building after the evening service. "Laddies" in khaki will be more than welcome to the facilities of the building at any time.

The mission is on active service

M'DOUGALL IS HISTORIC CHURCH

A stirring and searching evangelism in the warm and inspiring atmosphere of hearty singing of the old hymns that came out of a realistic Christian experience will characterize the evening service of worship at McDougall United.

This old historic church at the heart of the city has experienced a new spirit in the miraculous lifting of a crippling burden of debt through the power of faith and prayer, and this new spirit is now breaking out in an evangelism that partakes of the old and the new in religious message and song and is compelling people to take stock of their lives today. A spirit of inquiry concerning God and life is abroad, and decisions are being made that mean changed attitudes to life and a Christian outlook and purpose coming to the fore.

The membership will assemble in a service of Holy Communion at the morning hour of worship, and new members will be received with suitable ceremony.

HON. E. C. MANNING SUNDAY SPEAKER

Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry will be the speaker at the Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference at the Strand theatre commencing at 8:30 p.m. Sunday. He will speak on "The Coming Anti-Christ: Is He in the World Today?"

Commenting on the topic of his address, Mr. Manning said that "The prophecies of the Bible concerning the coming of the Anti-Christ are of particular interest at the present time.

"There is abroad considerable speculation as to the possibility of a superman arising to dominate world affairs and to assume the role of a supreme dictator over a new world empire. Some even suggest that such a man may be in the world today. These matters are worthy of investigation in the light of prophetic truth and we are therefore confident that this study will prove of interest to [illegible]."

Mr. Manning also stated that the Sunday afternoon prophetic forum will hold its regular meeting at the Masonic Temple at 3 p.m. This week's study will be the first in a series of present day world events in the light of the prophecy of Daniel. The topic will be The Book of Daniel and Our Present Age or Does Prophecy Throw Light on Modern Events?

Commenting on the work of the forum, Mr. Manning said that "A great deal of interest is being manifest in this unique Sunday afternoon Bible class. The object of the forum is not only to provide an opportunity for practical and systematic Bible study but particularly to analyze present day world events in the light of Bible prophecy. The series on the Book of Daniel commencing on Sunday afternoon should prove of particular interest to all students of scripture."

Harvest Service St. Mark's Church

Harvest Thanksgiving services will be held at St. Mark's Anglican church, 111 street and 108 avenue, on Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. P. A. Rickard will also administer Holy Communion, choral, at 9:30 a.m. service on October 1.

HOPE MISSION ANNIVERSARY

Excerpts from letters expressing gratitude to the Mission for help generously and lovingly given, and of almost heart-breaking appeal from others in urgent need of assistance formed part of the annual report of the work of the Mission given by the superintendent, Rev. H. Edwardson, at the anniversary of the organization held in the Mission Hall recently.

"Ten years ago the Hope Mission began its work in this city by opening a small hall for gospel services on 102 street. Because of increasing unemployment it was soon found necessary to commence relief work on a small scale, chiefly among single men. This gradually developed into more extensive endeavors made possible by kind friends who wished to extend through the Mission a helping hand to needy individuals and families in city and country. Hence the need of larger and more suitable quarters and the renting of the present "mission building."

To those who have contributed in any way, either by cash donations, donations of food, clothing, furniture and so forth, the Mission extends grateful thanks.

Mr. Edwardson expressed his appreciation of the work of the Mission Board, "whose co-operation has been all that we could desire." This board has seven members: Rev. and Mrs. H. Edwardson, superintendents; Mr. I. Gleddie, chairman; Mr. J. W. H. Williams, finance; Mrs. M. Finlay, Mr. John Suder and Mrs. A. E. Cook, secretary.

Following are a few items gathered from the statistical report from September, 1938, to August, 1939: Average of 169 families per month assisted during sickness in the home. Average of 36 families per month assisted during sicknes sin the home. Garments given out, 19,207; pairs of shoes distributed, 2,468; 1,692 pairs repaired in the mission's shoe shop; 16,602 free meals and lunches were served in the building and quantities of groceries given to families; 531 free lodgings supplied to transients needing temporary accommodation, some of these being sick persons or persons finding it necessary to stay only a short time in the city.

Wherever possible work has been given in the mission building in return for assistance given. Several "burnt out" families have been helped; special "treats" have been sent occasionally to the men's relief camps at [illegible], Galloway, [illegible] and [illegible]. 557 hampers were distributed at Christmas in city and country, and treats and gifts provided for 190 single men.

Estimated value of all goods given out approximates $13,250, in addition to which $449 was given for various purposes, mostly designated by the donors.

PRESENT CONFLICT ADDRESS SUBJECT

Watson Thomson of the Extension Department, University of Alberta, and radio lecturer on international affairs will be the special speaker at the after church gathering in Metropolitan on Sunday evening, taking as his subject, "The Backgrounds of the Present Conflict." University students are especially invited to the evening service when the minister will preach, and President Kerr of the university will read the Scripture lesson.

Bible Society Is Continuing Work

Excellent work continues to be carried on by the Bible society. From the Bible House, 9939 Jasper avenue, this organization is functioning in the interests of Christian endeavor and each week sees many bibles go out to this city and to far-flung parts of the province.

The society is always willing to receive assistance and co-operation from those interested.

First Baptist Minister Speaks

Rev. Daniel Young will occupy the pulpit at First Baptist church at both services on Sunday. At 11 a.m. he will deal with the subject of "Simplicity of Life" and at the 7:30 p.m. service he will speak on "What Does It Mean to Follow Christ Today?"

Mrs. F. Barber Smith will be at the console of the organ for both services.

Apostolic Mission Meeting Sunday

The Edmonton Apostolic Mission is moving to a new location in the basement of the Agency Building, 10057 Jasper avenue. The first services will be held on Sunday, Oct. 1 at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Rev. William Deverill, a former pastor of the Apostolic Mission, will be the special speaker for the occasion.

Rev. C. C. Upshall is the pastor.

Turn, knit 12 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit 1, turn, pull 13 stitches, slip 1, purl 1, pull slipped stitch over, purl 1.

Turn, knit 14 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit 1.

Pick up and knit the 12 stitches down the side of the heel piece and knit 3 stitches off the front needle.

Knit the 28 stitches of the front needles on to one needle; the last 2 stitches knit on to the 3rd needle, on which pick up and knit the 12 stitches at the other side of the heel piece. Divide the heel stitches on to the 2 side needles and knit right round again to the centre heel. First needle, knit to within 3 stitches of the front end of side needle, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit 1.

This reducing to be done every other row until there are 56 stitches on the needles (front needle 28, side needles 14 each). Knit plain until the foot from the back of the heel measures 9 inches.

KITCHENER TOE

Decrease for toe: Knit 6 stitches, then slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, knit 6 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over. Repeat this round the 3 needles. Then knit 6 rows plain, then knit 5 stitches, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, and repeat round the 3 needles. Then 4 plain rows, then knit 3, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, repeat to end of 3 needles, then 3 plain rows. Then knit 2, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, repeat to end of 3 needles, then 2 plain, then knit 1, slip 1, knit 1, pull slipped stitch over, repeat to end of three needles. Then 1 plain row, then 1 row decreasing, if necessary, so as to leave 7 stitches on front needles and 4 on each of the back needles. Knit the back stitches on to one needle. Break off wool, leaving about 10 inches. Thread into a darning needle, put through the 1st stitch on front needle as if for darning, but do not take the stitch off. Then put the darning needle through the 1st stitch on the back needle as if for purling and take off. • Then through the next stitch on back needle, as if for knitting and do not take off. Then through the 1st stitch on front needle, again knitting and slip off. Through the 2nd stitch on front needle, purling and do not take off. Through the 1st stitch on back needle, purling and take off. Repeat from • until all the stitches are worked off.

N.B.—Each stitch must be gone through twice except the first and last on back needles. Always keep the wool under the knitting needles. When reducing it is better to slip 1 and pull the slipped stitch over instead of taking 2 together. In finishing off end of yarn run yarn once down the toe so as not to make a ridge of lumps.

MAN'S SLEEVELESS SWEATER

Two No. 7 needles (if tight knitter use No. 6) 9 to 10 oz. 4-ply fingering wool. (Double knitting.)

FOR BACK

Cast on 80 stitches. Knit 2 plain, 2 purl for 4 inches. Knit plain until sweater measures 23 inches in all. Knit 28 stitches and slip onto extra needle; bind off next 24 stitches for neck and knit remaining 28 stitches for 10 ridges to form shoulder. Then at opening of neck knit 6 stitches, make 1 and knit to end of row. Increase as above every second ridge, until there are 40 stitches on the needles. This will form V for neck. Break wool and join to other shoulder and knit the same way as the other side. Then knit the 80 stitches plain, until with the 10 ridges of shoulder, it measures 19 inches. Then 4 inches of ribbing; this finishes the front. Sew up sides leaving 8 inches for armholes. Finish armholes and neck with one row of loose single crochet.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday. The Golden Text is Proverbs 13:7. One of the Scriptural citations is "The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it." (Proberbs 10:22). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is "Christians rejoice in secret beauty and bounty, hidden from the world, but known to God. Self-forgetfulness, purity, and affection are constant prayers. Practice not profession, understanding not belief, gain the ear and right hand of omnipotence and they assuredly call down infinite blessings (p. 15)."

Women Talking

By Nellie McClung

(Copyright Reserved)

THEY are much the same in every city, these women who belong to the Local Council, picked from many affiliated societies. There is a look of seasoned wisdom in their faces, as of people who have moved many amendments, and presented many reports, and are still pursuing the ultimate good, even though many of their bright plans which began with "aspirations ended in aspirins."

I listened yesterday to the deliberations of a Local Council from a back seat in a pleasant hall, and the whole arrangements, from the purple and pink asters on the president's table to the soft-footed warden who sat at the side door, to conduct late-comers to their seats with a minimum of noise, was so typical of a well-ordered council meeting anywhere, I am going to write about it. It might have been a meeting in Halifax, Toronto, Winnipeg or Edmonton.

NO SIDE-SHOWS

Some people are able to detect great differences between east and west, but the women who belong to these national groups have developed certain characteristics of speech and manner. Above all they are serious, and business-like. They run no side-shows at their meetings. All eyes are on the president.

Local matters were first discussed. A circus had been in town, and certain features of it had been objectionable, and they had prevailed on the police to close these. A little square of ground in a crowded part of the city was now reserved for a park as the speaker phrased it, "for shelter, shade and meditation." Members were urged to take word back to their societies that names must be on municipal voters' lists before October 31.

NOT DISMAYED

Then the correspondence was read on the garbage disposal question, which has been before the society for years, and now I have as much as named the city. So far as I know there is only one city in Canada which gives self-determination to its garbage; only one city where the tin-can you discard on Saturday night may meet your eye on Sunday morning, dancing brightly on the sea. This system is not popular with any one but the gulls. Yet it remains. However, the Local Council is not defeated, or dismayed, and some day they will win.

When the business was over the president disclosed the special object of the meeting. Women, she said, are wondering how they can best serve their country, now that we are at war. Obviously there are things we must not do. We had an example here this week, when the rumor of a flour and sugar shortage drove women flying to the stores to buy these, with the result that prices soared. We must see that such things do not happen.

LOVERS OF PEACE

The discussion proceeded in an orderly way. Lovers of peace as these women are, they speak of war as a great national calamity which must be met with fortitude and intelligence. But no man's conscience must be invaded. The women who hand out white feathers to force enlistment were characterized as cruel and barbarous. Why should any man rush blindly into this awful conflict, hounded by an inflamed public opinion? Let us beware of war-hysteria, which shows itself in such crudities and cruelties.

One woman spoke of the anomalous position of German and Austrian people living in Canada. Many of these were admirers of Hitler some years ago, when undoubtedly he was improving conditions in Germany, but now, after his unspeakable conduct to minorities, his broken promises, their attitude has been changed. Let us gather them into the circles of friendship. Canada is made up of people who left Europe because of its oppressions and hatreds. They are glad to be part of the new land. Let us build up our country now on the only foundation which will stand, the solid ground of mutual respect. Just to feel friendly is not enough; we must show our friendly spirit in deeds. It is just a simple matter of imagination. We will know what to do if we put ourselves in the position of a German living in Canada.

FOOD QUESTION

Then came the matter of food, always interesting to women, whose business it is to see that their families are fed. Food must not be wasted, even though we see plenty of it around us. Let there be no more orchard or garden waste, or kitchen waste. Many long months will pass before the trees will bud and bear, or the vines yield their increase. Who knows when this conflict will be over? England is preparing for three years. A visitor from a country district believed it is a mistake for teachers to have maps where the progress of armies is noted each day. What good can it do to burden the sensitive minds of children with stories of bloodshed. Let them knit or sew for the Junior Red Cross by all means. That is practical, and pleasant, and gives an outlet for their emotions.

A former president sounded a serious note. She said she believed we would do well to develop a quiet spirit. This whole conflict is a struggle against evil things. It must be met by spiritual forces. Evil can be overcome only by the good. War is always frightful in its destruction of moral values.

NOT ENOUGH

There is nothing wrong with the women who belong to clubs and churches in Canada, only that there is not enough of them. Remembering the last war, and how wonderfully many other women rallied to the call for workers, I hope a great effort will be made this time to lead the volunteers, through the labor of their hands, to a finer, inner, invisible kingdom where they will learn to do real world-mending.

The outcome of this war is not in doubt. No one knows how long it will take, but one thing is certain. Brutality, cruelty and oppression will be broken, and then the real work of world building must begin. The people in Canada must prepare for this by building up now a spiritual momentum, beginning in our own hearts.

VICTORY DANCE

Alfred Noyes, the English poet, wrote a poem called, "The Victory Dance," at the end of 1918, in which he gave us a lead, if we had taken it. In it he pictured the dead soldiers lining the walls as the people danced in their delirium of joy on Armistice night. And as they watched the fun, the ghosts of the dead men talked, unheard and unseen, by the dancers.

"What did you think you would find?" asked a shade
"When the last shot was fired and the last peace made?"
"Christ!" said the fleshless jaws of his friend.
"I thought they'd be praying for worlds to mend!"

Girl Riding From Coast At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30. — Mary Bosanquet, 26 - year - old English horsewoman, rode into Winnipeg last night on the back of a wiry range pony, her face tanned from the suns of western Canada under which she has ridden more than 1,500 miles since leaving Vancouver over five months ago. Miss Bosanquet left Vancouver last May 10 on a horseback journey across Canada.

JASPER JOTTINGS

By FAY PARKER

Jasper's first group of volunteers will go into active training this week. Now that the Jasper Park Lodge is closed, the bears are finding the choice tidbits that used to be fed them by admiring park visitors are non-existent, and one or two have wandered over the river and into the town to cause considerable trouble. One evening recently it seemed to a Jasper housewife that surely the Germans must be bombarding the town, but on investigation she found that a neighbor's icebox was being raided. The raider was a big black bear. The beam of a flashlight however, put him to rout up the alley and the Park wardens were soon on his trail.

King Confers With Hepburn Tuesday

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King last night sent a telegram to Premier Hepburn of Ontario accepting for next Tuesday Mr. Hepburn's request for a conference with the Dominoin government on methods by which the province may best assist in Canada's war effort.

FREIGHTING NEAR END IN NORTH AREAS

Early Freeze-Up Is Threatened On Waterways, Berry Reports

Freighting operations on northern waterways are drawing rapidly to a close, with winter pressing them hard with the threat of an early freeze-up, A. M. "Matt" Berry, manager of the Northern Transportation Company, reported here Saturday.

The Northern Transportation Company's boats carried nearly 9,000 tons of supplies during the past season to mining camps and trading posts scattered along the lakes and rivers of the Mackenzie River system all the way from Waterways

City Vote Machine Gets Underway For November 8 Ballot

Movement towards civic election activity is beginning, with campaign organizations slowly starting to marshal their forces and to reconnoitre the battlefront. At city hall, City Clerk Alfred Russell, returning officer, is preparing special reports for city council on election procedure.

Citizens' Committee, a civic government campaign organization whose members for the past two years have solidly packed the city council, is calling a meeting Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Corona hotel to choose a new executive for this year's campaign.

NOMINATIONS

The new executive will proceed with plans for nominations and for organization of the campaign. Candidates must be obtained for the mayoralty, five aldermen and four or five school trustees.

A number of present councillors likely will run again for election.. Date of voting is Wednesday, November 8, with nomination day, Monday, October 30.

The Canadian Labor party has made no definite move as yet but the executive has been instructed to make a survey as to its chances of placing successful candidates and also to see what members are available for nomination.

PREPARING REPORT

City Clerk Russell, who is the returning officer under the city charter, will prepare a report for council's next meeting asking that a campaign committee be appointed. By custom this committee comprises the continuing members of council.

Council also will be asked to issue instructions as to hours of voting and advertising of nomination day.

EXPECTED TO RUN

Mayor John W. Fry is expected to rnu for election again but he has made no announcement up to the present. He has served two years as mayor and was an alderman for five years previously.

Aldermen retiring from council this year, most of whom are expected to seek re-election are E. Brown, G. A. Campbell, F. C. Casselman, D. A Grout and D. K. Knott.

Continuing members of council who have another year to serve, are H. J. Macdonald, M B. McColl, J. H. Ogilvie, S Parson and A. B. Paterson.

Retiring members of the Edmonton Public School Board are A. E. Ottewell, Dr. Walter Morrish, M.L.A., S. Bruce Smith, K.C., and George E. Gleave.

Continuing members are Mrs. W. J. Ross, W. G. McConachie and F. Armour Ford, K.C. Mr. Ford may not seek election again as he has enlisted for war duties and is a major in the Royal Canadian Artillery.

Tie-Pin Stolen

The Inquiring Reporter

What are you interested in? On what question would you like to get the opinions of your neighbors? The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter column will give you the answers. Send in your questions. For every timely, interesting question submitted and used in this column on public opinion, The Bulletin will pay $1. It must be timely; it must be interesting and it must be used.

THE QUESTION.

"Who do you think has the strongest will-power, a man or a woman?" Submitted by L[illegible] Niddrie, 9851 86 avenue, this question wins one of The Bulletin's dollar cash prizes.

THE ANSWERS:

JIM MORRIS, 11022 107 avenue: A lot of women are very contrary. They have more sales resistance but fool around a lot and ask a lot of questions before making up their minds what to buy. But a man — he knows right away what he wants. So I think the male has the stronger will-power.

"BUDDY" ARCHER, 11727 Jasper avenue: I would say the woman has the stronger will-power, naturally. Men don't seem to know when to stop eating, even. But women use better judgment in eating, as well as most other things. I might say, however, that I don't trust women drivers.

ART HENDERSON, 11026 89 avenue: Sure we have. Men can talk women into buying anything (women can talk themselves into it, as a matter of fact). But all the fair sex can do is talk each other out of buying something. A man buys a new hat when he needs one. But a lady—she must have every new creation in headgear (which is a very good thing for business, incidentally).

HELENE STEINBERG, 9717 111 street: I don't think all men have will-power, but some may. I have yet to meet this particular type. How about yourself? You seem to have a bit of will-power in getting this interview, Mr. Man.

COLLEGE STUDENT

Your child is probably now in college—seeking that mastery of fundamental knowledge that will mean so much happiness and success in later life. Obviously you have made every sacrifice in the interests of your child. As does every parent.

Sometimes, however, the neglect of one simple factor—eyesight—often spells the difference between brilliance and mediocrity.

Unfortunately, eyes are taken for granted. The facts about eyes are not known. Most parents are startled when it is explained that 27% of all college students—1 in every 4—is slowed up, held back, by nerve-straining, mind-dulling faulty vision. Poor eyes waste student energy, too.

But why "guess" about the eyes of your children. An inexpensive examination will give you the facts and set your mind at ease.

BRITAIN OPENS REGISTRATION ALL CIVILIANS

Britons To Soon Receive Identification Cards, Ration Books

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 30. — Behind darkened windows, millions of Britons last night filled out forms for the national registration scheme, recording vital facts about themselves and their families. A form must be turned in for every civilian in the entire country.

In return they will receive identity cards and — in a few weeks — ration books.

W. S. Morrison, the food minister, had good news for the tea-drinker. In a broadcast speech he said last night that huge stocks of tea ordinarily stored in the port of London have been gradually moved to various provincial centres. Stocks of meat and butter also have been distributed.

LARDER IS OKAY

Mr. Morrison told his nation-wide audience rationing would start in a few weeks, but added: "We shall have nothing to complain of in the state of our larder. The outlook is very different in Germany."

He said there certainly would be no waiting in queues and urged the people to cease laying up supplies for the future.

The national register will give information on capabilities of every Briton for national service in one capacity or another.

In the last war, control of food did not begin to take shape until 1917. Rationing of individuals was started Jan. 1, 1918.

In 1918 each consumer in London was registered with one retailer and each retailer was supplied with the approximate quantity of rationed articles necessary for his registered customers.

The plan did away with queues that in 1917 stood every Saturday before food stores.

BIG SUGAR PURCHASE

In this broadcast, after stating that the country has ample stocks of tea, meat and sugar, Mr Morrison added: "My ministry has just made arrangements, with the good will of Empire sugar producers, for the purchase of one year's requirements—more than 1,000,000 tons of sugar."

The ministry also has taken measures to intensify production of jar preserves, he said. Consumers will have to accept margarine if supplies of foreign butter run short.

LOEWENSTEIN SAYS GERMANS MIGHT REVOLT

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. — Prince Hubertus zu Loewenstein, widely known lecturer and exiled former leader of the Catholic party in Germany, arriving Thursday on the United States liner President Roosevelt, told reporters "increasing despair" of the German people since the war started would cause them to revolt against Fuehrer Hitler within a few months if they thought the Allies then would give them a "decent" peace treaty.

Prince Hubertus said he had been in touch with German anti-Hitler leaders in Paris and Berlin, "through secret channels" in the latter city. Many German army deserters had fled to Switzerland and Belgium, he said.

If Russia goes no farther, Prince Hubertus was convinced, the Allies will win the war, because of Germany's shortage of resources and the prospect of internal dissension. If Russia joined Hitler in the war, "the end cannot be foreseen," he said.

He believed, however, that it was "not impossible" for Russia soon to be opposing Germany and joining the Allies.

It's 'Business As Usual' In Shops In War-Time London

By MILTON BRONNER
Bulletin Foreign Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The b[illegible] London shops are trying to carry on business as usual. In this they have the government's blessing.

Many of the eligible men clerks will be called to the colors as the war goes on, but if the shops were to close now, it would throw out of employment many males under 18 and thousands of women. Such a situation, of course, is to be avoided.

The snag is that people have been advised to keep off the streets as much as possible, due to the danger of air raids. To meet this, many of the big shops have established their own air raid quarters where both clerks and customers can take shelter in case of an air raid during shopping hours.

Articles most in demand are electric flash lamps (and extra batteries), containers to carry gas masks, dark cloth for black-out curtains, first aid kits, safety pins. There is no extra run on the food shops, because storing up more food than usual is now forbidden.

DEFENSE MEASURES FORCE EARLY CLOSING

In many cases the bigger firms have agreed, for the time being, that their places of business shall be kept open on week-days from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. A fair number, however, have already announced they will close all day Saturday.

When the early dusk of later autumn and winter comes, the shops will readjust their closing hours. They may even shut as early as 4 p.m. This would enable shoppers and clerks to get home before the intenser blackout occurs.

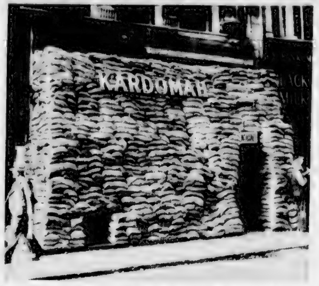
Another reason for early closing is that bus, underground, street car and taxi services will be curtailed as much as possible. It would be undesirable to have long queues of people waiting for transport accommodations long after dark.

RESTAURANTS STILL CHEERFUL PLACES

The brightest spots in town are the restaurants and cocktail bars of the big hotels. Outside, all is blackness when night falls. Inside, far away from the street, all is brightness and cheer. Service as usual, but with properly curtailed menus to discourage wastefulness. Music so far, as usual.

News items recently announced most of the big hotels had made extensive preparations for the safety of their patrons in case of air raids. They have fire wardens on every floor, signs indicating the way to shelters and specially strong rooms rigged up for shelter. In some hotels nurses and doctors are also standing by.

Because of the dearth of advertisements and also because of the government's desire to conserve supplies of print paper, most of the newspapers have already cut down their size to a standard eight pages.



Behind its heavily sand-bagged front this London cafe goes on dispensing bottled cheer in September, 1939.

Tiny "Postage Stamp" Principality Feeling Pinch War Blockade

VADUZ, Liechtenstein, Sept. 30. —Liechtenstein, Europe's "postage stamp" principality, felt the pinch of war today.

While most of western Europe mobilized or took military precautions when war began, Liechtenstein, her 65 square miles sandwiched between Switzerland and Germany, did little more than thank her lucky stars that she was linked closely with Switzerland after Austria became part of Germany.

Armed Swiss customs guards patrolled Liechtenstein's mountainous frontier. Liechtenstein has no army.

Germans [illegible] their border control, last night [illegible] the principality's 10,000 inhabitants who have been accustomed to graze their cattle in German fields to remain in their own meadows.

War has hit the principality's two main sources of income—the sale of postage stamps and taxes from great holding companies drawn to Liechtenstein by liberal corporation laws.

In 1914, linked with the Austro-Hungarian customs system, Liechtenstein was hit by the same blockade which struck the central powers. Since January, 1924, Liechtenstein has been included in the Swiss customs union.

Liechtenstein has watched with greatest interest Switzerland's effort to preserve neutrality and retain economic independence, for as Switzerland goes, so goes Liechtenstein.

British postmen have their shoes soled and heeled every five weeks and buy at least two working pairs annually.

Our Old Country Letter — By J. E. Norcross

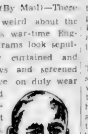
LONDON, Eng., (By Mail)—There is something weird about the appearance of this war-time England. Trains and trams look sepulchral with their curtained and blackened windows and screened light bulbs. Police on duty wear steel helmets and have their gas-masks slung about their shoulders. Sand-bags are piled up about post-offices, police and fire stations and other public buildings.



J. E. Norcross

We are learning to carry our gas-masks wherever we go. If we leave them behind the police may remind us of it and tell us to go back and get them. The King and Queen are setting an example. They are never seen in public without theirs and pictures of cabinet ministers and other prominent persons show that they, too, are carrying them.

Most of us are content with the cardboard boxes provided for them by the government, but already more ornate receptacles are beginning to appear and West End millinery firms are putting highly decorative specimens on the market.

It is at night that the difference between these and ordinary times is most perceptible. Cinemas and other places of amusement are closed. Neon lights no longer shine. The black-out is now compulsory everywhere and the streets are dark and dismal. Let one show so much as a chink of light over the top of the heavy curtains one has had to put up and a policeman speedily knocks at one's door to tell one about it. "It will be a fine next time," he says.

There has been fines already. There are always some people who simply will not obey the law and who insist on doing as they like on their own premises. Some of these have been sharply reminded by $10 and $15 and even $75 penalties that they, like the rest of us, are more or less under military discipline now.

Uniforms are seen everywhere. Trained nurses and first-aid workers flit about. Territorials and militiamen pass along clad in garments that seem as if they were intended for mechanics when at work—but, then, the soldier of today, of course, has to be very much a mechanic.

Here in our street and in many similar streets there has been a metamorphosis. Our street is a quiet street, or, rather, was a quiet street. The residents are most people who are getting on in years and the children who used to make it lively have gone away to homes of their own. There are not more than half-a-dozen children left in its whole length who belong to it. But it is lively enough now. For its homes are the very homes in which there are vacant rooms, owing to the exodus of young people who have married, available for the evacuees. So the street is lively again and noisy with the shrill voices of little strangers from afar.

There has been another metamorphosis where they come from. There, it is said, the streets are [illegible]. The East End of London seems dead. A Pied Piper has led its children away.

The extent of the advance preparations for war on the civil side has astonished the country. It seems as if somebody had just pressed a button and everything had begun to move.

More than a score of emergency bills were ready for parliament and were passed through all their stages, sent to the Lords and given the Royal Assent, the most important of them in the course of a few hours of one day, the rest within the next day or two.

Within three or four days of the declaration of war parliament had finished its work along this line and had adjourned until the middle of the following week. It had accomplished in legislation more than had been done in the first two years of the Great War.

Hundreds of millions of documents must have been ready for issue for leaflets of instructions to the public, forms to be used in various connections, such as evacuation, air raids precautions and food control, and other printed matter have simply rained down on the country from Whitehall.

Prices of foods, such as tea, sugar and meat have been fixed, control has been taken of stocks of cereals and cereal products, and even the arrangements for the provision of milk for evacuated children have been worked out.

Apparently, too, the government has taken care that there should be plenty of food in the country. Hoarding is forbidden but people are told that there is no necessity for it anyway. There is food enough for everybody for some time to come and every prospect that supplies will be maintained.

● In this highly competitive age, only the necessary and indispensable survive—there is no place for, nor patience with, fifth wheels.

Down through the years, as the result of exacting demands, the present local implement retail outlet has evolved as the most efficient and valuable contact between farmer-customer and implement maker.

It is doubtful if, in any other line of business, the man at the retail end renders as technically expert and helpful service to his customers at so low a cost as does the local Implement Dealer. This, while it has always been so, has greater significance in these days of more highly mechanized farming, calling for training and experience in the servicing of modern machines.

His experience with machines enables him to give time and money-saving service in the speedy furnishing of the correct part when repairs and replacements are required—for delays in seeding, haying or harvesting may result in substantial loss to the farmer. In those crucial seasons his warehouse is open practically at all times, and he is untiring in playing his part to prevent farmers suffering from delays.

His accumulated knowledge of methods being used and of the experiences of the many farmers he calls on and associates with makes his advice helpful and valuable.

He is generally a highly respected citizen—active in promoting the highest interest of his local community. He is a tax-payer. And more than likely his whole life has been devoted to the business he is in . . . it is his livelihood.

Difficult times, especially for farmers, have subjected to criticism most of our established institutions. Prices of all things are relatively high when purchasing power is curtailed. Distribution, which most naturally accounts for a seemingly high percentage of the cost of things, is felt to be excessive. When taken apart, however, each of the items represents necessary services, none of which is found to be overly profitable. Farm Implement Dealers do not enjoy margins which yield more than a reasonable and moderate living.

Since the early pioneering days, through all the vicissitudes of farming, the Implement Dealer has shared the hardships as well as the fortunes of farmers, rendering a worth-while service, establishing a well-founded place for himself in our economic scheme, and so nobly acquitting himself—A Most Valuable Citizen.

Wichita Promise Classic Title Series

SOMETHING like 500 fans saw the Wichita Thurstons and Grads work out at the Arena last night in preparation for the opening of their best of five games series for international honors tonight—and all of the said 500 fans went home satisfied that the U.S. girls will give the world champions one of the stiffest battles they have yet had.

Coach Buddy Reynolds has smoothed out his Thurstons a lot since they played here a year ago. They were good enough then to extend the Grads, but they lacked familiarity with boys' rules. That lack of familiarity appears to have been overcome during the last year, for the Wichita girls were handling themselves last night with the same confident poise that the world champions have.

The invaders ran through several smart drills that got a big hand from the railbirds, while their practice [illegible] chalantly as if they were tossing [illegible] These Thurstons are great ball handlers and use a lot of razzle-dazzle stuff in their offensive.

Coach Reynolds was cautious about committing himself.

"I [illegible] better than they were last season, but I'm not making any forecasts just now about how the series will [illegible] declared. We've naturally tried to adapt our offensive and defensive [illegible]

Everything was serene in the Grad camp last night. Coach Percy Page announced that he would use the same seven girls that [illegible] against Des Moines recently—Noel MacDonald, Mabel Munton, Etta Dann, Jean Williamson, Sophie Brown, Winnie Gallen and Kay MacRitchie. While her knee injury is well [illegible] permit her to play, it was only the other day that the doctor gave her an O.K. and she has not been able to get in any practice.

"I'm satisfied that the Wichita girls are [illegible] finest teams we have [illegible] here," Coach Percy Page [illegible] night. "I mean that in every way—they are exceptionally fine players, exceptionally well coached and splendid types of girls. I expect that this series will be fitting finale to the Grads' 25 years of basketball if we finally decide to disband. Certainly the Thurstons are going to be harder to beat than any team we have brought here this season unless all indications are cock-eyed.

"Our own girls are all in perfect condition and determined to maintain their international honors regardless of what decision may be reached later on the question of disbanding. The public is giving us splendid support on tonight's game to judge from the advance ticket sale and I can assure the [illegible]

BEAUDIN DEFEATS McSPORRAN IN EIGHT ROUNDS

This Nag Johnstown Provides Grand Music

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press, Special to The Bulletin)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Johnstown runs in the Lawrence Realization Stake at Belmont park Saturday and I, for one, wouldn't miss going out to hear him. Yes, "hear" him. If all reports concerning the Derby winner are true, his sound effects as he thunders along the backstretch and bangs down toward the wire must be wonderful to hear.

The first hint of Johnstown's musical accomplishments came back in July when a clocker, timing him in a morning workout, said he had developed a delightful whistle, not unlike that of Bing Crosby or Morton Downey.

Not long after, when the Woodward colt was working for the Arlington classic in Chicago, a stablehand revealed that Johnstown had added to his repertoire and sounded exactly like a saxaphone after running three-quarters of a mile.

"It's the prettiest music I've heard since they broke up the Boswell sisters," the stablehand told friends.

A VIRTUOSO, BY GUM!

But the real flood of reports on Johnstown's ability to create music while he ran started after his performance in the classic, which saw him beaten, and badly, by Challedon and Sun Lover. Of the 40,000 spectators that day more than half were amazed, and then delighted, by this equine virtuoso.

One man said Fritz Kreisler at his best brought forth no sweeter violin sounds than did the Woodward colt as he rounded into the far turn. Another swore he distinctly heard Johnstown play the overture to William Tell as he galloped past the judges' stand. A woman from Hattiesburg, Miss., with a strong love for the south, surprised those around her by waving a tattered Confederate flag. She explained that Johnstown had played Dixie shortly after the start of the race. Owner Woodward and Trainer "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons have been reluctant to discuss the matter. They admitted to the whistle, I believe, but would go no further. Either the other reports aren't true of Fitzsimmons is keeping Johnstown talent a secret until he completes vaudeville arrangements for his charge.

TOSCANINI FAVORED

Johnstown's jockey for the Lawrence Realization has not been announced as yet, but there is a rumor going around that Arturo Toscanini, famed Italian maestro, will have a leg up. Toscanini would be a happy choice if all the stories of Johnstown's accomplishments are true. No better man could be chosen to "conduct" Johnstown during the mile and five furlongs route. He is light (my guess is that he would weigh in at about 108); he has a great pair of hands, and can handle the baton like no one else. I hope he is chosen and that as he brings Johnstown down in front by two or three lengths he and the colt will favor us with some appropriate selection like, say, the Grand March from Aida.

Johnstown's performance in the Realization will furnish a pretty true line on his condition and whether or not he will be ready to challenge Challedon in the Pimlico special at Alfred Vanderbilt's track in Baltimore Nov. 1. With Eight Thirty definitely out of the race, the special looks as if it will be another of those two-horse grudge affairs of a year ago when Seabiscuit conquered War Admiral.

Swing it, Johnstown!

"OLD POISON" RETIRES FROM HOCKEY SCENE

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Vern DeGeer in his sports column in the Globe and Mail said today Nels Stewart, centre ice veteran for New York Americans last winter and one of the greatest players in the history of the National Hockey league, has announced his retirement.

DeGeer said Stewart, known as "Old Poison," admitted his retirement here yesterday.

"I've had 12 years of it in the National league," Stewart is quoted as saying. "I'm no chicken any more and it's time I hung up my skates. I have my release from New York Americans."

DeGeer said: "A recent whisper out of Montreal mentioned Stewart as one of the possible selections as manager of the Canadiens for next winter," but that Stewart said he knew nothing of such a selection.

Jean Pusie Signs With Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 30. — Jean Pusie, former National Hockey league player with the New York Rangers, will appear with the Vancouver Lions in the Pacific Coast Hockey league this season, Manager Guy Patrick announced Friday.

Pusie was obtained from the St. Louis Flyers of the International-American league in a trade for Defenceman Jimmy Arnott and, according to Patrick, a "large sum" of cash.

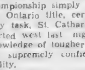
More than 800,000 members are enrolled in the Itinerant Workers' Union, Hoboes of America.

St. Catharines Start on Western Boxla Invasion

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 30.—Having gained the eastern lacrosse championship simply by winning the Ontario title, certainly not an easy task, St. Catharines Athletics started west last night with full knowledge of tougher games ahead but supremely confident in their ability.

The Athletics are Canadian senior champions, holders of the coveted Mann Cup, and they make no bones about their confidence of retaining the title against the best in the west. They'll get their first test against Elmwood Pats, Manitoba champions in Winnipeg. If successful they'll go on to Medicine Hat, Alta., to engage the Alberta champions, then to Vancouver for the final against the British Columbia winners.

The west will see the same swift-passing, hard-shooting gang, with only one exception, which downed New Westminster Adanacs in the final at Toronto last year. The newcomer is George Coles, who played previously with Orillia Terriers and caught on to the Athletics' style fast enough to make a place as a regular in his first season.



DOGS

by P. Hamilton Goodsell

PUBLIC SALE OF DOGS

A public sale of dogs has always been, to me, a pathetic sight, particularly the one conducted weekly just outside the gates of Paris. While some of the vendors and buyers are, of course, dealers pure and simple, the majority of the former are poorer folk who, through necessity, are forced to dispose of a well-loved pet. Frequently one sees poor workmen or women come there fully resolved to sell his or her dog for a little much-needed cash, only to find themselves at the last moment unable so to break the strong ties of love and loyalty. I am not over sentimental, but I cannot conceive of ever selling a dog that had been my faithful friend and companion. I do not know whether the human heart can break, as we say, from sorrow, but I do know that a dog taken from a loved master can die of grief. Therefore, I claim it is far more humane if, as sometimes happens, one can no longer keep one's canine pal, to have it painlessly put away, rather than to sell it or give it away, perhaps thus condemning it to a life of unhappiness.

If anyone should try to tell you that a dog cannot feel heartache, or that it is a case of "off with the old, on with the new," just tell him he has another guess coming! I speak from the experience of over sixty years' companionship with many different breeds.

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE INVENTOR OF CONSCRIPTION: Jean-Baptiste Jourdan (1762-1833), Marshal of France and Peer of the Empire, resigned his commission as commander-in-chief three times to return to his original vocation as a dry goods merchant. But apart from that, he had a deeper influence upon our life than almost any other man. For the first time in the history of mankind, he conceived and introduced the Law of General Conscription, which made every man a soldier according to his age. This law, passed by France in 1798, was soon introduced in all the other continental states, making possible the new warfare with armies of millions, entailing millions of casualties, instead of the thousands which were customary before. Even the United States and England had to adopt conscription as a result of the Great War.

Bill McKechnie's Reds May Avenge Routing of His 1928 St. Louis Team

By BILL RITT
(Central Press, Exclusive to The Bulletin)

CINCINNATI, Sept. 30. — Mr. William McKechnie, grim-faced Scot who pilots the destinies of the rollicking Cincinnati Reds, is about to get his great chance for revenge. And if Mr. McKechnie is thinking about revenge — his thoughts must be grim indeed. For vengeance, for him, has been long delayed—11 long years, in fact.

Mr. McKechnie has been managing National league ball clubs off and on since 1922. And in that time he's had plenty of ups (such as defeating the Washington Senators in the 1925 world series), and downs (such as the year 1935, when his Boston Braves lost 115 games, the National league's record all-time low), but his bitterest baseball moment must have been that day when the New York Yankees crushed his St. Louis Cardinals to earth for the fourth straight time.

That was back in 1928, and a great Yankee machine, having tasted blood by annihilating the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1927 in four straight, made Mr. McKechnie and his Cards look positively minor leaguish by smashing them for four straight defeats.

COST HIM JOB

Bill felt especially bad about that because he had just entered that niche in baseball's hall of fame strictly reserved for managers who win a major league pennant in their first year with a team. That beating also led to McKechnie's dismissal in mid-season of the next year.

For the next eight years McKechnie toiled long and hard, utilizing his fine capabilities as manager to bring a pennant to Boston but, despite his admitted fine ability as a pilot, he could not raise the Braves (now known as the Bees), above fourth place.

Bill finally left Boston and accepted the task of managing the up-and-coming Cincinnati Reds last season. He brought the club in fourth, and around Crosley Field the rabid pennant-starved fans began to smell a flag.

BILL McKECHNIE
. . . the Reds are his third National League flag winners. Maybe Bill can avenge what the Yankees did to his 1928 Cardinals this year.

This year he quickly brought his Reds up to the league leadership and he kept them there, with more than able assistance from his players, despite repeated challenges by the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

Here is McKechnie's managerial record since he first took over the reins of the Pittsburgh Pirates for the last half of the 1922 season:

Year	Team	Position
1922	Pittsburgh (a)	Third
1923	Pittsburgh	Third
1924	Pittsburgh	Third
1925	Pittsburgh (b)	Won
1926	Pittsburgh	Third
1927	In retirement.
1928	St. Louis (c)	Won
1929	St. Louis (d)	Fourth
1930	Boston	Sixth
1931	Boston	Seventh
1932	Boston	Fifth
1933	Boston	Fourth
1934	Boston	Fourth
1935	Boston	Eighth
1936	Boston	Sixth
1937	Boston	Fifth
1938	Cincinnati	Fourth
1939	Cincinnati	Won

NOTE: (a)—Became manager in mid-season, succeeding George Gibson. (b)—Defeated Washington in world series. (c)—Lost to Yankees in world series. (d)—Succeeded by Billy Southworth in mid-season.

So, after 11 years, Mr. McKechnie has caught up with those Yankees and his big chance to even the score with the club that was so downright mean to him back in 1928.

Of [illegible] ferent Yankee team [illegible] will play in the 1939 [illegible] than the machine wh[illegible] American [illegible] pennants back in '27 and [illegible] Lou Gehrig, the only regular of the old Yankees still in uniform is on the bench and won't play.

However, if McKechnie can turn the tables and slaughter the Yankees in a surprising upset, the baseball world will forget all about what happened to him and the Cards in 1928.

A Yankee defeat in the world series this year is unthinkable to American league fans. But if the history of 1914 in Europe can and is repeating itself today, perhaps baseball history of 1914 can do the same.

It was back in 1914, you remember, when the lowly Boston Braves came out of nowhere to kill off Connie Mack's great Philadelphia Athletics in four straight world series games. And the A's of that ancient day dominated the baseball world as much as do the Yankees today.

Four straight for the Reds [illegible] the Yanks. Well—a man can have his dreams, can't he?

REDS TALKING BABY THOMPSON INTO HERO ROLE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30.—Cincinnati Reds have begun steaming up Junior Thompson, the 22-year-old "baby" of their mound staff, to beat New York Yankees in his world series game.

That is all the National Baseball League champions figure they will need—one victory by their freshman star—to upset all the dope and give them the big end of the series money.

So they are working hard on the young Swede, who only a year ago was pitching for the Columbia club in the class "B" Sally league. Forty times since the league title was clinched Thursday at Cincinnati Thompson has heard this:

"You're the guy to beat those Yankees, Junior. You've got exactly the stuff those guys don't like. You're a cinch to lick them once, and maybe twice."

The idea is simple enough. The Reds think Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer can at least break even with the Yanks, each of them pitching twice during the series. But they feel they must have another winner, and Junior has been elected.

WINNIPEG LACROSSE

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30.—Winnipeg Elmwood Pats won the Manitoba senior lacrosse championship last night, defeating Winnipeg West Ends 10-9 in the third game of a best of three series. Pats will meet Orillia Baby Terriers, eastern champions, in a sudden-death playoff here.

SASKATCHEWAN JUNIORS OPEN HOCKEY PLANS

REGINA, Sept. 30.—An undercurrent of activity in junior hockey ranks in the southern part of Saskatchewan is eddying up toward the surface and some concrete developments are expected during the next week or 10 days.

Three teams that formed a league last winter—Regina Abbotts, Moose Jaw Canucks and Wilcox Dames—have been casting about in the last few weeks for good hockey ivory and all three clubs have a pretty fair idea of their lineups for this winter, although they are saying nothing at the moment.

What is going on in the north has not been [illegible] yet, although hockey moguls are expected to do something about the junior situation which slipped to a low ebb last winter.

Moose Jaw Canucks won the southern league title last winter and went to Prince Albert where they copped the provincial championship. Further campaigning was brought to an end at Edmonton where the team lost out in the playoffs.

Saskatoon had the makings of a good junior club last winter but it failed to function and efforts to line up a good team will undoubtedly be made this fall.

The three southern teams will form a league this winter and there is talk of including Saskatoon, but that move remains in doubt for the present. Long hops for junior teams to play schedule games are pretty well out of the question because of the cost of the trips.

Ex-Montrealer Has Edge in Punching

CALGARY, Sept. 30.—One of the classiest punchers ever to step into a Calgary ring, Ronnie "Frenchy" Beaudin, ex-Montrealer, last night spotted Eddie McSporran of Edmonton, 11 pounds and then aggressively slowed him down to score an eight-round decision which may earn him a crack at "Kid" Dalke, Saskatoon, western Canada middleweight champion.

Promoter Ernie Farr announced the winner of the main event would meet Dalke in a bout here soon with the title at stake. Beaudin, the 141-pound artist who is making his home here, never conceded a round to the husky smiling northerner who was forced to give a brilliant defensive display against a body attack in the late stages. McSporran weighed in at 152.

In the opening [illegible] sparred warily. But in the second round, Beaudin won his way into the hearts of 900 fans as he turned on smart footwork to sidestep McSp[illegible] tered with several hard punches, including one jarring right uppercut.

Switzerland Relies On Army To Safeguard Neutrality

Believing in preparedness Switzerland recently organized its army for greater efficiency. With a population of 4,066,400 Switzerland maintains proportionately the largest armed force in Europe, at the largest per capita military expenditure of any country in the world. The Swiss army now number 500,000 men and half this number can be mobilized overnight. Every able-bodied Swiss male is eligible to do military service from his 20th to his 48th year. A recent decree extends the liability to serve in the Swiss army in an emergency up to the age of 60. Since the Swiss army has no general in peace time, the Federal Assembly, convening in war emergency on August 30, elected Colonel Henri Guison, inset, as head of the Swiss army. Sinkings By Submarines 'Legal' If Lives Are Saved —Sketches by Bulletin and NEA Service Staff Artist Harry Grissinger.

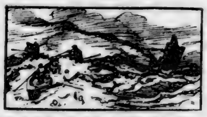
Since the war started 52 British, French and neutral merchant and passenger ships have been sunk by German submarines. The sinking of ships is not in itself a violation of international law, if done in accordance with a five-power protocol accepted by Germany in 1936. Under these rules of restricted submarine warfare, sinkings are not held justifiable unless the ship either resists or refuses to stop on command, or, if it does stop, until safety of passengers and crew, and ship's papers is assured. England is protesting that many of the sinkings laid to Nazi submarines were done in a manner outlawed by international law. Particularly, the British charge the sinking of the passenger liner Athenia was a "most horrible example." The Germans disclaim responsibility. No rules apply, of course, to sinkings of war vessels like the aircraft carrier Courageous. Sketch above illustrates a sinking—"illegal" if the ship obeyed the submarine's commands, but "legal" if the ship resisted or tried to run. The sketches below illustrate the rules governing "legal" sinkings of merchant ships at sea.



Sinking of merchant ships with all hands held justified only if it refuses persistently to stop on command or resists visit or search.

Ships that halt on command may be sunk only if passengers, crew and ship's papers first are placed in a place of safety by attacking submarine.

Ship's boats not regarded as a "place of safety" unless safety is assured in view of weather conditions, by proximity of land or rescue vessels.

Traditionally Neutral, Holland Prepares Repulse Invasion

One of the world's most peaceful countries, Holland, has been forced by threat of German invasion to take measures to safeguard her territorial integrity. To meet the threat of a Nazi invasion, dykes have been opened, borders lined with pill boxes and anti-aircraft stations have been set up at strategic points. Reports from France indicate that the area around Utrecht has already been inundated. An anti-aircraft gun crew is seen in action, upper left, while General Baron Voorst, commander-in-chief of Holland's armed forces, left, observes border defence preparations, upper right. With him is General Snyder. The Dutch frontier is dotted with innumerable pill boxes containing machine guns and anti-tank guns, lower left. A view of a defence trench, right on the water's edge in the harbor of Scheveningue, is shown, lower right.

Belgium's "Maginot Line" Guards Frontiers

If the German armies attempt to use Belgium as the backdoor to France as they did in 1914 and as the Allied general staffs fear they may do again, they will find themselves up against a much tougher Belgium than the heroic little country that managed to stem the German invasion for two valuable weeks in the last World War. A string of steel and concrete forts now runs from the Alps to the North Sea. A soldier is shown manning an anti-tank gun, upper left, in a casemate of one of the forts that form the Belgian version of the French Maginot line, while a sentry, upper right, is posted on one of the mountains of steel. Protecting the line from tank attacks, "asparagus beds," lower left, made up of steel rails, are placed well in front of the fortifications. After taking their turn at guard duties, Belgian soldiers are shown leaving one of the frontier fortifications, lower right, for a spell of rest.

In 'Uniform'

Wearing a U.S. uniform at last—but one reserved for military prisoners — Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, World War draft dodger, is pictured at Governor's Island, New York. Already serving a 5-year sentence for desertion, he faces court martial on additional charges of "escape".

Case Of The Gandhi Table

A Bulletin Short Story Complete On This Page Every Saturday

By Marie Brett-Perring

WE called it "The Case of the Gandhi Table" because of an absurd joke I made . . . But that's not the beginning of the tale.

When I was unexpectedly offered the use of a charming flat in Nice, with a colored servant thrown in, for a fortnight's holiday, I accepted with alacrity, hurried from London to the south of France in time to see my American benefactress off on a Mediterranean cruise and settled down to two weeks' undiluted rest and enjoyment.

All Secret Service matters seemed to have receded into the dim past, but I was not unduly surprised when an old associate, Col. Andre Asselin, who had since these far off days become Commissaire Special in Nice, looked me up.

He seemed somewhat worried but took a lively interest in the furnishings of the flat and in the excellent meal offered him. It was probably sheer coincidence that he at once noticed the coffee table on which stood our cups and glasses of liqueur.

"Quaint article," he remarked, and it was then that I could not resist placing the silly wisecrack which gave its name to a baffling mystery.

"D'you mean my Gandhi table?" I asked innocently in English.

"Gandhi? Why Gandhi?" he was mystified.

"All legs and no drawers," I retorted promptly, and he laughed dutifully.

"This is mine," I explained, "at least temporarily. Mirza Hassan Bey has given up his house at Cap Martin, moved to the Negresco and entrusted me with this precious table of his. You remember Hassan Bey, don't you?"

He grunted and bent over the intriguing piece of furniture. It was a thick, square slab of inlaid olive wood, supported by four partly uncoiled snakes, whose amazingly realistic heads reared themselves at the corners. Just large enough to hold a medium sized tray and low enough to be conveniently used as a coffee table.

"There ought to be a hidden drawer somewhere here—it is quite thick enough for that," he mused, then he straightened himself up and looked at me. "In fact," he said, "I want to talk to you about Hassan Bey. . . . When did he give you that table?"

"Why—yesterday—and a jolly fuss he made about it, too—brought it himself in a taxi and made me swear I'll guard it faithfully until he claims it . . . ."

Colonel Suspected Hassan Bey Was Up To Something

"Hum," said the Colonel. "Eh bien, but you have known Hassan Bey for years—if I remember rightly, you enrolled him in the anti-Bolshevik game in Paris some time ago and he made a tremendous success of it. Now, let us see if you can make anything of the following puzzle:

"Hassan Bey, who settled in this district five years ago, suddenly gives up his villa at Cap Martin; lets it for a year and moves to the Negresco. Almost simultaneously, Grigori Prokurovsky of the Soviet Embassy in Paris comes on holiday to Monte Carlo. Halim Pasha of the Turkish War Office has arrived two days ago at Beaulieu and Sir Percival Hanwell of the Foreign Office has taken up his quarters at the Mont Agel Golf Hotel. Does that convey any meaning to you?"

"Nothing that makes sense. Even a Bolshevik may enjoy a vacation in Monte. Halim Pasha is, I know, fond of the Riviera, as for Sir Percival, why, he is often at Mont Agel, isn't he?"

The Colonel shook his head moodily.

"Hassan Bey is up to something," he said. "And those three men are after him. I know that much. Why should he have given up his villa and entrusted you with that one small table, when he left everything else in the house?

"We all know the part he played immediately after the Bolshevik revolution, how he set up some small, short-lived republic, of which he was President, in Asiatic Russia, then fled to France when the famous Aturbekov was sent from Moscow to clear him out. Then, under your guidance, he becomes a GPU spy in Paris and plays ducks and drakes with that service . . . ."

Mandy, the colored maid, sidled into the room, her eyes rolling and gestured eagerly to me, pointing to the window.

"Dis man hyah is still a-watching de doah . . . ." she whispered dramatically.

Colonel Asselin gave her one sharp glance, rose and limped to the window. "Mandy is right," he said drily, "there's a man patrolling the opposite side of the street. Not a competent watcher, either; he gives himself away by his too-nonchalant attitude."

Mandy nodded vigorously. "Yassuh, Cun'l," she said. "Dis mohning dat man hyah gib me a tol'able shock, dere he was an' he sez Ahm to go wid him an' he gib me a nice time . . . ."

The door bell rang shrilly and Mandy departed to answer it. She returned a moment later with a note on a salver.

I read it hurriedly, then handed it to the Colonel.

"Dear Madame," he read aloud. "Will you do me one more favor? I am leaving in a hurry and wish to take my favorite coffee table with me. Could you have it packed ready for the messenger who will call first thing tomorrow morning? With all my thanks and respects—Mirza Hassan Bey."

"The letter is on the Negresco stationery," the Colonel commented. "It is Hassan's handwriting, isn't it?"

"The trouble is," I said, "that I do not know his handwriting at all . . . ."

The Colonel lifted the telephone receiver from the stand at his elbow and asked for the Negresco number. I watched him intently as he spoke. Presently he turned to me and there was a frown between his eyes.

"Listen," he said, "it seems that Hassan Bey left suddenly this evening around 7 o'clock, by car, for an undisclosed destination. He checked out, in fact. The manager knows nothing about him having sent a note here before he left, but will investigate. It is now nearly 10 o'clock. Had it been sent by him, the letter should have reached you much earlier . . . ."

"Then what?" I argued. "Hassan is free to come and go as he likes, I presume. He did not ask you to look after him, did he? What's it all about anyway?"

"This," the Colonel settled back in his chair and stared into space. "Paris advises me that Hassan Bey has been, for years, collecting documents detrimental to the Soviets; confidential documents smuggled out of Russia. It is known that Three Powers are after these papers: England, Turkey and naturally Soviet Russia. Well, Paris too wants that loot. Now do you understand?"

The jangle of the telephone bell interrupted him. He reached for the instrument and said, "Hello!" then covered the mouthpiece with his hand and whispered, "For you—a man—very foreign accent."

"Yes—speaking," I said and listened for a moment, then: "Sorry, I do not know what you refer to . . unless you mean a table I bought from Mira Hassan Bey when he gave up his house? But then, he cannot have forgotten that he sold it to me. . . . No—that is quite out of the question——" and I slammed the receiver down.

"Listen, Colonel," I said, "you may be right after all. Everybody seems to be after that table. A man has been watching the house ever since Hassan brought the article here. There is the note and the messenger coming tomorrow. Now, this latest development—an alleged friend of Hassan's who says that he had instructions to take charge of the table and, upon learning that I had bought it offers to buy it back, at my price. Where do we go from here?"

"After Hassan, undoubtedly. Meanwhile, you'll have to accept the company of an agent de police for the night, my dear. If all those people are after the table, an attempt might be made to get hold of it. You are not safe alone here with Mandy—unless you prefer to move to an hotel?"

An hour later a sturdy representative of the French law was comfortably established on a couch in the vestibule, to the great joy of Mandy, who was instructed to provide him with sandwiches and a bottle of wine. Before leaving, the Colonel examined the mysterious table again, and if there was any secret receptacle in it, it remained inviolate, for no amount of probing disclosed it.

Entered Colonel's Office Unannounced

The following morning, when Mandy had gone shopping, the bodyguard, who had been sumptuously fed and fawned upon by her, assured me that he'd watch faithfully and never let anybody in, and I went out in turn.

The Rue de la Croix de Marbe, in spite of its proximity to the Promenade des Anglais, is narrow and unpretentious. It was almost deserted. On the opposite pavement a flower seller, her pushcart piled high with fragrant wares, was arguing with a prospective customer. I walked briskly to the corner, hailed a cab and gave the address of the Prefecture de Police.

When I entered the Colonel's office unannounced, I saw he had a visitor and made to withdraw, but he waived me in and said: "Come in, ma chere . . . . Let me introduce Sir Percival Hanwell, of whom we were talking last night . . . ."

We shook hands and the slight sandy-haired man with the eyeglass scrutinized me with unfeigned interest.

The secret drawer disclosed—but a single sheet of note paper.

"I have no secrets from Madame," the Colonel began and Sir Percival waved the explanation aside.

"I understand," he said in his precise voice, "I have heard of Madame——"

"Sir Percival has had his car stolen last night," the Colonel answered my questioning glance.

"London license X-Y 37-1095, a dark blue Panhard limousine, last seen at 7 P.M. last night, when it called at the Negresco for Mirza Hassan Bey," I recited glibly, for I had ascertained this from the hall porter of the hotel, after the Colonel left me on the previous evening and now I was putting two and two together. "Now, Sir Percival, don't you think it would be better to give us all the facts?"

"Listen," I proceeded as he hesitated and fidgeted, "this may be a matter of political moment and secrecy to you, but you must remember where you are and that we too are bound to secrecy. We know that your Government is after the papers in the possession of Hassan Bey—we know also that you have been in touch with him for some time.

"Last night, as I reconstructed the story, you had at last arranged an interview with him and you sent your car to fetch him. It is not only the disappearance of the car but that of Hassan Bey as well that you have to report. Correct me if I am wrong."

Sir Percival toyed with his eyeglass and his frown deepened. "Admirably summed up," he conceded, "though I fail to see how you could have reconstructed the story so clearly. Now I have no choice but to be quite frank.

"Hassan Bey had actually in his possession documents of a very secret nature. These are of paramount significance to the colonial policies of Great Britain. After several years of arguing and bargaining, Hassan Bey has let us know, at long last, that having complete the secret dossier he was willing to negotiate for the transfer of these documents to our Foreign Office.

We discovered Rocca, his face in his hands, rocking backwards and forwards, moaning and cursing in turn.

"Last night I sent my car for the man, as arranged previously. A slight mishap on the outskirts of Nice made it necessary for my chauffeur to stop and there was a somewhat lengthy argument with the driver of a lorry involved in the mishap. When my chauffeur thought of explaining the delay to his passenger and looked into the car, he found it empty. He then went to a near-by cafe to telephone me and when he came out again the car had vanished. That is the whole story as far as I am concerned."

Nor was anything more constructive elicited from questioning the chauffeur. The mishap had occurred in one of the dark, tortuous streets running alongside of the half-dry Paillon River. There could be no notion of a kidnapping having been engineered by the driver of the lorry which had obstructed the passage of the Panhard in the narrow street, for the driver, after moving his cumbersome vehicle had joined in the search for the missing passenger.

Speedily found and pulled in, the driver of the lorry corroborated the story of the chauffeur in every detail. The fact remained that Mirza Hassan Bey and Sir Percival's limousine had vanished into thin air.

Became Pally With Dour Sir Percival

The various questionings and investigations took the best part of two hours and during that time I had become quite pally with the somewhat dour-looking Sir Percival. So much so indeed that he suddenly appealed to me for help.

"After all, my dear lady," he said, "you are a British subject and you owe some allegiance to England. France is far too thick with Soviet Russia at present to make [illegible] use of these vital documents."

Most likely, they'd be suppressed or else handed over to Moscow . . . ." He enlarged complacently on the possibilities and incidentally let me into the secret of the coming Franco-Soviet Pact.

I was quite willing to meet him half-way and I mentioned the mysterious table entrusted to my care by the missing Hassan. Ultimately it was decided that the Colonel, Sir Percival and I should at once go to my flat and examine the table once more.

Even before we reached the top landing, we knew that something was radically wrong in the apartment, and we hurried up the stairs, fear gripping our hearts. The front door was ajar and moans, mingled with lusty curses in French smote our ears.

We discovered Rocca, the agent de police, huddled on a couch in the living room, his face in his hands, rocking backwards and forwards, moaning and cursing in turn. Pelted with questions, he raised his head and exposed a ravaged face, eyes closed and eyelids twitching in agony, tears streaming down his cheeks.

"Di pouvre, mon Colonel," he babbled, "la salaude m'a jete plein de poivre aux yeux."

While I applied first aid and the Colonel rang up a doctor, Rocca told us his story in disjointed, curse interspersed sentences.

Shortly after I had left the flat and he was reading the morning paper in the living room, the door bell rang. He opened the door a crack, leaving the chain on. An old flower-seller stood there with a great sheaf of mimosa in her arms. Before he could push the door to she whipped a hand from under her shawl and let him have a handful of pepper right in the eyes.

Blinded and suffering agony he reeled back clutching at his face. The hag unhooked the chain, flung past him, almost knocking him down.

In spite of the pain he trotted after her but she tripped him neatly and kicked him viciously on the temple, whereupon he must have lost consciousness for a while. The excruciating pain revived him. The hag, he sensed, was gone. He groped unseeingly around the room but could not find the telephone and he had just huddled on the couch and was debating what to do when we burst in.

"And that's that!" I said drily, pointing to what looked like a bundle of sticks on the carpet, near the far window. It was Sir Percival who stooped and picked up the wreckage of what had once been the snakelegs of Hassan's coffee table . . . . The table itself was nowhere to be seen.

Sir Percival showed signs of great emotion. "So those documents were in the table after all," he said. "You must excuse me. I have to hurry and notify my government. There are some measures that have to be taken, even at the eleventh hour . . . ." He bowed slightly and left.

"Sapristi," the Colonel exploded. "But never mind, we shall get that flower-seller so!"

Flower-Seller Is Man In Disguise

We did that very afternoon. Her [illegible] between the Rue de la Croix de Marbe and the Place Massena had been followed automatically by the various policemen on point duty—firstly because she seemed to be an unknown member of the flower selling fraternity and as such, came under their notice; secondly, because just at the corner of the Place she had met with disaster, in the guise of a Nice-Monte Carlo motor bus which swung round a curve, caught her broadside and knocked her into a heap; thirdly for when transported to St Roch's Hospital and examined for her injuries the unconscious flower-seller was found to be a man in disguise.

All this came to the Colonel's office, in a series of messages increasingly dramatic and significant. It was given me, in the general excitement, to ask the obvious question: "Where is the table top?"

But, once more, that had disappeared, as also had the pushcart with its load of flowers. In the confusion following the accident nobody had thought of the cart. When later the police looked for it it was nowhere to be found.

The only hope was the gravely injured thief, if he ever recovered to be questioned. But that hope was too soon frustrated, for the unknown died without regaining consciousness, the only clue to his identity being a Hammer and Sickle emblem tattooed on his right forearm and a huge anchor on his chest.

"Another impasse," the Colonel growled, gnawing at his flowing moustache. "The only ray of hope is that neither Prokurovsky nor Halim Pasha have left the neighborhood, which indicates that neither has benefited by the theft. Whichever of them is interested in Hassan's table will be, as we are, seeking the trail of that cart," he added shrewdly.

Nothing bar the account of the accident appeared in the papers. Meanwhile, the police spread their net over the Flower Market and the Vieux Port districts, which were combed thoroughly for a possible accomplice of the dead thief, while both the Soviet and the Turkish diplomats were kept under discreet surveillance and every one of their movements duly recorded and tabulated.

Of Hassan Bey or the missing cart there was no news and Sir Percival gave up his golfing holiday and returned moodily to London.

Chanced Upon Intriguing Ad

It was about a week after these events when, upon gazing over the morning paper—the Eclaireur de Nice—I chanced upon an advertisement and departed forthwith to investigate.

The house I sought was at the very end of the Avenue de la Gare and the office I entered at the back of a dark, winding corridor at the top of the old building.

In the small outer office a girl at a typewriter received me without [illegible] or enthusiasm and [illegible] the information that Mr. Osspoff being disengaged I could go at once into his private room.

The man who rose to greet me was different from what I had expected: elderly, distinguished-looking, while I had been prepared to meet the adventurer type. However, there was no time to waste and I plunged immediately into the object of my visit.

"Am I right that you have inserted this advertisement [illegible] Eclaireur, Monsieur?" I read the paragraph aloud: "WANTED—Flower cart, stolen [illegible] of May 7th, in the Place Massena after fatal accident to [illegible]. Reward. No questions asked. Apply Avenue de la Gare 184 [illegible]."

"Correct, Madame. Am I to understand that you bring [illegible] of the missing object?" His eyes twinkled merrily behind thick lenses.

"Hardly that. But there are questions I wish to ask you."

"That's unfair, Madame. No questions asked, no questions answered [illegible]"

[illegible] questions were asked by the Chief of Police," I parried.

"I have the greatest respect for Col. Asselin," he bowed, [illegible] at his disposal."

Later, in the Colonel's office, Maxim Osspoff told us his side of the story. This was meagre, though [illegible] two days before a typewritten letter and [illegible] by post dropped into his letterbox while both he and the typist were at lunch [illegible].

"Dear Sir: On the morning of May 7th, a flower seller was fatally injured on the Place Massena and in the confusion her flower cart was stolen. Kindly insert an advertisement in the papers for recovery of same, offering a suitable reward.

"The reward is to be of fifteen hundred francs, the balance to defray your expenses and [illegible]. If successful kindly make it known by means of another advertisement [illegible] 'Maximo: Have located object,' whereupon you will receive further instructions."

Osspoff, who was well known to the Colonel, explained frankly, if somewhat ruefully, that times were hard and that a sudden windfall of over a thousand francs was not to be despised. The Colonel looked [illegible] once more the clue offered [illegible]

Mystery Solved In Undramatic Manner

When the mystery was finally solved, it was in an [illegible] and [illegible] manner. A young boy [illegible] called at Osspoff's and told a very simple and straightforward story. He had been a witness to the accident and it was [illegible] because he liked flowers and was afraid they'd be crushed, that he wheeled the cart out of the way.

After that it had been pure [illegible]. As he moved away [illegible] stopped him and bought a bunch of Mimosa. Before he knew it he was selling the load. His mother was [illegible] of money in the house and he had not been able to resist the temptation.

Afraid of what he had done he had hidden the cart in an abandoned shed. The advertisement had finally prevailed over his fear of detection, [illegible] he added, that he had found something under the load of flowers . . . . And he had a parcel he carried under one arm: the table.

The Colonel and I hastily [illegible] looked gloatingly at the slab of inlaid olive wood, while the boy waited [illegible] in the outer office. Then the boy was dismissed and instructed to call the following day for his reward, while the barrister's typist was sent to the newspaper office to insert the second advertisement advising the mysterious advertiser of success.

It was the barrister, something of a cabinetmaker himself, who found the hidden spring and opened the top of the table. The secret drawer thus disclosed was long and narrow, but a single sheet of notepaper reposed in it. Colonel Asselin [illegible] at it greedily and [illegible] the few words printed [illegible] over the sprawling signature of Mirza Hassan Bey: [illegible] friends [illegible] I [illegible] the cryptic message [illegible]

[illegible]

So far as my friend Colonel Asselin was concerned, this was the end of the story and he was still smarting with humiliation when I left for London a week later.

Almost a year later, however, when I was getting ready to sail for America, the solution of the puzzle was handed me by none other than the enterprising Hassan Bey.

We met by chance on Piccadilly Circus and he babbled with unfeigned pleasure at seeing me.

"Vous comprenez, chere Madame," he explained (really over a cup of tea in a discreet tearoom), "I was in a difficult position. These documents I had collected at [illegible] and patiently during the years following the revolution were of vital importance to the world at large.

"England, naturally, was frantically concerned about them: they disclosed the whole of the Soviet plot in the Far East, India as well as in Europe. England was willing to pay me an enormous sum for the lot and I had been in contact with Sir Percival for some time. Soviet Russia, of course, was after me and would have stopped at nothing in order to secure the documents and destroy or suppress them.

"There was a moment when fear almost [illegible] me and that was why I played that shabby trick with the table on you. I knew I was being followed by Soviet agents and that they'd concentrate them on the table since I had stage-managed the whole show so as to make them believe that the papers were hidden in it.

"Meanwhile, fear spurring me on, I had decided to clinch the deal with Sir Percival and get rid of the whole nightmare. It was that Godsent mishap on the way out to Mon Agel that made me change my mind. After all, I am no international spy, willing to sell himself to the highest bidder. England would pay me for the documents, then keep them [illegible] would know about them. Me, now, [illegible] against the Soviets [illegible]

"When [illegible] car stopped in the dark street [illegible]

[illegible]

He paused [illegible]

"And [illegible] you have [illegible] I [illegible]

[illegible]

That was the last time I [illegible] Hassan Bey [illegible] Far East [illegible]

He has also, as far as I know, revised his ideas on [illegible] spying and I was told someone [illegible] that he too is not above angling for the highest bidder . . . .

But, in Secret Service circles [illegible] in others, gossip is not [illegible] worthy of credence.

PETE said pleasantly: "Hello, Carma, glad to see you." Everyone spoke except Julie, who stared at Carma, childishly round-eyed.

Carma jerked her head in the direction of her escort. "His name is Hodges. Elmer Hodges," she said thickly. That seemed to end the introduction and there was a courteous murmur in response. "How do you do, Mr. Hodges. Glad to know you, sir."

"Well, aren't you going to introduce me to your wife?" she asked in a loud, high-pitched voice.

"Of course. I beg your pardon. Julie," the smile returned to his eyes as he looked at her. "I want you to meet Carma Forbes. You've heard me speak of her."

LAST LOAD

At the present time the last load of 125 tons of freight was on its way down river from Waterways, bound for Yellowknife. It left Waterways on a barge pushed by the motor vessel "Mabel D. and C." and will transfer its load to the all-steel "Radium King" at Fort Smith for Yellowknife.

Besides the freight which went in N. T. boats carried out 150,000 gallons of fuel oil and 20,000 gallons of gasoline from the Imperial Oil refinery at Fort Norman to Eldorado mine on Great Bear Lake and others at Yellowknife. They also carried out hundreds of tons of Radium ore from the Eldorado mine and some high-grade gold ore from the Giant-Yellowknife properties.

Although this year's tonnage is about 2,000 tons below last year's—due to a slowing down of prospecting and development in the north—Manager Berry does not expect that the war will have much effect on next year's traffic.

MINE PRODUCTS

Properties which have already been developed and are now producing will continue to produce and will need their supplies, and if the government decides that it needs the gold, then other properties which are ready for production will put in mills and there will be more work than ever," he said.

Northern men are hopeful that gold will be required, for there are several properties ready to come into production just as soon as they know what is what on the gold front, Mr. Berry said.

RED CROSS TO LOCATE DEPOT HERE MONDAY

Definite word regarding the location of the Canadian Red Cross work depot is expected Monday, Robert Muir, chairman of the men's committees, reported Saturday. Two offers of quarters have already been made.

Requisition for supplies has been sent to the provincial office in Calgary. Directly the work depot is founded, the activities of the Red Cross will open at full speed, it was stated.

Residents of Morinville and Stereo have organized to do work for the Edmonton office.

Proceeds from the tea held in aid of the Red Cross at the home of Mrs. Richard Secord on Wednesday, and from a private party held at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club totalled over $125 in donations to the Red Cross.

Two Die In Crash At Rail Crossing

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 30.—Two men died in hospital early today shortly after the car in which they were riding with two others was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railways passenger train at a level crossing near the military camp at Carling's Heights.

Earl Durward, 28, taxi driver, and James Ray, 20, recruit in the Canadian Army Service Corps stationed at the Heights, received head injuries from which they died.

Hans Frank Is Administrator Of Polish Territory

POZNAN, Sept. 30.—Dr. Hans Frank [illegible] former Polish territory of Poznania. He said the most important task was "irrevocably to secure this soil for German farmers and never again permit it to become a disputed province."

Detectives Relate How Murdered Man Discovered $7,000 Hidden in House

VANCOUVER, Sept. 30.—Police are seeking an unidentified woman for questioning in connection with the slaying here Tuesday night or Wednesday morning of George Gray, 75-year-old Vancouver pioneer. Neighbors reported seeing the woman visiting Gray's home on Tuesday afternoon. He was found dead the following morning.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 30.—The amazing story of George Gray's discovery of $7,000 hidden through their modest cottage by his wife without his knowledge was disclosed Friday by city detectives seeking the slayer who bludgeoned the 75-year-old retired sawmill worker.

Gray's body was found in the same small home last Wednesday morning by a neighbor, Mrs. Mary Maddison—the woman, Detective Superintendent W. G. Grant said, who first discovered traces of the hidden treasure.

LIVED IN POVERTY

Gray lived with his invalid wife in comparative poverty for many years. But in the seven months since his wife died he lived more comfortably on the money located by chance.

Last Feb. 10, Mrs. Gray sat up in bed, supporting herself on a pillow, and looked at her husband.

"George, we have lived happily," she said. "There is something I want to tell you . . ."

"Never mind that now," the one-time sawyer in Vancouver's pioneer Hastings mill told her. "You just lie back there and rest."

Fifteen minutes later, without giving her message, Mrs. Gray was dead.

For two weeks Gray lived by himself in the little home. Then he asked Mrs. Maddison to help him clean up the cottage.

SEWN IN CORSETS

Gray was in another part of the house when Mrs. Maddison picked up a pair of Mrs. Gray's corsets, Superintendent Grant said.

Pockets had been sewn to the inside of the corsets. Each pocket was crammed with Canadian currency—the old, large-size bills.

A mattress on the bed that Gray and his wife had slept in for years gave up a stream of yellow coins—$20 gold pieces.

Then a thorough search of the house was made. One day the excited hunters found $4,000, hidden between the leaves of books, in Mrs. Gray's clothing, and elsewhere—apparently hidden away during the years when Gray earned good wages as a mill-worker.

At the time of his death, Gray's bank account stood at more than $11,000, investigating detectives said after an examination of his bank-book.

DREW OUT $2,000

Since his wife's death, they said, Gray had drawn more than $2,000 from the bank where he deposited the money that had been found. Two thousand dollars of the total was drawn out on cheques issued to "cash".

Detectives said $650 of this money was spent on a trip to California with three friends in July and August. Where the rest of the $2,000 went, investigators said they have been unable to discover.

Scores of friends and acquaintances of the slain man have been questioned by police since his death, but officers said they have not found a single tangible clue to Gray's death. Even the weapon—presumably a club of some sort—with which Gray's skull was battered in the killing has yet to be located.

Runaway Elevated Train Carries 30 On Wild Journey

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—A runaway elevated train, its motorman stricken, carried 30 frightened passengers on a wild 15-block ride last night. The three-car train roared through two stations before the conductor entered the motorman's cab. The motorman, Harry Carr, toppled out, thereby releasing the "dead man's control" on the air brake which the weight of his body had kept from functioning. The train jerked to a stop. An ambulance physician said Carr suffered an epileptic seizure, and that his condition was not serious.

Prize Court To Adjudicate On All Seizures

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—Creation of a Canadian prize court to adjudicate on seizures and captures of enemy ships, aircraft and goods, is announced in a special issue of the Canada Gazette today.

The Exchequer Court of Canada is constituted the prize court, but provision is made for the appointment of additional judges to the Exchequer Court, either temporarily for certain cases or more permanently to deal with prize work throughout the war.

GERMAN REICH TO BE CALLED NEXT WEEK

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—The Reichstag will be called into session some time next week to hear a government statement, it was officially announced today.

The Reichstag last met Sept. 1 just before Hitler invaded Poland.

The announcement that the Reichstag would meet said only it would "hear a declaration of the government."

It was assumed this time it would hear a statement on the partitioning of Poland, German-Soviet Russian relations and the stand toward Great Britain and France in their war against Germany.

RUMANIA TO JOIN TALKS IN RUSS CAPITAL

BUCHAREST, Sept. 30—Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu and a staff of experts will leave for Moscow Monday, it was announced today, to confer with Soviet Russian officials.

It was said they would participate in talks already started by Russian, German and Turkish leaders.

(The Turkish foreign minister, Sukru Saracoglu, has been in Moscow since last Monday conferring with Russian officials.

(His visit was prolonged because of Moscow's preoccupation with the visit of German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, which resulted in agreements to partition Poland, to try to influence Great Britain and France to end the war with Germany and to increase Russo-German trade.)

At the same time it was reported in official circles that Rumania had received assurances "through a third party" that Russia had no intention to seize Bessarabia.

(Bessarabia was gained by Rumania from Russia after the last war. The province has an area of 17,146 square miles.)

FORGOTTEN BOX HOLDS FORTUNE IN LADY'S GEMS

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—News stand clerks in the North Western Station rummaged through a stack of magazines Friday, located a pink cardboard box and popped it into the station safe. The box belongs to Mrs. J. Allen Smith of Harrison, N.Y., who wired that it contained jewelry valued at $100,000. She said she laid it down at the news stand last night and didn't miss it until her train reached Clinton, Iowa.

Bullet Crashes Through Rear Auto Window

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Sept. 30.—J. H. Sissons and Dr. D. O. Carroll got the surprise of their lives a few days ago when, driving out to the Richmond Hill golf club, a bullet crashed into the car through the rear window. Luckily, there were no passengers in the back seat. The bullet apparently came from the thick woods on the right side of the road and the hit was quite accidental, the passengers believe. They continued on to the golf course and their game was none the worse for the shock. R.C.M.P. are investigating, however.

Churchill's Talk To Be Broadcast Over CBC Network

ITALY READY TO MEDIATE PEACE PLAN

Not Much Hope, However, That Allies Will Accept Proposals

ROME, Sept. 30—The Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, is leaving for Berlin early this evening at the German government's invitation, it was announced here today.

The foreign ministry said Count Ciano would leave for Berlin at 6 p.m. (10 a.m. M.S.T.).

Ciano last visited Germany Aug 10-13, three weeks before Fuehrer Hitler launched his invasion of Poland. The Italian minister conferred with Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop at Berchtesgaden and Salszburg on that occasion.

FRIENDLY POWER

Italy has been described as the outstanding "friendly power" which could co-operate in bringing the war to an early end.

Whether Premier Mussolini would be able to maintain Italy's delicate non-participation policy remained a major question. Fascist circles say Mussolini alone will make the ultimate decision, with Italy's own interests in mind, and they indicate it will take more than Adolf Hitler's request for Italy to join him. At the same time, they take the position Italy's non-participation is a part of the policy of the Rome-Berlin axis.

Few, if any, doubt that the Italian people, from Mussolini down to the humblest, want to continue in peace.

FULL OF UNKNOWNS

Last Saturday, in his first public utterance since hostilities began, Il Duce told Bologna Fascist leaders that "in a situation like the present full of many unknowns, the watchword has sprung spontaneously among the masses of authentic Italian people—prepare in a military way to meet any eventuality, support every possible peace effort and work vigilantly in silence."

The press has been extremely cautious. There is no longer public mention of the German-Italian alliance, so often described previously as the "pact of steel." Newspaper attacks on France have been stilled.

Great Britain is said to be eager for Il Duce formally to declare Italy's neutrality. That would impose an obligation on Italy to prevent supplies reaching Germany through Italian ports, thereby countering the British blockade of German ports.

AUTHOR STATES EIRE WILL JOIN BRITAIN IN WAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Eire will soon be in the war at the side of Great Britain and France, Dr. Oliver St. John Gogarty, noted author and former member of the Irish senate, said here Friday. More than 2,000 volunteers have already crossed the Irish Sea to join the British forces, he added.

The Allies are defending the "free way of living" against the Nazi theory of regimentation of force, he said. Britain and France are fighting in "cold anger" and there will be no capitulation "no matter what combination of forces are against them."

"In a fight where personal freedom is at stake, Eire will take her stand against the threat of regimentation," Dr. Gogarty said.

MOTORCYCLIST SERIOUSLY HURT DUE TO MISHAP

A motorcyclist, Harold E. Reid, 11023 83 street, is in the Royal Alexandra hospital suffering from head injuries Saturday following a crash Friday evening, at the corner of 107 street and 100 avenue, between his motorcycle and an auto driven by Leonard B. Higgins, 11103 85 ave.

Police said that Higgins had been driving west on 100 avenue and was turning south when the motorcycle, coming east, crashed into the side of the car. Reid was knocked unconscious by the crash but recovered after about half-an-hour.

Estonia Gave In To Spare Nation Hopeless Struggle

TALLINN, Estonia, Sept. 30.—President Konstantin Pats told Estonians in a broadcast today that the mutual assistance pact with Russia had spared the nation "a hopeless struggle and assured the maintenance of complete political independence."

In Helsingfors, Finland, it was said a Soviet Russian military commission would arrive at Tallinn [illegible] few days to discuss application of the treaty.

(Engineers will accompany the commission, it was said, to direct construction of naval and air bases on the islands of Saare Maa (Oesel) and Hiiuma (Dagoe) and in the port of [illegible])

EJECTED MAN BACKS TRUCK THROUGH PUB

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 30.—Allan McDonald, 27, of Point Edward, who backed his truck through the wall of a Point Edward hotel because he had been ejected from the beverage room, was sentenced Friday to one month in jail on a charge of doing wilfull damage. McDonald will pay for damage to the hotel—approximately $200.

FARMERS READY RESUME HARVEST EARLY IN WEEK

Despite cloudy weather and the threat of further rainfalls, farmers in the Edmonton district were laying plans for the resumption of threshing operations early next week. Weather, which showed some indication of breaking Friday, was still partly cloudy Saturday morning.

Forecast Saturday and Sunday is for milder weather with probable showers in Edmonton and the surrounding district.

Light showers fell over the city during the night to deposit .01 of an inch of rain over the ground. Showers also fell at Peace River and Falher in the near north.

Highest temperature registered in Edmonton Friday was 57 above as compared with a reading of 81 above at London, Ont., the hottest spot in the Dominion during the day. Overnight low came early Saturday morning when the mercury touched 44 above, 12 degrees above the freezing line.

KIWANIS CLUB OPENS ANNUAL STREET SALE

Members of the Kiwanis Club, many of whom are among the leading business figures of the city, donned comic uniforms and doffed their dignity Saturday as they stood on downtown streets selling apples in their annual "Apple Day" campaign to raise funds for the Kiwanis Children's Home.

Kiwanis Glee Club Friday night inaugurated the drive by a program presented from the stage of the Strand theatre, under the direction of Jack Strachan.

The sale of apples will continue all day Saturday. Large numbers of orders also are being received for boxes of apples, club officials stated.

Agriculturists Checking Horses For War Service

It was reported Saturday that prominent agriculturists were making a survey of the horse population of the province, with a report to be turned in to the provincial government and ultimately to be handed over to the Dominion government.

While authorities are reticent about discussing the survey, it is presumed the check is being made with a view to determining the number of horses that would be available for military service if needed.

SLIGHT DELAY IN ISSUANCE PAY CHEQUES

Soldiers' Dependents Other Than Wives Must Wait Short Time

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—A national defence department spokesman said that while today is payday for the Canadian active service force, "there may be a slight delay in the issue of dependents' cheques for other than wives for the first month of mobilization."

"This is due to the necessary routine which must be followed in establishing the right of dependents for the allowance," it was stated.

The soldiers are paid direct in cash by their paymasters but their dependents are paid by cheque from Ottawa.

TO ELIMINATE DELAY

Efforts are being made to eliminate the delay in paying dependents and "all paymasters have been notified to speed up their procedure so that dependents may receive their allowances as soon as possible."

Claims for allowances for the dependents of married men receive prior attention, the spokesman said. The claims of other dependents, however, have to be reviewed and passed by the dependents allowance board as to eligibility to receive the allowance. This procedure is being carried out as rapidly as possible.

SOME TIME ELAPSES

After a claim for dependents' allowance has been completed by the claimant, some time must elapse before it reaches defence headquarters and the necessary action in connection with it can be carried out.

"The practical difficulties of dealing with a greatly augmented force also means a little delay but regimental paymasters have been notified to accelerate these claims for dependents' allowance."

"Dependents who do not receive their cheques immediately after the end of the month should, threfore, wait a reasonable time before making inquiries. All claims are being dealt with and in due course the cheques will be distributed. Once the claim has been established and the dependents' allowance granted the cheque will be sent out promptly at the end of each month."

POPE AVERS POLAND NOT GOING TO DIE

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 30—Pope Pius cautioned Polish residents of Rome today to "remember that Poland is not going to die."

Extending his consolation to the Polish people "in this frightful, tragic hour," the Pontiff asked his listeners, "as you shed bitter tears for your dead," to put trust in God, to look forward to the future with hope and, especially, to pray that the Poles would not be deprived of the comforts of religion by "enemies of God."

August Cardinal Holnd, Primate of Poland, stood beside the Pope as he bestowed his apostolic blessing upon the Polish people. Many of those in the audience of 200, mostly priests and nuns, wept.

BUYING BOOSTS WHEAT FUTURES

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30.—Excellent buying prompted by a buoyant display at Chicago and failure of rains in the dry areas of the United States winter wheat belt, shoved wheat futures prices up as much as two cents on Winnipeg grain exchange today.

Quotations responded eagerly to the active trend and at the close were 1⅞ to 2 cents higher, October 71, November 72⅞, December 73 and May 77⅞ to 77¾.

The map printed above shows the yield per acre of wheat for this past season in the different areas and districts of the prairie provinces. Had it not been for the poor areas in southeastern Saskatchewan and in southeastern Alberta, this would have been one of the best yield per acre maps of the prairie provinces ever recorded. Even as it is, the average yield per acre, hence the size of the crop in each province is slightly better than the [illegible] average.

The reason the yield per acre in south-eastern Alberta was less than normal is because less than normal precipitation occurred there during the previous fall and the growing season combined. The reason for the poor yield in south-eastern Saskatchewan is also of less than normal precipitation made somewhat worse here by some grasshopper damage.

[illegible] that in both Alberta and Saskatchewan these less than normal yields, in the areas mentioned, are more than over-balanced by better than normal yields in other parts.

The total yields are somewhat better than the total precipitation would appear to warrant. This, however, is no doubt accounted for by the fact that stem rust has been overcome and that the previous longtime yields, which have been produced by definite quantities of precipitation, have included in them [illegible] stem rust will not again occur, the expectation of yield to be produced by a given amount of rainfall will have to be [illegible] fits to farmers and to all of us, of the splendid work of the scientists [illegible] conquered the dread disease, stem rust.

Little Orphan Annie
WELL, VACATION'S OVER FOR ANOTHER YEAR, JILL-
IT'S BEEN LOTS MORE THAN JUST A VACATION, JOHN- OH, JUST SUPPOSE WE HADN'T BEEN THERE THAT NIGHT----
ANCHORED THERE IN THE FOG, YOU MEAN, WHEN ANNIE AND SANDY CAME FLOATING ALONG? BUT WE WERE THERE, THANKS BE!
THAT'S ALL RIGHT, ANNIE - WE'VE GOT ALL THE REST OF THE THINGS-
OLD TONY WILL TAKE GOOD CARE OF THE BOAT---NOW TO GET HOME AND SEE IF WE STILL HAVE A HOUSE--- NOW YOU WON'T FORGET, WILL YOU, ANNIE?
ME, AUNTIE JILL? FORGET WHAT?
HA! HA! THAT I'M YOUR AUNTIE AND THAT HE'S YOUR UNCLE JOHN-
HA! HA! SHE WON'T FORGET, JILL---JUST SEE THAT YOU DON'T SLIP-
GEE! IS THIS YOUR--- I---ER---I MEAN, IS THIS OUR HOUSE?
YEP-- WHAT YOU CAN SEE OF IT FOR THE GRASS-- HAVE TO GET BUSY WITH THE LAWN MOWER-
THIS WILL BE YOUR ROOM, ANNIE---RIGHT NEXT TO OURS- WE--WE USED TO THINK---
PSHAW, JILL--- WE HAVE A LITTLE GIRL OF OUR OWN NOW---
SA-A-AY--- THIS IS SWELL!
WE'LL GET THE REST OF THE STUFF OUT OF THE CAR, ANNIE---YOU LOOK AROUND AND GET ACQUAINTED WITH YOUR NEW HOME-
ALL RIGHT---BUT IF I CAN HELP JUST YIP--- C'MON, SANDY---
ISN'T SHE A LITTLE CORKER? SHE'LL BE A LOT OF COMPANY FOR YOU, JILL - HOPE THE NEIGHBORS AREN'T TOO NOSEY-
SHE'S ONLY A CHILD---IF ONLY THEY DON'T TRY TO PUMP HER---SH-H-- WHAT'S THAT---OUR LAWN MOWER---
GREAT SCOTT! LOOK! CUTTING THE GRASS! HOW MANY KIDS TODAY WOULD DO THAT WITHOUT BEING TOLD TO--OR EVEN THEN?
HUSH! THERE'S OLD MRS. GLOUCH, THE WORST GOSSIP IN TOWN--- POOR ANNIE---SHE'LL BE NO MATCH FOR OLD MRS. GLOUCH---
WELL, YOU SEE, MY POOR MOMMIE WENT TO HEAVEN, SO AUNTIE JILL ASKED ME TO COME LIVE HERE WITH HER AND UNCLE JOHN--- HM-M-M--- MIGHTA KNOWN YOU WAS A RELATION OF HERS---WITH THAT HAIR, 'SPECIALLY-
OH, JOHN! TH' LITTLE MONKEY! AND WE WERE AFRAID SHE'D GIVE IT ALL AWAY!
HM-M--- AND I CLAIM TO BE A LAWYER---IF I COULD PUT ON AN ACT LIKE THAT-----

ALL YOU DO, IF YOU WANT SOME FUN, IS TO TAKE AN EMPTY INK BOTTLE AND PUT THE IMITATION BLOT NEAR IT - COME. I'LL SHOW YOU REMEMBER, DON'T FIGURE ME IN ON ANY OF YOUR FUNNY STUNTS!
SEE, I'VE PUT IT ON THE HOME WORK WILLIS FINISHED LAST NIGHT-- ISN'T IT REALISTIC?
BUT HE'LL HAVE A FIT!
SHUCKS, HE'LL LAUGH, TOO, WHEN HE FINDS OUT IT'S ONLY A GAG! OH, OH! HERE HE COMES NOW!
WAIT A MINUTE--WHAT'S THAT BOTTLE OF INK, DOIN' SPILLED ON TH' TABLE?
GOOD GOSH, ALL OVER MY SCHOOL WORK! THIS IS SOME OF LIL'S DOIN'S!
HA, HA! WILLIS HAS PUT THAT INK BLOT ON MY DRESSER - HE MUST BE GETTING DUMB TO THINK I'D FALL FOR MY OWN TRICK!
OH-O-O-O! IT'S INK - REAL INK!
WHERE DID HE GO? THE LITTLE SNIP! JUST WAIT TILL I GET MY HANDS ON THAT CLOWN!
MY PERFECTLY NEW BLOUSE - RUINED! ARE YOU GOING TO LET HIM GET AWAY WITH IT? ARE YOU?
DON'T COME RUNNING TO ME - WHO STARTED THIS INK-SPILLING IDEA, ANY-WAY?

THIS CURIOUS WORLD
by William Ferguson
THE HOUSING PROBLEM IS IMPORTANT TO ALMOST EVERY CREATURE THAT EXISTS... AND EACH HAS SOLVED IT IN HIS OWN PARTICULAR WAY.
THE SNAIL NEVER WORRIES ABOUT A HOME! HE CARRIES IT RIGHT ALONG WITH HIM... A SORT OF PICK-A-BACK TRAILER.
THE WOODPECKER USES HIS HEAD, BOTH IN SELECTING HIS HOME AND BUILDING IT.
HORNETS MADE PAPER OF WOOD PULP, LONG BEFORE MAN KNEW HOW, AND THEIR HOMES ARE BUILT OF THIS MATERIAL.
TERMITES ERECT ENORMOUS EARTHEN SKYSCRAPERS, FORTY FEET HIGH... WITH HEATING AND VENTILATING SYSTEMS.
TIMBER!
THE BEAVER USES ALMOST HUMAN INTELLIGENCE IN CONSTRUCTING HIS HOME... WITH ACCOMPANYING DAMS AND CANALS, FOR WATER CONTROL.
HERMIT CRABS USE THE DISCARDED SHELL HOUSES OF OTHER CREATURES, AND SEEK LARGER ONES AS THEY GROW.
TRAP-DOOR SPIDERS LIVE IN THE GROUND, AND BAR THE ENTRANCE WITH A WATER-TIGHT DOOR THAT SWINGS ON A HINGE MADE BY THE SPIDERS THEMSELVES.

I CAN'T HELP IT. HER NAME JUST SEEMED TO FIT!
I THINK I'LL HAVE TO TRANSFER YOU TO ANOTHER ROOM!
I CAN'T HELP WRITING LIMERICKS.... IT JUST COMES NATURAL!
I WANT YOU TO TAKE THIS BOY IN YOUR CLASS AND SEE THAT HE DOESN'T WRITE LIMERICKS ABOUT YOU!

DICK TRACY
YES, MISS TRUEHEART, AS YOUR LAWYER — I HAVE VERY GOOD NEWS FOR YOU FROM THE COURTS.
SIT DOWN, MR. SMITH.
CHESTER GOULD
IN LIGHT OF RECENT EVENTS, IT WAS EASY FOR THE JUDGE TO SEE THINGS YOUR WAY. AS FAR AS THE LAW IS CONCERNED YOUR WEDDING TO THE LATE EDWARD NUREMOH NEVER TOOK PLACE.
ALL LEGAL RECORDS OF THE MARRIAGE HAVE BEEN EXPUNGED!
THANK YOU. I CAN'T TELL YOU HOW HAPPY I AM.
INCIDENTALLY, I STOPPED BY HEADQUARTERS TO TELL MR. TRACY THE GOOD NEWS AND THEY SAID HE HADN'T BEEN THERE ALL DAY.
MEANWHILE --
NOW LISTEN, SON, WHEN THE CAR YOU WERE IN SIDE-SWIPED OUR CAR, WHAT DID THE MAN SAY?
HE SAID: "OH, OH! THAT'S THE COPS. WE'VE GOT TO BEAT IT."
THEN WHEN WE TURNED AND STARTED TO CHASE YOU, THEY DROVE OUT TO THE EDGE OF TOWN AND TOSSED YOU AND YOUR DAD'S FURS OUT OF THE CAR AND SPED ON, EH?
THAT'S RIGHT.
WHEN THEY STOLE THE FURS FROM MY DADDY'S FARM, I YELLED SO MUCH THEY TOOK ME ALONG TO KEEP ME QUIET.
HM - YOUR NAME'S GIBBONS, EH? I KNOW WHERE THE GIBBONS FOX FARM IS.
WELL, ALL THE EVIDENCE WE HAVE IS THAT TIRE TRACK IN THE MUD, WHERE THEY PULLED OFF THE PAVEMENT TO DUMP THE BOY AND THE PACKAGE.
WE'D BETTER TAKE A CAST OF THAT TRACK, TRACY.
BUT YOU CAN'T MAKE A CAST OF A TIRE TRACK IN SOFT MUD, CAN YOU?
OH, YES, INDEED, JUNIOR!
YOU TAKE DRY PLASTER-PARIS AND SPRINKLE IT LIGHTLY ON THE MUD. IT BECOMES DAMP AND SOON SETS.
AFTER THE FIRST LAYER OF PLASTER-PARIS GETS HARD ENOUGH TO WITHSTAND WEIGHT YOU ADD ENOUGH TO MAKE A SUBSTANTIAL MASS, THEN ADD WATER.
LATER
OKAY. WE'VE WAITED AN HOUR. NOW WE'LL PICK IT UP AND WASH OFF THE MUD IN THAT STREAM BELOW.
THERE YOU ARE! - A PERFECT REPRODUCTION OF THE FUR THIEVES' TIRE.
OH, BOY! I NEVER KNEW BEFORE THAT YOU COULD TAKE A CAST OF SOFT MUD.
